BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Interesting hearings were the features of the meeting of the aldermen on Monday night, and a vigorous protest by Alderman Doherty against the site selected by the school committee for the new Nonantum school building added life to the session.

President Carter presided and all were present save Aldermen Bowen and Webster.

No one appeared at the hearings on the petition of the Telephone Company for attachments on Elliot street, and on the proposed taking of land in Old England road for sewer purposes.

At the continued hearing on petition of the Telephone Company for poles on Hillside road, Mr. T. M. Green for the Company said that they now had a number of wires going through Walnut st. and the time has come when it is impossible to carry any more wires over private property if the board will grant the location desired.

Alderman Bosson suggested that the wires might stay as they were if the Company was willing to pay for the privilege.

Mr. H. S. Hiltz for Josephine M. Hiltz, after examining the plan said that one of the poles would be within two feet of their driveway. As there were no subscribers on that side of the street Mr. Hiltz thought the poles should be on the other side.

Mrs. H. E. Holmes said she had two lots of land on the street, one vacant and the poles would be a serious damage to the property. A previous letter from Mrs. Holmes was then read by the clerk.

Mr. Green said that the vacant land when built upon might have residents who would want telephones. We run only a few wires across private property now but people feel differently when there are a large number. The Company, he said in answer to Alderman Bosson was willing to put in the square hard pine poles but the round chestnut pole is stronger and lasts longer. He assured Mr. Hiltz that the poles would be so located as not to interfere with his driveway. The hearing was closed.

Mr. F. L. Norton, representing the Boston & Worcester Street Railway Company was the first speaker at the hearing on the petition of that Company to act as a common carrier of baggage and freight. He said it was the purpose of the Company to provide special cars and to carry light freight or light express matter, subject to the regulations of the Railroad Commissioners. Every municipality served by the Company has granted this permission save Newton. The Company in case this petition is granted intend to ask the Railroad Commissioners to pass upon all these orders and adopt regulations governing the business. Similar enterprises between New Bedford and Fall River has proved of great benefit to the people. The Company has been requested to provide this service: conservatories who wish to send flowers to Boston and creameries who are sending in milk will be especially served. We have had two cars built for this service which look like the passenger cars of the railway.

In answer to questions, Mr. Norton said that they had not prepared any schedules or gone into the matter of hours as the railroad commissioners would decide those matters. The Company would expect to erect buildings at suitable points for the reception and delivery of freight matter. The town of Brookline is not served by the company and we have done nothing there.

Mr. John Lowell said that Mr. Norton was dodging the question in the matter of Brookline as he had been informed that they intended to make a distributing center at Cypress st. Mr. Lowell said he represented about 100 acres of land near Hammond pond, on either side of this railway, and which will be developed by streets leading from Boylston street. The difficulty here in Newton is our high tax rate and we should do nothing to make this city less attractive for people to buy land. Newton is as attractive a city as any in the Commonwealth, but with a lower tax rate, no place would be settled quicker and made still more attractive.

If this company is allowed to run its cars early in the morning and possibly through the night it would be a detriment to the city. The cars are heavy and make a great deal of noise and it would be a very serious thing to give them this right to run as often as they wish. Franchises in the public streets should not be granted until we know what the future developments are to be. It is a good deal easier to grant franchises than to take them away.

Mr. Norton said that neither he nor Supt. Shaw had ever heard of the Cypress st. matter before, but the company of course would have to make arrangements with the Elevated Road when the Newton question had been settled. In the matter of affecting the land, Mr. Norton said this was the old argument that was made against every public improvement, that some particular land is to be affected and therefore it should not be done. If it was a question of a great public convenience, we do not think you will refuse it. As a matter of fact the addition of a few express cars to the present service would not add materially to the noise which now exists.

Alderman Holmes asked a few questions regarding the authority of the railroad commissioners and the hearing was closed.

These communications were received from the School Committee:—Appointing Messrs. Bothfield, Howard and Parker a committee, to represent it before the aldermen on matters of new school houses.

Appointing Messrs. Bothfield, Howard and Parker as members of the proposed joint commission to investigate matter of technical training.

Recommending the construction of a 10 room building without a hall in the Hyde district.

Recommending the construction of a 16 room building and hall in the Nonantum district on land bounded by Pearl, Waban streets and Jackson road.

Alderman Doherty said: The people of Nonantum feel that if a new building is to be erected for them it should be built in that section. The lot of land suggested has never been considered as Nonantum and is more or less a swamp. There are several good sites, high and dry, in Nonantum and they should have the preference. The proposed new school house is to provide for pupils from the Jackson, Mann, Lincoln and some from the Bigelow district. I doubt very much if residents of Ward Seven will send their children to this school, while those attending the present Lincoln district will be as near a site in Nonantum as a majority of the children now attending the Jackson and the Horace Mann. This recommendation does not serve the Nonantum people as they should be served. They deliberately take away from Nonantum what belongs to us and further they are not getting a good bargain in the figures quoted me, as it would take a large amount of money to drain the swamp. I think the committee should have consulted me in this matter, and the committee has acted hastily and unwisely in making this recommendation.

There is no reason why the Nonantum people should send their children anywhere from a half to three quarters of a mile to school simply to reduce the distance for another part of the city. Nonantum is defined by Jackson road on the east and by Nevada street on the west and if Nonantum people are to be served by this school it should be located on the spot which will be most convenient for all. We have no particular place in view but there are several good lots which could be secured at a figure not much in excess of that asked for the Potter land. On behalf of the Nonantum people I protest against the purchase of the land on Pearl st, Waban st and Jackson road.

These petitions were granted:—
E. Arthur Robinson, Auctioneer license, H. E. Cahill and John Dolan for appointment as public weighers.
Hearings were ordered for April 16 on petitions of the Telephone Company for pole locations on Melrose street and for attachments on Dedham street.
The petitions of Coffin & Taber for sewer in Lawrence road, of Ezra Forte for sewer in Webster street, and of Alexander J. McDonald for sewer in Sax-on road were referred to the Committee on Public Works.

These petitions were referred to the Committee on Public Franchises and Licenses:—
James Kelley for a minor's license.

INNHOLDER.

Frederick Wilkey, Woodland Park Hotel.
On recommendation of the Committee on Claims leave to withdraw was granted Elizabeth Keegan for claims on account of fall on Webster street, to Ellen J. Lane for reconsideration of Boylston street betterment assessment and to C. A. Butterworth for damages caused by removal of trees on Chase street.

On recommendation of the Committee on Public Franchises, etc., pole locations were granted the Gas Light Co. on Beacon street, the Telephone company for attachments on Walnut street, and Brookline street, 2 pool table licenses to Chas. D. Buono, 345 Auburn street, and minor licenses to Walter Hodgdon, Raymond Hodgdon, George Green, Percival S. Beck, Chas. G. Henricus, Mathew Hurley and Wm. J. Dargan.

On recommendation of the same committee the fee for junk licenses was fixed at $30 and the Newton Street Railway Co. was granted permission to erect a waiting shelter in Newtonville square on condition that the structure should be satisfactory in appearance, that all east and west bound cars should stop in front of it and that it should be removed when so ordered by the city authorities.

On recommendation of the Public Works Committee leave to withdraw was granted on the petition for acceptance of Hammondwood road. This committee favored sewer construction in Riverside road and on subsequent approval by the Finance Committee, the order therefore was adopted.

Reports of the Public Works Committee recommending appropriations of $500 each for plans for the proposed new school buildings at Nonantum and at Newton Highlands were received. The committee favor a limited competition of five selected architects in each case, and suggest that two of each set of five be chosen from localities outside of Boston and the metropolitan district.

The same committee reported in favor of a joint commission to consider the matter of technical training and on motion of Alderman Weston, President Carter and Alderman Day and Hunt were appointed on behalf of the aldermen.

After a short recess for committee meetings, on recommendation of the Finance committee, orders of the board granting the Boston & Worcester Street Railway Co. certain alterations in its tracks on Boylston street at Upper Falls and at Chestnut Hill, were rescinded and new orders, with some slight legal changes were adopted in their stead.

Orders taking land and authorizing sewer construction in Old England road were referred to the Finance Committee, and at 9:27 P. M. the board adjourned.

WE BELIEVE

The Newton Markets are noted for carrying the Highest Quality of BEEF and LAMB.

The market opened by us is strengthening this reputation and we think you will consider this a true statement if you take the trouble to look at the BEEF displayed at our store, some of which has been cut from a well fed steer weighing over 1100 pounds. A few well fed young lambs may also be seen at the little market. We hope you will look at the beef for we think you will be tempted to buy from its appearance.

We have bought the best BEEF and LAMB that the wholesale market affords and if you happen to buy some of it you will, no doubt have a very pleasant remembrance of us when you eat the meat and so lead to further orders.

We are already doing a nice business and we take this opportunity to heartily thank our customers for their orders.

Mr. Lowell Dead

Mr. George F. Lowell died suddenly of heart disease Friday at his home on Walnut street. He had been a resident of Newtonville for several years, coming here from Dorchester, and had recently moved into his beautiful new house. Deceased was a native of Saco, Maine, where he was born 54 years ago, and he is survived by a widow and nine children. Mr. Lowell had been in the restaurant business for many years controlling the one in the South Union Station in Boston at the time of his death and previously had others as well as interests in various hotels. He was a man of the strictest integrity and with his great business ability was much honored and respected by all with whom he came in contact. Funeral services were held from the family residence Monday afternoon at 2:30 and among the large number present were many business friends and representatives of the masonic fraternity of which deceased was a prominent member. Rev. Louis C. Cornish of Hingham was the officiating clergyman and the floral tributes were numerous and of beautiful design. The remains were placed in the receiving tomb at Newton Cemetery.

Southern California in Winter Time.

Southern California, land of sunshine and perpetual flowers, land of gentle breezes and balmy air, land of delights and comforts, land for the invalids and those in robust health, the chosen land of earth, these and other encomiums are being broadcast, regardless of truth and often leading the unwary to false conceptions and false hopes.

There are times and seasons for visiting California and others to keep away. To a New Englander, visiting California in winter, comes a great disappointment. Summer, perpetual summer is his expectation and hope, where one can sit out doors nearly every day and bask in the sunshine or on the piazza when it rains, warm, balmy, health giving air that can be enjoyed night and day almost every night and day of the year; and summer clothing can be worn nearly the whole three hundred and sixty-five days of the year. The invalid, semi-invalid and even one in robust health finds, often finds they have been deceived and their hopes and expectations are not realized.

May in New England is a beautiful month, warm, balmy days interspersed with days of cloud, gloom, rain and cold—days when the furnace, stove or open fireplace are required to dry the dampness and warm the chill in the air. In Southern California, the months of January, February and March very much resemble the New England May.

One day you want to go out wearing a summer suit and the next day a winter suit with the addition of a summer overcoat. Even the old residents nearly always wear or carry an overcoat, even if the day is warm and sunny and they spot the tenderfoot at once because sometimes he goes out without one, and the overcoat is almost always needed in the evening. The ladies wear furs more or less—generally more during the months I have named.

There is another disappointment to the incoming visitor: and it is a grave disappointment. Not only is the climate colder than was expected but the homes and staying-places, with the exception of the larger and newer hotels are not built to keep out the cold and most of them have but poor facilities for warming them. Even the eastern men who have come here and built homes (until within the last few years) made only slight preparations to warm them trusting to the climate to give all or nearly all the warmth required.

Another thing that strikes the visitor or tourist is the general absence of large and commodious piazzas, except the newest and more expensive houses, and they are surprised to learn even the small out-door space is but little utilized by day and even less in the evening by the inhabitants.

The older citizens of the towns and cities are as careful to wear or take light overcoats when they go out as the New Englander in May.

To illustrate the varying conditions of the climate and the disappointment often to the visitor I will give a short itinerary. I left Boston at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of the thirty-first of January, taking my wife with me, hoping the climate of Southern California might prove beneficial to her. When we left Boston the thermometer registered in the forties. We ran into a snow storm during the night which continued with us almost to Chicago. From that city on through Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska we did not see any snow and scarcely anything but level or rolling prairies, neither picturesque nor particularly attractive except to the farmer, through bustling towns and cities, thriving and growing rich because the railroads go through or centre in them. And then through Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona, the region of mountains and mountain valleys and elevated plains, picturesque and grand, but after a thousand or more miles of sameness the eye tires and the mind wearies. The barrenness becomes tiresome, the naked mountains and almost treeless valleys and plains become monotonous and uninteresting save to the geologist who reads in them the tremendous bygone history of elevations and subsidence, of volcanoes and deep fractures in the earth crust down to the molten rock, which was squeezed up from the unknown depths below and flowed over the surface.

The desolation of these mountains and valleys, the deep canons almost verdureless, deeply scored by mountain torrents and land slides, chaos everywhere, an unfinished world brought to my mind the title of a book published a few years ago, "The Land that God Forgot." A few birds were seen but not a wild animal and the scattered adobe or rough board houses in which live the Indians and Mexicans, mostly employed on the railroad, made the desolation all the more real. Scores and scores of miles without a drop of water visible, no rivers, streams, ponds nor lakes—a treeless, almost verdureless and waterless waste fit only for the useless cactus, sage bush and the uncivilized Indian. Never had I imagined thousands of miles, in the United States, of such barren waste of no value except to go through to reach a "better land." Whether any other transcontinental route can show so worthless a region as this, the Santa Fe, I know not and sincerely hope not. After leaving Glorieta nearly 7500 feet of altitude we descended thousands of feet and upon reaching the state of California a change for the better welcomed us—grass, shrubs, trees and herds of cattle, sheep and horses and real habitations for men replaced the barrenness and more attractive pictures were everywhere seen. The dry, cool air of the higher altitudes gave place to warmer with haze, fog and clouds. At San Bernardino we changed cars and in half an hour were in Riverside and among old friends. A good room had been secured for us at Hotel Victoria directly opposite the immense Hotel Glenwood.

At the Theatres

Coming Attractions

Keith's Theatre—One of the strongest and best balanced vaudeville programs of the entire season is announced from Keith's theatre for the week commencing April 9. The leading entertainer on the bill will be Harry Gilfoil, who a few weeks ago scored the hit of "The Pearl and the Pumpkin," company and who has been prominently identified with some of the big successes in musical comedy in the past few years. Mr. Gilfoil will be seen in the character of Baron Sands which he originally created in Hoyt's "A Day and a Night" and which is one of the most artistic bits of entertainment to be seen in the varieties. During the course of his presentation of this well-known character, Mr. Gilfoil will introduce his clever whistling imitations. The surrounding show is a well balanced one in all departments containing the usual enough European act, and for a great many successes of the kind. In the course of events the audience enjoys many happy laughs and hears a variety of pleasing melodies. Among these are: "I would Like to Marry You," "I Want a Man Made to Order," "Won't You Change Your Name," "Mediterranean Blue" and "How'd You Like to Spoon With Me." This last number is accompanied by a novel bit of business which provides ten girls with swings that project over the heads of the audience. The presenting company is headed by Eddie Foy, a comedian whose mirth provoking qualities are well known in Boston.

Castle Square Theatre—"The Three Musketeers" is one of the most popular melodramas ever produced in any country and its production at the Castle Square next week will be more than welcome. The Castle Square production of "The Three Musketeers" will be in every way original and novel. The play will lose none of its old flavor, and it will have in addition much that is new and strikingly interesting. The scenery will be especially prepared for this production, and the cast, headed by John Craig, as D'Artagnan, will give a strong interpretation of every character.

JAMES K. HACKETT.
In his new play, "The Walls of Jericho," at the Tremont Theatre.

the best to be found in the domestic field. Included in the list will be Carleton Macy and Edna Hall, in a clever comedy sketch entitled, "A Timely Awakening," which is said to be one of the best short sketches in the varieties; the Sisters Herzog-Cameras, European novelty head-to-head balancers; the Three Mitchells, "real coon" comedians, singers and dancers; Melani trio of Italian street musicians and vocalists; Frank Byron and Louise Landgion, in a comedy and singing specialty, and Ferguson and Watson, conversational comedians. Harry Houdini, who has everybody guessing, will be retained for another 60 days and an entire new list of comedy and interesting motion pictures will be exhibited in the kinetograph.

Tremont Theatre—The long anticipated co-star engagement of James K. Hackett and Mary Manning, in Alfred Sutro's great drama, "The Walls of Jericho," draws near, and these two distinguished stars will begin a limited stay of two weeks only on Monday next, April 9th, at the Tremont Theatre, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees during each week. On this occasion they will present for the first time in Boston "The Walls of Jericho," a play which dramatic essayists, in both the daily prints and magazines, have loudly proclaimed as the best drama of years. "The Walls of Jericho" was written by Alfred Sutro, an Englishman; is in four acts, and is a scathing, but true, commentary of London fashionable life. The same brilliant company that gave Mr. Hackett and Miss Manning support during their long season of over six months during the run of the "Walls of Jericho" at the Savoy Theatre, New York, will be seen in Boston.

Majestic Theatre—It was not so very long ago that an audience felt compensated for going to the theatre if it was enabled to get three hearty laughs out of some farce comedy. Nowadays, play lovers refuse absolutely to accept farce without embellishment, and require in addition to the story 15 or 20 musical numbers, an endless parade of pretty girls, an augmented orchestra and scenery and costumes. Such a combination of merriment and melody is said to be "The Earl and the Girl" which the Messrs. Shubert are to offer on and after Saturday, April 7, at the Majestic Theatre. The piece in the work of Seymour Hicks, Ivan Caryll and Percy Greenbank, who have been responsible

"You can please all of the people some of the time, some of the people all of the time, but you'll have a devil's own time trying to please all the people all the time."

The speech of Alderman Doherty on the Nonantum school house matter this week in the board of aldermen, however ill-timed and ill-advised as it may appear to some, contains some points worthy of careful consideration.

It has been unwarrantably assumed, as events have since proved, that Nonantum, which has endured the ancient form of school construction so uncomplainingly for many years, would be so pleased at the very idea of a modern building that its site would be accepted without a murmur. But Nonantum is awakening to some appreciation of its place in the Garden City and does not now propose to accept anything and everything which outsiders may deem necessary for its benefit, and intends to have some voice in matters affecting its own territory.

It protests against the proposed site of the new school building as being outside of its recognized limits, and involving additional travel for its children.

We assume that the proposed building is the part of a far-sighted plan by the school committee, looking to future growth of the city as a whole. We understand that this plan intends to relieve the present crowding of the Bigelow school, and to eliminate the old Lincoln school, with an enlarged Underwood school, in one direction and to a subsequent new building on the site of the present Adams school in the other direction, as well as providing ample accommodations for Nonantum itself. The scheme is perfect on geographical and theoretical grounds, but fails to take into consideration the deep rooted sensitiveness of a portion of the present Bigelow district on the matter of school district lines and which has tried the patience of many a school committee in the past. It also fails to recognize the local village pride of Nonantum which is just being developed. Is this not a suitable time, therefore, to revise the general scheme for present and future school buildings in this section of the city, hearing these two facts in mind. It seems to us that a new twelve room building erected this year in some central portion of Nonantum will effectually settle the second factor in the problem and that a new twelve room building for primary and grammar grades located somewhere near Richardson street would satisfy and fully provided for the future of the Bigelow and Underwood districts. The proposed enlargement of the Adams school would then be placed far in the future. This plan would not only meet with popular approval so far as school lines are concerned, but would suit the ideas of many of our citizens who do not believe in gathering together so many children in a 16 room building involves. A saving of something like $20,000 by reducing the size of the building is also worth making at the present time, when it is understood that the program as outlined by the School board will add at least $25,000 annually to the tax levy for the next few years.

Tax payers all over the city, therefore have some direct interest in this matter as well as the parents affected by the schools and school lines. Now is the time to settle these questions and we feel sure that the city fathers will settle them in the best possible manner.

We give space this week to the appeal for commutation of the death sentence of Charles L. Tucker, and at the request of his counsel have allowed the use of our office for the signing of the petition to Governor Guild. This action is taken with the full conviction that the accused has had a full and impartial trial and that the sentence of the court was only what could have been expected under our laws. But we do not believe that the present century should continue to abide by the old Mosaic law, and exact a life for a life, except where direct and positive evidence is secured of cold-blooded and brutal murder, and on circumstantial testimony, such as convicted Tucker, the state may well rest content with imprisonment for life, thus giving the convicted man whatever benefit may result from the accumulation of evidence in the future.

We earnestly hope, therefore, that the Governor will act favorably on these petitions, not on grounds of sentiment, nor for their many signatures, but because the pardoning power is intended to protect the possibility of a judicial error, however faint that may be, and which cannot be rectified after the electric chair has claimed its victim.

The failure of the Middlesex Grand Jury last month to indict persons charged with acts of immorality in this city is a serious miscarriage of justice. The careful work and painstaking evidence gathered by the police in many months of work come to naught. A suspicious circumstance of the affair was the open boasts of the defendants before the grand jury met that they would not be indicted. Something is evidently wrong in this particular case.

Speaker Cole of the Massachusetts house of Representatives aptly characterizes the magazine articles reflecting on the United States Senate, as "red journalism." In view of the statement of Senator Platt that these articles are published in magazines owned by Mr. Hearst, the Speaker's criticism seems to hit the nail on the head.

Residents of the Bigelow district will follow the experiment to be undertaken at Waban, to obviate the disadvantages in the one session plan. The compromise effected gives a morning session, each school day of four hours, and two afternoon sessions during the week of two hours each.

High School Notes

Fifty candidates for the baseball team have been practicing this week on Cabot park under the direction of Coach Loughlin and Capt. Hobart. As six of last year's champion team are still in the school there are hopes that a strong team will be chosen. Pierce, Desmond and Belding are showing up well as pitchers.

Jack Glover has been chosen captain of the '07 hockey team.

Newton Hospital

A reception and donation party will be given by the Trustees of the Newton Hospital and the directors of the Hospital Aid Association, at the Nurses Home of the Hospital on Tuesday, May 1, 1906, from 3 to 9 o'clock. On this occasion, the new Ellison Hall and the Harriet Gould Paine Domestic Building will be opened to the public for the first time. Tea will be served in the new dining room. Any articles of household furnishings, including groceries, soap and also money, will be gratefully received.

Police Paragraphs.

Florence E. Earle, the waitress at the Evans Cafe, who stole a silk waist, a silk skirt, three sets of underwear, a cloak and a suit case from her landlady and others last January, was before Judge Kennedy this week, after being arrested and extradited from New York. She was sentenced to the Women's prison at Sherborn. An amusing feature of the trial was the claim of the witnesses to the apparel the Earle woman was wearing. Mrs. Mason, the police matron was obliged to provide her with sufficient clothing to wear.

Complaints having been made of tramps sleeping in the cars left standing all night at Riverside, a visit to the yard early Wednesday morning by the officers resulted in the arrest of Thomas Hyde. He was sent to the State Farm.

Officer W. J. Kiley found five lads in a dirty and tired condition in Newtonville square on Wednesday morning and learned that they had run away from their homes in Somerville to see the world. They were taken to headquarters and their parents notified. The oldest gave his age as 14.

A Color Problem

Every one with a Venetian sense of color, who enjoys a perfect color harmony in the interior of his home, should see the new wall papers and draperies on exhibition here this week. Many of our Newton houses are too conventional. They lack the stamp of individuality and the finger marks of personality. The reason lies in the fact that no one lived in them. They used to be lightened up and made brighter and cheerier by some of the new wall papers which have just been placed on our shelves. Remember that we have the draperies to match. Cost is no barrier in the way. It will surprise you to see some of the figures which we have placed on our choicest goods. Just now we are making estimates for several of our customers for redecorating and refurbishing during the early spring months. An estimate costs nothing. May we name a price on any Spring work you contemplate? HAASE & WATERMAN Formerly M. H. Haase 427 Centre St., Newton, Mass.

West Newton.

—Arrangements have been made for the sale of the present Unitarian church to Messrs H. L. Burrage and C. E. Hatfield, who are understood to be acting for The Players.

—Ivory Weymouth Silver son of Mr. Joseph Silver died at his home on Adams avenue Sunday aged 10 years. The funeral was held from the house Tuesday at 2 o'clock and the burial was at Mount Hope.

—Mr. H. H. Burton of Webster street, has been appointed an associate editor of the Bowdoin College Orient, a weekly publication connected with that institution. Mr. Burton is a member of the freshman class having entered the college last fall.

—At the recent annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society held at the Unitarian church the following officers were chosen for the coming year; President, Mrs. Julian C. Jaynes; vice president, Mrs. Edgar J. Bliss; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Robbins; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. John D. Lamond.

—The young people of the Second Congregational church have organized a choral club which has been drilling for some weeks under the direction of Mr. Archibald and for the purpose of giving an Easter Vesper service. The club is to give a social and entertainment on Tuesday evening, April 17 to raise money needed to defray expenses.

—The annual meeting of the West Newton Women's Alliance will be held in the parlors of the Unitarian church next Thursday morning. The annual reports will be read and officers elected for the coming year. "The Book of Revelations," will be considered under the leadership of Miss Mary Rogers.

—A horse driven by John T. Cushman became frightened near the Washington street bridge by a passing train Wednesday evening and ran away. In turning into Waltham street, the team was overturned and Mr. Cushman and Malcolm Lamont, who was with him, were thrown out. Lamont's left leg was broken just above the ankle and Mr. Cushman considerably bruised.

—Appleton D. Myrick, son of Mr. George A. Myrick of the Allen school, died at his home on Waltham street Friday of pneumonia. He was a native of New Haven, Conn., and was 8 years of age. The lad was a student at the Barnard school and was a favorite with all who knew him. Funeral services were held from the family residence Monday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. Edwin F. Snell, pastor of the Lincoln Park Baptist church, officiating, and the burial was in Newton Cemetery.

—Assistant Auditor Cheney L. Hatch will have the sympathy of his many friends in the loss of his father, an old and prominent citizen of Leicester, on Thursday aged 82 years. He was a retired boot and shoe merchant having been formerly a member of the firm of Powers & Hatch of Spencer. He is survived by two daughters the Misses Isabelle S. Hatch, formerly of Wellesley College and Miss Ruth E. Hatch of Leicester and Mr. Cheney L. Hatch of West Newton. The funeral was held from the house Sunday afternoon and was largely attended by relatives and friends. The burial was in the family lot.

ASK YOUR GROCER

DR. GEORGE S. WOODMAN.

The late Dr. Woodman was a familiar figure in Newton for many years. Succeeding Dr. Rhee he established himself in Newtonville in 1879 among relatives and friends and greatly extended the practice.

He lived to see many improvements in the city, notably the installation of the trolley lines; the abolition of grade crossings; the laying out of the beautiful boulevard and the growth of the hospital on whose staff he served, from its cottage form to its present ample facilities for usefulness.

The domination of the automobile never weaned him from his affection for a good horse with which he found his chief recreation.

Music was the avocation of his life, having an alto voice in youth and a fine baritone in mature years. On first going to Newtonville he occasionally contributed to the musical program of the "Every Saturday Club" and other social gatherings, and was always especially fond of church music.

Retiring in 1900 he spent his last years with his children, enjoying occasional visits to Lake Mohonk, Atlantic City and other resorts.

Personally Dr. Woodman had great charm of manner; a tenderness toward children and a reverence for women for which in many homes his memory is cherished as the beloved physician.

Medal Contest

Three silver medal contests were held under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in A. O. U. W. Hall, West Newton, under the direction of Dr. N. Louisa Rand, Wednesday evening. The hall was filled by a very enthusiastic audience. There was a men's oratorical contest, boys' oratorical contest and singing contest. This makes in all 7 contests which have been held this winter in West Newton and it was one of the most enjoyable. In the first contest were Mr. George G. Dower, Mr. Rodney M. Lucas, Mr. John Keith and Mr. Wm. H. Rand. The medal was won by Mr. Rand. The most interesting feature of this contest was the declamation by Mr. Lucas of a selection memorized when he was a lad.

The boy contestants were Warren Dearborn, Warren Bruce, Howard Young, Edwin Nowers, George Dower and Percival Symonds. Master Symonds captured the medal.

The contestants in the singing contest were Mrs. Bays of Auburndale, Miss Franklin Wood of Dorchester, Miss Olive Burrison of West Newton, Miss Nina Bruce of South Framingham, Miss Eva Sanderson of West Newton and Mr. William Francis of Auburndale. Mr. Francis was awarded the medal, thus adding fresh laurels to his already promising career as vocalist.

The music judges were Miss Nellie Warren, Mr. R. N. Robbins and Mrs. C. A. Howland.

The judges of the men were Rev. John Giddard, Mrs. Grace E. Glover, Mrs. Bruce. The boys judges were Mrs. George A. Walton, Mr. W. F. Glover and Mrs. S. A. Warren.

The next three contests will be held in Denison hall, Newtonville, April 10 and will be participated in by pupils of the ninth grade from the Horace Mann School.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

PROBATE COURT.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of George F. Lowell late of Newton in said County, deceased.

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Etile L. Lowell who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, without giving a surety on an official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the twenty-fourth day of April, A. D. 1906, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper published in Newton, the last publication to be on day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, CHARLES J. McINTIRE, Esquire, first Judge of said Court, this fifth day of April, in the year one thousand nine hundred and six.

W. E. ROGERS, Register.

The regular monthly meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's club was held last week Thursday afternoon in Bray hall. The president, Mrs. F. E. Anderson, introduced the speaker for the afternoon, Mr. William J. Long, the nature lover, whose subject was "Animal Life and Death." Mr. Long is well known and loved by child and adult alike for his delightful nature stories, whose personal note do far more toward bringing the animal world nearer and dearer to one than the purely scientific nature books. After the lecture a social hour followed with refreshments, and the club members had an opportunity of meeting Mr. Long and his illustrators, Mr. Charles Copeland. Many were surprised to learn that the charming illustrations that add so much to the delight of Mr. Long's stories were sketched by the resident of Gray Cliff road.

The Auburndale Review Club finished its second year's program of Browning with an "Experience Meeting" Tuesday morning.

Every lady present gave her "experience" telling of what had interested her most during the year, and quotations from the poems best liked. The meeting was a great success.

The Newtonville Woman's Guild met on Tuesday afternoon, April 3, the president in the chair. Mr. Albert P. Walker gave an interesting and scholarly address on "Job and some Epic Poems." The music was in charge of Mrs. D. E. Baker. Several selections from Dvorak were rendered on the piano by Miss Field of Boston.

At the annual meeting of the Newton Mothers' Club the following list of officers was elected: President, Mrs. E. C. Hinkley; vice-president, Mrs. John Eaton; secretary, Mrs. Albert O. Shaw; treasurer, Mrs. S. E. Jones; chairman of the program committee, Mrs. Joseph Lovell. Mrs. B. E. Taylor of Newton Centre gave a paper entitled "From the Child's Standpoint." On Monday, April second, the club met with Mrs. J. J. Mitchell of West Newton. Mrs. Truitt of Newton Centre gave an afternoon of "Children's Songs." Tea was served and a social hour enjoyed.

The Monday Club of Newton Highlands at its meeting on April 2 voted to act as hostess for the annual meeting of the Newton Federation which will be held on May 3, at Channing church, Newton. For the program of the afternoon papers were given on "Turin" and the "Waldenses." The club will meet next week with Mrs. Stone of Walnut street.

Reports of the work of the various State Federations as given in the Federation Bulletin show that everywhere the purpose of the woman's club is the same social service as well as individual improvement. The president of the West Virginia Federation gives the following outline of its aim:

The West Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs was organized April 22, 1904, with fifteen clubs. As our first president, Mrs. Guy R. C. Allen, said, in an open letter to the State Federation, "The foremost work of the Federation has always been educational," and, since educational processes, in order to be sure, are always gradual and slow, we must keep persistently and faithfully at work, anxious for results, but with sublime indifference to failure.

"The object of the State Federation is to bring into communication the women's clubs of the State, that by conference and mutual helpfulness they may devise plans for club extension, to further encourage systematic reading and study, the special work of each individual club may be independently considered, and to lay the foundation for greater usefulness in the home, and a higher appreciation of citizenship." Endeavoring to approximate this standard set forth in our State constitution, we have organized several new clubs in the past year, and have exchanged courtesies with clubs in neighboring cities, in the interest of reciprocity and club extension.

The ultimate object of every club is the development of character and the cultivation of the individual. It is the privilege, as well as the duty, of those members who have had exceptional advantages to give generously of time, thought, and acquisitions for the benefit of others not so favored, but none the less deserving.

The strength of all club life is in integrity of purpose. The encouragement is in the responsiveness of members to obligations undertaken, its reward the blessedness of self-sacrifice. In this age of cheap and abundant literature it is almost impossible to realize that there are hundreds of hamlets and villages in West Virginia where books are almost unknown, and a magazine or newspaper only an occasional visitor. To improve this condition, our club women have placed ten travelling libraries, carefully selected, containing seventy volumes each, in ten small towns.

Statistics but faintly forecast the good accomplished by the companionship of books. The States having the greatest number of libraries show the least number of illiterates of school age, the greatest civic and moral beauty, and the best laws for the regulation of child labor and the education of children. Our State Federation constitution emphasizes the necessity of an intelligent comprehension of her needs in order to formulate rational remedies for existing evils, and hopes by club extension and travelling libraries to arouse a greater consideration for the right of every individual to become an intelligent citizen. Not less important is the right and duty of the State to compel unwilling citizens to take advantage of the educational provisions of the public schools, so that the helpless members of the most numerous class may be fitted for the duties and obligations of good citizenship.

As a Federation, we are not yet two years old, and at this early period in our history can report only slight progress. We are striving to lay a broad, deep, and safe foundation for the superstructure that those who come after us will build.

Mrs. Charles S. Morrison, First Vice-President.

Steps are underway for the union of two organizations in Indiana, the Indiana Federation of Women's Clubs and the Indiana Union of Literary Clubs. The joint committee appointed to look into the matter recommend that they join under the name of the Indiana State Union of Federated Clubs. This will not be voted upon until the annual meeting of the two organizations which will be held next October, but success is practically assured.

From Texas comes this stirring address by the retiring President, Mrs. E. P. Turner:

The Texas club woman denies the accusation that there is such a being in clubdom as the new woman, claiming instead that the mothers of our country are only entering a broader field of usefulness, and protesting against being excluded from all participation in the more serious problems of life. She accepts this new responsibility, believing in her capacity to render assistance, to be, in deed and in truth, a helpmeet to her husband and a companion in arms to her sons in the endeavor to change many deplorable conditions. This, the highest and truest type of woman, extends her interest beyond the rocking of the cradle, and lends voice as well as hand to the saving as well as the ruling of the world.

Is the hand that rocks the cradle ruling the world today? We hear of corruption in high places, of bribery, of graft, of shocking disregard of public confidence. Where does the responsibility rest? If it is true that "the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world," what a reflection on the motherhood of the past generation! And they were not club women, but rather of the type Mr. Cleveland would have us emulate,—the type that takes no interest in other than domestic affairs, that evinces no personal concern in sociology or civics. It can not be laid to club women that they have bred the men who have fastened themselves, like human leeches, on the industrial, commercial, and political vitals of the world, and are today fattening on the oppression of the poor, the helplessness of the masses, and even upon the needs of the widowed and orphaned.

The fact that men of this stamp have been looked upon as miscreants but have been honored by positions of high trust, shows that we need an entire readjustment of standards, a reformation in public sentiment, so that human success shall not be measured in money, but in character. It shows that, if woman would rule the world for good, she must add many duties to that of cradle-rocking, of darning and mending and providing material comforts for the home. She must look out in the world about her, and take note of the influences that make or mar character, and which sooner or later must be reckoned with in the rearing of her children.

When the cradle is no longer needed, it is the wise woman of today, the modern mother, the club woman, if you please, who makes a close study of child nature, and, unlike the old-fashioned scold, governs with the law of kindness instead of force. She visits the schools, and gives and gets wholesome aid by conferring with the teachers as to what is best for the upbuilding of her child in character as well as intellect. She implants in the minds and hearts of her children, noble sentiments and aspirations in contrast with the sordid aims of money-getting, laudable ambitions to be, yea, a hero in the strife for the world's betterment.

When, through her clearer vision and unbiased outlook upon the affairs of the world, she advocates devotion to duty as a patriotic yet peaceful citizen, she but sounds the heavenly harmony, "Peace on earth, good will towards men." When she whispers in the silence, fearing to offend by too pronounced an utterance, "Be noble yield not to graft, to bribery, to self-interest, place men in power who will serve their country honorably," she but sounds the note of Civil Service Reform. When she claims that mothers have the right to assist in the improvement of schools, it is the mother heart that pleads for better opportunities for her dear ones. When she asks for the passage of a pure food bill, she but begs that the physical well-being of her children may be insured. Similar arguments could be given in defence of the mother's participation in all the many affairs of the world, so closely related are they to home life, proving that the interest of the community is also the interest of the home.

The question is often asked, "How can women find time to add this outside work to home-making?" By simplifying the work in the home. Is there not overcrowding, is not care added to the burden of home-keeping by elaborate decorations and furnishings and pretentious living? True dignity and harmony is the result of simplicity. Weed out non-essentials. Let your hospitality be known for its gracious rather than lavish quality. Let good form take the place of confusion. In this way a conservation of time and energy will give the necessary opportunity for more important matters. Much social diversion consumes time that might be better employed. It necessitates giving too much thought to multiplicity of raiment. This life is all too short to devote to the play hour more than is needed for relaxation.

The club woman should realize the duty of womanhood in the ethical development of her offspring. Does she convey to them the magic spell of her own ideals by making a noble appeal to the inner vision, so that the understanding catches a glimpse of justice and universal regard for the welfare of all? Does she inspire renunciation of self, that all may have equal opportunity in the race for life? Does she infuse into their very beings the eternal moral verities that seek to put aside the sordid and selfish for the divine and enduring? So few respond to the calls for a nobler life. The church, the home, and the school have concerned themselves far too little with the inculcation of the principles of correct living. A strong appeal should go out to these to awaken to their responsibility as character builders.

My sisters, be not afraid of petty criticism. The world needs you. Your husbands and sons need your moral enthusiasm. The mothers who are less fortunate, who are ignorant of the best ways to mould their children, need your help. Will you withhold your influence while the poor, weak, morally deformed, are trampled in the dust for lack of sympathy, encouragement, and the saving grace of high ideals?"

Mrs. Turner then proceeds to mention the work which her Federation has been doing in creating sentiment in favor of public kindergartens and urging the passage of a bill for compulsory education. The Federation should join in the movement to unite the interests of country and city, and aid in every effort for the more beautiful as well as the more intellectual life on the farm. The aesthetic sense must be cultivated, to save our industrial life from becoming drudgery. It is this interplay between the artistic and the economic world, between the idealistic and the realistic, that gives employment to labor. Life labor above the low level of drudgery, and call forth the best qualities of the laborer.

It is a gratifying fact that more than two-thirds of the clubs have engaged in some branch of civic work, yet the combined efforts of all is needed to correct many existing evils that not only mar the beautiful, but hold us to a low level of morality. To the aesthetic must be added the philanthropic, in order to further all needed reform. In some of the larger cities, the clubs have endeavored to secure police matrons for city prisons, and establish that system of humane treatment for youthful offenders known as Juvenile Courts. This work of the Federation has created wide-spread interest. Support has been volunteered from such State organizations as the County and District Attorneys, County and District Judges, and Chiefs of Police and Sheriffs,—all in annual session. Only last week the State Convention of Baptist Women Workers approved the movement, unhesitatingly.

When those whose daily duties give them opportunity to study the causes of criminality, endorse the Juvenile Court, it proves that our energies have not been misplaced in the effort to solve the most important problem of the day, even if the measure failed to become a law on its own presentation to the legislature. The bill authorizing Juvenile Courts in Texas was favorably passed on by the Senate, and only failed the House because, like many other measures, it was not reached before adjournment. Since then numbers of letters have been received from prominent citizens all over the State, congratulating the progress already made, and expressing encouragement and support for the future.

The purpose of the Federation is to inspire individuals to a higher and nobler life. To this end also libraries have been established, churches have been built, schoolhouses erected. All invite the poor, the outcast, the neglected child. But they heed not the invitation. Some other factor, then, is needed to reach out a saving hand: Will the Federation be that factor? We are admonished to go out and seek the poor, weak, darkened souls that live in the highways and byways, who are not in the light because their deeds are evil. We are admonished to gather them in, and let the illumination from our own souls shine into theirs until the divine spark is kindled. Should not this, more than all else, appeal to our better and nobler selves?

The protection of childhood should be the sovereign charity of the century to come, and true justice should be meted out in the prevention of crime by the proper safeguards,—education, association, and industry. Save society by preserving the child. There is no justice without charity. With high conceptions of love, honor, and duty, with belief in the oneness of the universe and the inherent goodness of the human heart, we will give this noble service to humanity, believing it to be the highest goal of all aspiration.

The Executive Board of the General Federation held an extended session in Chicago in February. In addition to the routine business and the consideration of the work of the standing committees, the chief subjects considered were the program and the arrangements for the Biennial Convention.

This biennial will differ from former Biennials in that there will be no general sessions in the afternoon. The afternoons will be devoted to the conferences of standing committees. The hours of the conferences will not conflict, so that each delegate will be able to attend all the conferences if she chooses. The subjects to be considered at these conferences will be announced later.

Interesting exhibits have been arranged by the following standing committees: Art, Household Economics, Pure Food, Forestry, Library Extension.

Tuesday, June 5, will be given up to an excursion to Minneapolis.

The evening meetings will be of unusual interest. The opening meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, May 30, when addresses of welcome will be given by the Governor of Minnesota, the Mayor of St. Paul, the President of the Fourth District of the Minnesota Federation, and the President of the Minnesota State Federation. Mrs. Sarah S. Platt Decker, the President of the General Federation, will respond to these greetings.

Thursday evening will be given to the reports of the Presidents of the State Federations. The subject for Friday evening is "Our Opportunities." Various organizations engaged in lines of work similar to our own will present plans and suggestions by which we may all work together to obtain the best results. The work of the American Civic Association, the Consumers' League, the National Child Labor Committee, the National Municipal League, will be presented. There will also be addresses on the subject of Juvenile Courts and on Settlement Work.

A large reception will be held on Saturday evening, and on Sunday evening a vesper service. On Monday evening an art session will be held, under the direction of Mrs. John Sherwood, Chairman; and on Tuesday evening a musicale, in charge of Mrs. Philip N. Moore. The subject for Wednesday evening is "Woman in the Professions." Education, music, journalism, the ministry, law, medicine, the stage, and literature will be discussed by representative women in each of these professions.

Thursday evening, June 7, will be the President's evening, and the program will be arranged by Mrs. Decker. Monday afternoon will be given to receptions in private homes.

The Social Science Club held its regular monthly business meeting at the Hunnewell Club on Wednesday morning. Routine business was transacted and reports received from the standing committees. The Committee on the Consumer's League reported that John Wannamaker has at last consented to accede to the rules of the Consumer's League; that this had been brought about by the fact that several of his regular customers had refused to trade with him longer unless he did. The attention of the club was called to the bill board nuisance and the members were urged to use their influence in arousing public opinion against them. It was stated that there are thirty-nine miles of bill board advertising around Boston. Mrs. Hornbrooke, for the Bird committee, stated that the chief enemies of the birds at present are the cats, the boys, the milliners and the Italians. She also said that the Jordan Marsh Company are on the side of the birdlovers and refuse to carry anything in the way of millinery that does not wholly conform to the law.

The next meeting will be addressed by Miss Maud Summers, subject, "William Morris, the Craftsman." Guests may be invited.

CLAFLIN GUARD NOTES.

There will be no drill Monday night next on account of the coming inspection on Wednesday April 11th. Capt. Guilford wears a confident air as he watches his crack company drill with all the snap and precision of a U. S. A. outfit, and the confidence is mutual.

Priv. Young, the winner of the $5.00 in gold for all around efficiency, made a total of 400 points, which was close to the possible, and he was pressed hard by a large majority of the company. Priv. Young was complimented by Capt. Guilford who made the presentation.

While the company stood "attention" under arms last Monday night, the oath of allegiance was administered to three recruits by the commanding officer. Mustering men in, in the presence of the Guard, is a feature introduced by Capt. Guilford since his advent to the captaincy.

BENEATH THE GILDED DOME.

For about two months there has been held a series of hearings at the State House by the joint committees on railroads and street railways, which aggregation, by the way, should hereafter be known as a committee on Transportation, of about half the number of members now composing the two committees.

These hearings are the outcome of the reports of the Recess Committee which sat during the summer for the purpose of codifying the Railway and Street Railway laws. The report is comprehensive and complete, and, barring some corrections and minor details, has proven its ability to stand the test of immediate action by the Legislature. During the summer, the ablest railroad men in Massachusetts were heard by the committee while it had the matter under consideration, and it had the advantage of what might be termed expert advice to aid it in forming its report to be submitted to the Legislature. However, as a matter of course, the committee advertised public hearings since the Legislature convened, and as a result a perfect flood of advice was poured into the hours set apart by the committee, from all sorts and conditions of men, from those who really had something worth saying and hearing, to those who are heard for their much speaking and little thinking. For example, the entire time of one morning was taken up by a man who proved conclusively that if a railroad pass had been given him early in the days when he became interested in the management of railroads, he would doubtless have found less to criticize in the methods. Of course, it was not his intention to prove any such thing, but it was about the only thing that he demonstrated. This man was one of a class which has been invading the State House for years, and who might be described as a sepiet in the study of transportation grumbling. The men who prove how much easier it is to tear down than to build up, although they really do precious little in either line.

It is an interesting fact to note, by the way, what has been a matter of observation, covering a series of years, how, with a few exceptions, the members who have composed the railroad committees from year to year have come from their service on that committee, sincere believers in the ability and business methods of railroad officials. It is believed that if a poll were taken of all those who have served in this capacity for the past twenty years it would reveal that nine-tenths of the number would give to the railroads of Massachusetts credit for the most masterful management and far-sightedness. There is no branch of the quasi public service that has been managed with as much skill and patience as that which transports millions of cars, both freight and passenger, annually between the mountains and the sea in this Commonwealth. It is the idliest sort of argument to contend that the state could evolve a railroad service under her management which would be so near perfect, if she consumed a century in the attempt, and while she was beginning the effort, the railroad securities that she would be obliged to float on the market would not cease to float until they touched bottom.

The House of Representatives for the second time voted to slam the lid down tight last Wednesday, as it passed a bill which looked more like a blue law than anything that the great and general Court has clothed with the majesty of law since John Endicott put on the robes of office at Salem in 1628. In passing what is known as the Sunday law, the legislature intended to rebuke the methods which have been in vogue in Boston and at Revere Beach, which have caused all decent people to blush with indignation. The so-called liberal spirit which has so much to say about New England blue laws will be, by this action, reminded that the spirit of the fathers, to some extent at least, dwells in the breasts of the sons, and that here in New England, some respect will be paid to the old New England Sunday for a while longer. Representative J. H. Mellen, of Worcester, reflected the sentiment of the House when he said amid applause:

"I am not a moralist for I have gone the pace and even set it for the fastest of them. But I believe that the old New England Sabbath should be held sacred. The bill may be too drastic, but the spirit which underlies it is right, and the bill should be passed."

Of course many people and newspapers will join with the Herald and will have a good deal to say about adding a deeper dye to the blueness of the laws, and will rebuke the attempts to retain the sanctimoniousness of the day, while they will neglect to call attention to the fact that this law is made possible by the prevalence of Sunday shows in and about Boston, that are in violation of the moral sense of the community. "Fake charity shows," as Mr. Luce calls them.

If any paper in Boston has called attention editorially to these disreputable Sunday shows such action has escaped general attention. Perhaps the broadside advertisements in the Sunday paper may account for this omission, to a certain degree. In one of its unguarded moments one of these papers, in speaking of the Sunday Bill being introduced especially to close up the Sunday concerts in Boston Theatres, called attention to its being therefore a piece of special legislation. This was one of the journals that was urging the legislation a few weeks ago to pass the Touraine Bill, the most monstrous piece of special legislation enacted on Beacon Hill since the waters of the flood receded from its aristocratic base.

The public opinion bill, now before the legislature, is endorsed by many who seem to emphasize in the same breath that they believe in a representative form of government. The time has evidently not arrived when they feel that it is safe to set their faces against that well grounded principle in American civic faith. They are trying to make it appear by alleged argument, that the idea underlying the purpose in this public opinion agitation is an aid and a salutary force in our system of legislation.

Nothing is more impossible in the accepted form of government under which we live and conduct public affairs. There is nothing sound or logical in the attempt to crowd into our legislative action the real purpose of this measure which began its career on Beacon Hill by being introduced by a Socialist, associated with a discarded Democrat, and has later been seized upon by the Democrats as a stepping stone in the shallow stream of politics as they are struggling to obtain a foothold on the distant shore, aided and abetted by dish-water Republicans. Nobody knows better than the promoters of the scheme, that it would be practically an impossibility to get to per cent of the voters to favor anything, and there would be little doubt about the result if the legislature should grant power to promote, what really lies behind this bill. The labored editorials in the Democratic Boston newspapers, in which they seek to throw dust into the eyes of the Republican members of the great and general court, but thinly veil the real purpose which really is to write into the Constitution of Massachusetts enough modern democratic policy to make that sublime instrument a dead letter, so far as its binding character is concerned in its application to government.

On this matter, the Republicans in the Legislature need to adopt the motto of St. Paul:

"And having done all to stand."

Monday the House toyed with the Boston Democrats on a bill introduced by Representative Lomasney, in which he endeavored to circumvent the Mayor of Boston, and after spending almost the entire afternoon the House voted three to one to allow Mr. Lomasney to have his way so far as the legislature was concerned. Meanwhile, the fight goes merrily on, and as Mayor Fitzgerald is moving his new mahogany furniture into his office on School street (cost $2,000) he can get what consolation it is possible to obtain out of the fact that Martin has met him and has gone home to the Hendricks Club with a new feather in his cap.

fruit trees by the hundreds of acres. The Eucalyptus, pepper trees, fern palms, date palms and other palms were on the lawns and lined the streets for miles. Almost every little cottage had orange trees in the yard and everywhere the orange trees were loaded with the ripe, golden fruit, so beautiful to look at and so delicious to eat. Riverside produces the finest oranges in California and in the greatest profusion. It is said to be the home of the navel orange, and the original tree is said to be standing in the front yard of the Glenwood Hotel removed from its former site and set out there by President Roosevelt when he was there a year or two ago. It is well loaded with large, luscious looking fruit, which was not for the public.

The White Park, the gift of one of its prominent citizens, is filled with rare and valuable trees, shrubs and plants, many of them from the Hawaiian Islands. In it are gathered the finest collection of cacti in the state of California. These are from New Mexico, Arizona and Old Mexico. Many of the smallest are beautiful and some are of gigantic size, fifteen or more feet high and more than a foot in diameter.

That wizard, Burbank, has developed a spineless cactus, which will be much sought by the admirers of this unique plant. Riverside, like nearly all the Southern California cities, is surrounded by mountains and in the distance two snow-capped ones can be seen. They form a magnificent background to this rich, peaceful valley.

We visited an orange packing establishment where the oranges, brought from the groves were poured upon an inclined plane with holes bored through, the smaller at the top and as they rolled down dropped into receptacles below of them were almost pretty, with their

REPAIRING NEATLY DONE AT MODERATE PRICES

It was a very expeditious way of sorting and sizing them. Then they were cleaned and packed in boxes, each one being wrapped in paper by the women, so rapidly it seemed wonderful. Then the boxes were nailed up and ready for shipment on the cars standing nearby. We were shown a machine, in full operation making the boxes. The ends and slats were fed out by machinery and put together and nailed as if by magic—about a box a minute. It seemed as if the machine was endowed with intelligence.

We visited the Sherman Institute, a school for Indian boys and girls, established by the United States. The boys are uniformed like United States soldiers and seemed to take pride in their dress and training. The girls were dressed alike and really looked attractive as they marched or wandered through the ample grounds. There are many excellent buildings for dormitories and class rooms. The boys have a band and the girls a mandolin and guitar club. We were invited to a concert given by these girls in the Congregational church and really enjoyed it.

They looked neat and nice and some services one Sunday afternoon in the hair tastefully arranged. We attended services on Sunday afternoon in the chapel on the grounds. The pupils were formed on the campus and marched in, the boys on one side and the girls on the other and made a very creditable showing. The singing was by them and to our surprise there were many fine voices. We were told the Indian children take readily to music and are proud of their success. The saddest part to them is after they have left the school.

Generally the boys are not sought for by merchants and others requiring steadiness and trustworthiness and the girls are hardly ever wanted except as household servants, and the wandering tendencies inherited through the generations of nomadic ancestors leads them to, suddenly, take a whim to go elsewhere and away they go to the sorrow of their employers. Consequently these children of the wilds are compelled to take to the farms, which is the best place for them, as to return to their tribes and soon degenerate to the blanket, and education, civilization and Christianity gradually is lost.

It is a sorrowful experience, but they can hardly be blamed for the world has no opening for them. A few secure places as teachers in the Indian schools, but their number is few. Some of these Indian girls looked bright and intelligent and the teachers told me they were good, obedient scholars, learning quickly and made rapid advancement in their studies.

At Riverside we found quite a number of old friends from Boston, Waltham and Newton. From the latter place, Mrs. Cephas Brackett, Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Brackett, Mr. and Mrs. Thresher, Mrs. Mary E. Stetson and Mr. George Mandell. It was pleasant to meet so many friends so far away from home.

There were two drawbacks to our pleasure there—the cold and wet. It is winter and the rainy season. While the thermometer did not go down to freezing, during our stay there, the air was often cold and chill, especially in the morning and evening, and during the night.

We were fortunate in our small hotel for we had furnace heat in our room morning and evening. But few of the hotels and boarding places have heated rooms and the visitors often suffer from the cold and dampness. Many complain bitterly, saying they suffered more from cold than at home in the east, except when exercising out doors.

It seems strange the older citizens and the new comers did not make provisions against the cold of winter by having ample fireplaces, or better still, furnaces.

Walking on the north side of a street on a bright, clear, sunshiny morning, one finds it delightful and feels like removing all superfluous clothing. Cross to the other side—the shady side—and one feels the need or additional wrap or overcoat. It is still winter even if in Southern California.

CREAMALT

THE OVAL LOAF WITH THE DIFFERENT TASTE

Has twice the food value of any other kind of bread. Of course you want the best and there can't be but one best—that's Creamalt.

The best for little folks and big folks. Grocers everywhere sell it. One loaf will prove its worth.

Death of Mr. Davis

Mr. Joseph Walter Davis, a resident of Auburndale for some 35 years, passed away at his home on Central street Friday of pneumonia after a short illness. He was a native of Rutland, Mass., and was 60 years of age. Mr. Davis was a vocal teacher of considerable prominence having been formerly connected with the Hartford Theological Seminary, Lasell Seminary and the local Methodist church. A widow, two sons and two daughters survive him. Funeral services were held from the house Monday afternoon at 2.30 and were conducted by Rev. Dr. F. N. Peloubet and Rev. T. W. Bishop. Vocal selections were rendered by a quartet in charge of Mr. Waldo Cole. The pall bearers were Messrs J. O. Bishop, Geo. B. Knapp, S. D. Whittemore and Mr. Bancroft. The interment was in Newton Cemetery.

Y. M. C. A.

The public is warned against two young men about 17 years of age who are soliciting money for a Y. M. C. A. baseball team. They do not represent the Association team and are frauds. Please notify the Association at once if they call.

Two hundred and fifty men and older boys heard Edwin M. Fairchild lecture on clean sport. The 8 great laws of sport are as follows and every boy and man will do well to consider them carefully.

1. Sport for sports sake. 2. Play the game within the rules. 3. Be courteous and friendly in your games. 4. A sportsman must have courage. 5. The umpire shall decide the play. 6. Honor for the victors but no derision for the vanquished. 7. The true sportsman is a good loser in his games. 8. The sportsman may have pride in his success but not conceit.

The contest for the beautiful cup known at the Waitt Trophy was held Saturday evening in the gymnasium.

Chas. Fielding was the winner and will have his name engraved on the trophy as the winner of 1906. If he can win two more years the cup will become his property. The meet was closely contested and R. Porter and Harold Barber were close behind the winner.

Only two more events in the gymnasium this year. On the 11th occurs the basketball championship and on the 12th the record meet.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington, D. C., April 3, 1906.

For the moment at any rate, the question of the coal strike has taken precedence even of the rate bill discussion. It is not that Washington is any more directly affected than any other city in the country, but it is the city where a great many legislators are directly affected by the threatened change of prices. There are two classes of congressmen, one which is affected by a change in prices and one which is not. All congressmen are not rich, strange as it may seem to the outsider. Some are even dead poor and live in boarding-houses where they are not directly affected by the change in the price of coal but where they will have the subject dinned into their inner consciousness by the lamentations of their landlady. Others who are not directly affected are at the other end of the social scale and do not particularly care whether coal is four dollars a ton or eight dollars. But there are a great number of representatives and a sprinkling of senators who live in houses of their own and who are affected by a change in the price of household commodities. It is these gentlemen who more than any others will have to do with legislation, if it comes, in connection with the coal situation.

Thus Washington is a good place to look for the cry of the householder to take definite form. Congress has its eye on the situation in the coal regions, and while it is not imminent that legislation nationalizing the fields will be passed or that there will be any other radical move, it is quite possible that Congress will begin to "make motions" that will bring the senseless fight of the operators and the labor unions to an end. The threat to take over the fields and operate them as a government monopoly is probably the form that the first agitation will take. There is no likelihood that this will be done. But it is a play that will appeal to the public, and as soon as the suspension order of April 1st goes into effect, it is a safe guess that some member will be introducing a bill of that sort into the House.

The President has very wisely refused at this time to take any active part in the discussion. He has been appealed to both by the miners and the operators to nominate a commission as he did in the case of the strike two years ago to inquire into the whole question. But the President has said that if he appoints a commission it will have to be one with the power to do things. He has had enough of investigation and he thinks that both he and the rest of the country know about the whole of the coal situation. If he appoints a commission, which he has no right in law to do, it must be one to whose findings the miners and the operators pledge themselves to submit. The commission conclusion is probably what the row will come to. Neither the miners nor the operators dare again to plunge the country into the misery and expense of a prolonged strike. Both sides would be glad to be helped out of their quandary by the action of a commission which they could blame safely for not getting all they had promised their followers they would get. So that is about the outcome that the country may look for, a submission on the part of both employers and employees to the decrees of a commission and then the appointment of the commission by the President with the knowledge that the coal question will be settled for perhaps two years more, leaving coal no more than half a dollar a ton dearer than it was before the threatened strike commenced.

Both the miners and the operators, which is only another name for the coal roads, are squeezing the consumers of the country to the last ounce of fluid in their bodies and they probably think if the householders get used to eight dollar coal in the next two years that they can be trained next to pay for nine dollar coal. But there is always the danger in the background that some reckless congressman will spring the proposition to take possession of the coal fields and to make them as much a part of the government service as is the Postoffice and he will spring it at the psychological moment when the measure will become a law.

A Word for Our Native Roses

Who of us have not had their hearts gladdened, while riding about country, by the splendid showing of our lovely native field roses that are found blossoming by the roadside from May to July.

The rosa lucida, very often called the cinnamon rose, with its light pink blossoms and the rosa nitida with the darker shades.

The rosa Carolina, or swamp rose, which grows taller than the first two and has such a profusion of blossoms is found more commonly in lowland but will grow upon transplanting in any soil.

These beautiful roadside effects may be had in one's own dooryard by the grouping of a few plants of these roses and they should be used more generally in mass planting on larger estates.

The rosa setigera or prairie rose deserves more than passing consideration for general planting. It blooms in July after the earlier roses are gone and lends brightness to the scene at an otherwise dull period. It makes a vigorous growth of 10 or 12 feet in a season, so can be planted with strong and large growing shrubbery.

Planted in masses by itself, it is very effective with its drooping habit and a single specimen will form a mass of foliage of 10 or 12 feet in diameter. It can also be used as a climber and as it is most hardy may be grown in exposed locations in that way.

The Shady Hill Nursery Co. has a large stock of these several varieties of roses, propagated and grown in their nursery at Bedford, Mass., and can supply strong, well rooted plants that will, if planted early, make full bloom the first season.

Entrance Examination

The spring entrance examination for the Massachusetts Nautical Training School will be held Saturday April 7, 1906, at 10 o'clock, on board of the training ship Enterprise at the North End Park, Boston. In this school young men are furnished an excellent opportunity to fit themselves for service as officers in the merchant marine. Application papers can be obtained at the commissioners' office, Room 110, State House, Boston.

Literary Notes.

Arthur Stringer's forthcoming new novel, "The Wire Tappers," is said to contain a heroine similar to that in the play "Leah Kleschna," which Mrs. Fiske has made famous: the woman who steals and the woman who loves—in one and the same woman. But in "The Wire Tappers" the beautiful but erring heroine is by force of circumstances engaged for a time in a crime of the most modern kind, wire-tapping. The descriptions of the means employed are so vivid that it is hoped there will be no crop of imitators for the police to deal with!

"The District Attorney" is the title of a timely new novel by William Sage, dealing with present-day political and financial life, announced for early publication by Little, Brown, & Co. It is the story of a son with high ideals and a father of the modern financier type, and the inevitable clash with its dire consequences. Mr. Sage is the author of "Robert Tourney," a story of the French Revolution; "The Claybornes," a story of the Civil War, and "Frenchie," the story of a Gentleman.

A third printing of Jeremiah Curtin's authorized translation of "On the Field of Glory" by Henryk Sienkiewicz is announced by Little, Brown, & Co. A London review ("The Academy") is authority for the statement that although the books of the famous Polish novelist, Henryk Sienkiewicz, are widely popular, they have not brought him a fortune. "The Russian empire has not yet adhered to the Berne convention, and Polish copyrights can therefore be violated with impunity. The country seat, moreover, which his admiring compatriots lately presented to him in the neighborhood of Warsaw, is no source of income but, on the contrary, costs him a great deal to keep up. His daily mailbag, too—so we are assured by a brother author who has sometimes helped him to attend to it—makes great inroads upon his purse as well as his time. He receives about four hundred letters a day. Most of them are requests for his autograph, but a good many are requests for subscriptions."

McClure's for April has the freshness and cheerfulness of spring. Mary Stewart Cutting's Symphony in Coal, which heads the table of contents, is another of those fascinating, sympathetic stories of married life. The most hair-raising chapter of adventure that has been published in a long time is the sixth installment of Carl Schurz's Reminiscences of a Long Life: Rescuing Kinkel from Spandau Jail is a story of intrigue and hair-breadth chances in the shadow of the gallows, told with the happy swing of youth that holds you from first word to last. Some Diet Delusions by Dr. Wood Hutchinson, is not only amusing; it has a very definite purpose. Perhaps the most timely paper in the number is Percival Gibbon's sketch of Count Witte. Clara Morris contributes another charming chapter of reminiscences of the world behind the curtain. Stewart Ed-ward White's fourth Arizona Nights story, The Ranch Forman's Yarn; the Cattle Rustler story, gives a phase of western life about which little has been written hitherto. Other fiction in this splendid number is: Identifying Anne by Jeanette Cooper; The Struggles and Triumph of Isidro de los Maestros by James Hopper; Two Pairs of Shoes by Joseph Lincoln; The Snitcher by Fred L. Boalt; and Mr. Nickerson's Star by Mary Moss. The poems are: On the Ranch by Moira O'Neill, Give Courage, Lord by L. B. Bridgman, Song of the Souls that Failed by Marion Conthony Smith. There is an interesting editorial by Ray Stannard Baker which leaves no doubt about the grounds on which Mr. E. L. Philipp of Milwaukee brings his suit against McClure's. The number is beautifully illustrated by such artists as Alice Barber Stephens; Charlotte Harding, W. Hatherell, Martin Justice, George Varian, N. C. Wyeth, and Mary Preston.

Associated Charities

At the directors and visitors meeting of the Associated Charities on March 29, the president, Mr. Ensign, gave a report of certain bills presented, or to be presented, to the legislature this year, bearing upon problems familiar to this society.

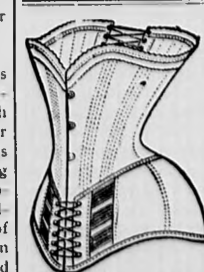

One, forbidding the admission to theatres, of children under thirteen unless accompanied by an adult, has already passed. Others are for increasing the facilities for caring for the insane, for the care and prevention of tuberculosis, for the establishment of a juvenile court, and one, prepared by the Women's Educational and Industrial Union, in which the society takes great interest as it affects many Newton families, which seeks to regulate the assignment of wages. It provides that every such assignment shall be signed by the assignor himself, that it shall be recorded in the City Clerk's office, and that a copy shall be given the assignor, thus preventing the possibility of a wife signing away her husband's wages without his knowledge, and the common practice of securing a signature to a partially blank contract and filling it in afterward to suit the interests of the seller or lender.

Death of Dr. Moir

Dr. Archibell M. C. Moir died suddenly on Thursday, March 29th, at his residence at Newton Highlands.

Dr. Moir was a graduate of Tufts College Medical School class of 1866, and a post graduate of the Harvard Medical School. He served in the south department of the Boston City Hospital and as house officer in the Cambridge Hospital. He was on the staff of the Newton Hospital and a member of the Newton Medical Improvement Society. Dr. Moir began his professional career in South Framingham, whence he came to Waban in 1900. He established a good practice, which extended to Newton Highlands and other adjacent villages and in 1902 he changed his residence to Newton Highlands, where he continued in active practice until January 1905, when failing health made it imperative for him to relinquish his professional duties. He was greatly beloved by his patients and made many warm friends, and his death comes as a personal loss to a large circle of acquaintances and friends. He was particularly interested in his work among the poor, and gave his services freely to the less fortunate of his patients.

Dr. Moir was an enthusiastic sportsman and organized and became president of the Newton Highlands Rod and Gun Club. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Isabelle Jackson Moir and two young children. Funeral services were held at his late residence on Sunday April 1 and were largely attended. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. The music was rendered by the Mendelssohn Quartette.

How's Your Hair?

Arthur Hudson Announces That He Has at Last Secured a Cure for Hair Troubles.

We beg to announce to the people of Newton that we have secured the agency for one of the greatest discoveries of recent years. We refer to the prescription of Sir Erasmus Wilson, M. D., England's most successful specialist in diseases of the scalp, who was knighted for his many successes in the treatment of skin and scalp. Upon the death of Dr. Wilson this prescription was secured by American chemists and is now offered to the public under the name of Dr. Wilson's English Life to the Hair. This preparation will grow hair on bald heads even after all else fails. Unlike other hair preparations it is not sticky or greasy, but gives a live and glossy appearance to the hair. Miss Cornelia Stevens, 6 Smith Ave., Boston, Mass., says: "Dr. Wilson's English Life to the Hair grew a magnificent head of hair for me after I was told that I was becoming hopelessly bald. My hair now reaches nearly to my waist and is heavy and glossy. I cannot too highly recommend it." If you are growing bald, troubled with eruptions, dandruff scales or any scalp troubles try Dr. Wilson's Life to the Hair. Albert Chemical Co., Boston, Mass., proprietors. Sold by Arthur Hudson, 265 Washington St. Price 50 cents.

FOR CLEMENCY

Form of Petition to Gov. Guild to Commute Death Sentence of Charles L. Tucker.

To the People of Massachusetts:—

The Constitution vests in the Governor of the Commonwealth by and with the advice of the Executive Council the sole right to commute the sentence of persons convicted of crime, the punishment for which is death. The exercise of such great and merciful power has never been construed as a reflection upon judicial proceedings, nor as an expression by the executive branch of the government that the orderly processes of the law should not be treated with the utmost consideration. The taking of human life is the extreme penalty of the law, and in the performance of such a solemn duty certain rights have been reserved to the people which they have long jealously guarded. The declaration of the right we have to life and liberty, and to the freedom of thought and speech, states only in another way the sacred duty imposed upon us all to protect the lives and liberty of others accused and in distress. In such an exigency the voice of the people can, and should, manifest itself. No proper criticism can be made of such manifestation; the fullest expression of popular opinion safeguards our dearest rights; the exercise of time-honored usage is the result of obedience to the law, and not a desire to subvert it; the final responsibility rests with the Chief Executive. He cannot be made aware of the facts unless they are presented to him in the forms prescribed by law and custom.

The prisoner's counsel have discharged to the utmost of their power the serious responsibility imposed upon them by the Court nearly two years ago. They would hesitate now to assume the most grave and solemn responsibility yet set upon them, were it not for the fact that the defendant is without friends and means, and his parents in broken health and destitute circumstances. Thousands of people in this Commonwealth, of every walk in life, in person and by letter, have made known to the prisoner, his parents and counsel, that they wish in a formal way to petition the Governor and Council to commute the sentence of the young man doomed to death, to imprisonment for life. It has, therefore, seemed proper to his counsel that they should take such measures as are necessary to give the people the fullest opportunity of expressing their views. There is no desire to change the venue from the courts to popular opinion. Our judicial system is not on trial; it has finished its work in this case; legal resources are exhausted; if evidence were now discovered conclusively establishing the defendant's innocence, the courts would be powerless to act; only executive clemency can save the prisoner from the dread sentence of the law. He, therefore, avails himself of his last-known hope, the mercy of the Executive. Neither he nor his counsel will engage in any attempt to create or foster public sentiment for this purpose; they desire only that the sentiment already existing may be given expression. We, therefore, invite the co-operation of all who wish to bring about a commutation of the sentence of Charles L. Tucker to imprisonment for life by signing petitions to the Governor and Council and in any other way that seems proper.

We will furnish blank forms of petitions upon request to any one desiring them.

Improvement Association

An interesting and well attended meeting of the Nonantum Improvement Association was held Sunday afternoon in the clubhouse on Watertown street.

The site for the new school house was the principal topic considered and an animated discussion was held which was participated in by President Jenks, Alderman Doherty and Messrs Murphy, Blakeney, Murnaghan, Frisbie, Kilburn, Fitzgerald, Nevins, Keating, Bowen, Thomas, O'Donnell, White, Mayall and Veno. This resulted in the Association voting that a site on the north side of Watertown street in Ward One would be acceptable and a committee composed of President Jenks, Dr. Mayall and Messrs Blakeney, Bowen, Nevins and Murnaghan were appointed to ascertain the valuation and selling price of the available lots and to confer with the committee on new schoolhouses. The matter of a local reading room and branch of the library was taken up, it was voted to circulate a petition to raise the necessary sum of money to start the project and a unanimous vote of thanks was passed to Alderman Doherty for his efforts toward this object. All that the trustees of the Newton Free Library require is that a suitable room be hired, furnished and put in running order by the citizens of the district then they will take it under their control.

Automobile School Instruction

The development of the Boston Young Men's Christian Association Automobile School, an ad of which appears on our first page, touches upon a most interesting development in the automobile industry.

It has been found by somewhat costly experience that little is known by most people as to how automobiles are built or run. They cannot be made fool proof, but, the best cars in the world may be wrecked in a brief time by an incompetent. This has called for the establishment of automobile schools where owners and professional drivers may receive instruction of a helpful nature.

It may be asked why dealers cannot give this information as at first may seem the case. The business of the dealer is to sell cars and it keeps him busy all the time, and furthermore, teaching is an art that requires special qualifications and the instruction received in a salesroom or factory is brief and unsatisfactory. It is not necessary for automobile drivers to be machinists, they should, however, understand the principals of their car, know when it is running properly, and be able to make road repairs and adjustments. This is taught in the automobile school in a thorough manner by experienced men.

The Boston Y. M. C. A. Automobile School has the patronage of the leading dealers and automobile clubs. It has a splendid plant and is equipped with every requisite for thorough and complete work.

The school is attended by a large number of business and professional men, students and machinists and those who wish to become professional drivers.

The teachers are busy from 9:00 a. m. to 9:30 p. m. every day in the week and nearly 900 persons have taken the courses the past four years.

Better Farming Special

A Novel Train Run by Boston & Maine Railroad

The Boston & Maine R. R., wide awake to the advancement of New England and her agricultural interests, has started a novel idea for the benefit and improvement of the farming industry. The agricultural colleges and associations have co-operated with the railroad and the result is that commencing on April 4 a "Better Farming Special" train will make its first trip through the rural districts.

The train consists of three passenger cars and a combination car. In these cars will be exhibited three displays, namely: crop production, horticulture, animal husbandry and dairying. Lecturers from the agricultural departments of the state colleges of New England will explain the exhibits and give the farmers all the necessary information. The latest improved farming apparatus, animal foods, plant foods, samples of crops, maple sugar utensils, forestry display, grafting exhibits and illustrations of the results of the various forms of fertilizers will be shown. The schedule of the train is as follows: Wednesday, April 4, arrive Mt. Vernon 9:00 a. m., leave 10:10 a. m.; arrive Barnardston 10:20 a. m., leave 11:00 a. m.; arrive Greenfield 11:25 a. m., dinner, leave 1:10 p. m.; arrive South Deerfield 1:35 p. m., leave South Deerfield, 2:15 p. m.; arrive Hatfield 2:35 p. m., leave 3:15 p. m.; arrive Northampton 3:25 p. m. ## Dr. Shinn Resigns

The Rev. George W. Shinn, for 31 years rector of Grace Episcopal Church, yesterday tendered his resignation to take effect Oct. 1 or earlier, if the parish can arrange to release him from his duties. The cause of Dr. Shinn's resignation is ill health.

The resignation of Dr. Shinn has been referred to a committee of the vestry which will make a report later. There is a widespread belief that the resignation will not be accepted, at least, until after an effort has been made to arrange some method by which the work of the parish may be rendered so much less burdensome that Dr. Shinn will be able to attend to it despite his impaired health.

Political Notes.

INSTALLATION EXERCISES

The installation of the Rev. Alfred H. Brown as pastor of the Newton Centre Unitarian Church took place last Sunday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock and were largely attended. The order of service was as follows:

Organ Prelude.
Solo, Mr. Cooke.
Invocation, Rev. Walter F. Greenman, Watertown.
Reading of Scripture.
Hymn.
Sermon, Rev. Thomas Van Ness, Boston.
Anthem.
Installing Prayer, Rev. Edward Hale, Cambridge.
Charge to Minister, Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson, Newton.

It gives me great pleasure to welcome you into the fellowship of our churches and to extend to you the right hand of fellowship on behalf of your brother ministers. You have come to us from another faith; you will feel a delight in the freedom of our fellowship, in the possibility it offers to you of the absolutely unhampered utterance of your thought. No Bishop, Presbytery or Council can object to what you may say, because of any question as to your belief or doctrine, the only heresy of which you can possibly be guilty will be the failure to utter fearlessly and sincerely the profoundest convictions of your own heart and mind, and yet I wish to add here a note of warning. The value of freedom is that it gives opportunity for service. It will be a delight, as I say to you, to feel this unhampered freedom of utterance, and yet your people will be little interested in knowing the steps of thought and reasoning whereby you have found your way into the larger freedom of Unitarian thought, they will only be interested as you use that freedom to bring to them the clearer vision of divine truth that may be helpful to their lives; and what you will find more and more as you go on in your ministry is that the fundamental, the great truths of religion are those which are common to all religions. We know ourselves what delight that we are unhampered in the expression of truth, the great truths we have to give to these people, are the truths that our other brothers around us are giving to their people. If we give it from a freer platform after all it is the same message, it is the message of heart to heart, of life to life, God's life in the life of men.

Another warning I wish to give to you. You are called by this people to be their minister, you are set apart as a specialist for special service; you are released from the necessity of commercial effort or striving to make a living; you are set apart from all the petty trials and difficulties that beset men in their business life; as such you are a man who stands in a peculiar relation to the community and it is a truth I thoroughly believe that the call this parish has extended to you to be its minister will be quite unavailing for service, usefulness, unless before you received that call you had already been called by Almighty God to serve humanity, but the fact that you have been so called will not be testified to by any ministerial manner or tone or bearing or exclusiveness; you can only be of service to the modern world as you are a man among men. You must know men in the most intimate relations of their own lives, know what their struggles and trials and temptations and problems are. You must know men as men and let them know you as a man, not simply as a minister, and you will serve them as a minister more nobly, more truly, and more faithfully, the more you become thoroughly a man's man, a man among men, a man who can understand and comprehend all that interests, all that besets, all that gives a challenge to the life of every man in the community; this enters also into your pastoral relations. We have no confessional in the Unitarian Church, we have nothing corresponding to it and yet there is the same need running throughout all humanity, the need of feeling that there is a friend to whom one can come and unburden himself and talk with that one of the heart's and soul's and life's deepest and dearest problems. The minister should be such a man to every person in his parish. Not at once, for people do not readily, in these modern days, come to a minister and unburden their hearts and their troubles, but unless as the years go by they shall so win the confidence of these people in your friendship, your sincerity, your thoroughness as a man that they can come to you for help and counsel and sympathy, you will in so far have failed in your highest mission. That does not mean that you are to listen to stories of sorrow all the time, to trouble and difficulty, but in the lighter moods of life, you should be a friend and sympathizer. God laughs in His universe in every rippling brook and bright and winsome flower. Human life was made to laugh with joy and you should be a sympathizer in their joys; you should be one to whom the young people of this parish, the children may come in all their lightness and gladness moments and moods to find in you a sympathizer and friend; in other words you need to be a large man in your sympathies; you need to be large enough to enter into all the relationships, all the problems, all the interests, of these people, so that they may find in you a sympathizer, a friend, a counsellor, and a helper in all the relations of their life. For this purpose you need to find some moments in your life, when, as Jesus did, from his busy life among men, to step apart either on the mountain side, as he did, or in the silence of your own path, a time for prayer, for it is upon the heights of prayer that every man must find that power that enables him to go out into the busy duties of life. You must be a man of prayer, and I do not mean by that, a prayer meeting saint, I mean a man of deep and profound conviction, the divine element in human life; I mean that you shall find in communion with the Infinite, the source of your strength and power among men, but not for your own sake, not for the sake simply of feeling that you are different or separate from other men. Jesus mingled among publicans and sinners and all sorts of people, so much so that the followers complained of him, but he found the moments when he needed to gain strength, to gather up the forces of his life, and if you have noticed, every time after he came down from the mountain side or from sitting by the wall in silence, drinking in the harmonies of God's thought and love, he came down a sunbeam of noble service. His greatest utterances, his noblest deeds were after those moments of communion with the Father. Do not make light in all the busy life of the parish minister, of those moments of secret prayer.

One other thing I want to say to you in your relationship to the people and that is to love the children, for in their openness and teachableness and lovingness you will find one of the consolations of your ministry as you will one of the greatest opportunities, upon their plastic minds you may impress the deepest thoughts of our religion, the deepest hopes of our faith, and in them you will find your great comforters. When sometimes the older people make life seem a little hard for you, go into the kindergarten, or among the children and in their happy smiles and looks you will find ample consolation for whatever may trouble you in the inability of these older people to carry out all the things that you want, for they will fail you sometimes; you cannot get them to do everything they ought to do; they will go a good ways, but the minister has always got to have ideals way ahead of where the parish comes. You will feel often like Theodore Parker, that you are in a hurry and God is not; the people are in a hurry and nearly as much a hurry as you are. But among those little folk you will find ample consolation. Above all be large and broad in your sympathies with all mankind. We are living in a sort of easy-going sequestered semi-country life; the suburbs have no special problems around us, few if any poor, no signs of distress, trouble; we are living in conditions that favor a sort of refined Paganism and you will find your people much in danger of drifting into an indifference to the great needs of human life. Be so large in your sympathies that your people will follow you and harness up the possibilities of these people in their happy, prosperous homes the great needs of life in the city so near at hand. In all that you do keep near to the hearts of the people; do not get away from them, do not let the study, or the library, or theological ideals of the time so fully take possession of you that you will have no time to sympathize thoroughly in all that these people are feeling and are doing. Enter into their life. That pulpit where you now stand is your throne of power. From that stand you must give the word of God to these people and it must be not because of any professional position, but it must be because the voice of God has come to your heart and soul as it came to the prophets of old, so that you have a message to them. Thus said the Lord. Let your mind be full of the possibilities of life that come from the throne of God. Inform your mind in all that makes up the complexities of our modern life; study and read as fully and as broadly as your time will permit, not for your own sake but for their sakes, and be a good man in all the relations of life; for their sakes sanctify yourself, because the greatest thing you bring to them, is the personality of your own life, so when you speak to them of God's message they will know that it is interpreted through a personality that has felt the power of God.

God bless you, my brother, and guide you in your work.

Solo, Mr. Cooke.
Address to the People, Rev. Charles W. Wendte, Boston.

My friends, I am here this afternoon in a double capacity; to express to you as a former minister of this congregation and as the present pastor of one of the nearest ecclesiastical neighbors of the Unitarian faith which you possess, our sincere congratulations on this auspicious event in your parish history, and on the promptness and as we believe on the happy and natural manner in which you have solved your pastoral problem. We rejoice to know that there is to be no interruption, there is to be no eclipse in the pulpit instructions and in the weekly activities of this young and promising member of our Unitarian household. You will pardon me if perhaps I speak in a somewhat paternal and patronizing fashion from the point of view of pastor of one of the oldest of our liberal churches, which this year celebrates its one hundred and seventy sixth anniversary, the First Parish in Brighton.

Mr. friends, you have called your minister and you have listened to these remarks by various brethren concerning what he is to do, what he is to be in order to fit himself adequately for your service as your pastor, as the representative of your school of thought in this young and this cultivated community, but there is a reciprocal duty which is implied in this relation. Have you thought sufficiently concerning what ought you to be and to do in order that the relation which you enter upon today shall be one abounding in usefulness, in pleasant relationships, in happy results? That is the question you must take to your souls today. Let me indicate in a few words some of the more apparent of these duties on your part. In the first place naturally you must provide, according to the measure of your ability, for the material comfort and support of your minister, and you ought to see to it, both the officers of the church and the members of the congregation, that he suffers no inconvenience in meeting these financial requirements, which are placed upon him, for this in a duty which seems to me belongs to every member of the congregation as well as to the Parish Committee, who are often placed at sad disadvantage by the financial delinquencies by members of the congregation who do not feel the burden of this responsibility as do they. You ought to feel just as desirous just as eager to meet your financial responsibilities in the church as in your daily business and home life, and if you are mortified there because you cannot come to time.

If you cannot meet your creditors, if just accounts against you cannot be settled, ought not this to be equally the case with the church of God, with the support of its ministry, and its general expenses? I say this not in any invidious way, not as reference to any congregation, for I know its standards are high and it has been prompt and true in trying to meet them, but for the general council and government of your congregation in this matter.

The second duty I would ask you to consider is to be very generous and very kind and very hospitable in your welcome to your minister, not to be content to meet him simply here on Sundays after divine service, or occasional social meetings during the week, but to make him at home in your domiciles, in your hearts, as well. If he is to do his best for you he must know you, and how can he know you unless you give him the opportunity. Well, you may say, "He is welcome to call on us at any time; our doors shall be open, our hearts as well. We will give him a welcome reception." But, my friends, this invitation is altogether too general. You know how it is when people say to you sometimes, "O, I am glad to see you at any time. Call in, we shall be delighted to have you come." You generally stay away on an invitation of that kind. You must make it personal, you must make it direct; you must make the first call on your minister and his family. When a new family moves into your neighborhood do you not feel it to be your duty as a citizen, as a member of the community, as a householder, as a Christian, to make a call upon them? The call may be perfunctory at first and you may conclude that you do not care to repeat it or enlarge your acquaintance, but more than likely you will find a very pleasant acquaintance with the people whom you favor in this kindly and Christian way, and sometimes relationships are established in that way which endure for life and are among the noblest and most beautiful experiences that you have. How much more then ought you to call upon a man who is to be so intimate with you in your personal, in your social, in your domestic relations, to whom you are to give in part your children for religious instruction, who is to be an inspirer and guide of your young people, who is to enter your family on happy and on sad occasions and sometimes prove to be your truest and best friend, inspirer and helper. Therefore I say, go to him, go to him with generous and kindly purpose; make him feel that he is welcome in your

The Newton Markets are noted for carrying the Highest Quality of BEEF and LAMB.

The market opened by us is strengthening this reputation and we think you will consider this a true statement if you will take the trouble to look at the BEEF displayed at our store, some of which has been cut from a well fed steer weighing over 1100 pounds. A few well fed young lambs may also be seen at the little market. We hope you will look at the beef for we think you will be tempted to buy from its appearance.

We have bought the best BEEF and LAMB that the wholesale market affords and if you happen to buy some of it you will, no doubt have a very pleasant remembrance of us when you eat the meat and so lead to further orders.

on Sunday you may gauge, not the measure of his capacity, not his worthiness, not his devotion to your interests, for he will be here every Sunday with the best message God gives him to deliver to your soul, but it measures your capacity to measure your interest in religion and in the higher things of the spiritual life; therefore I say put yourself to some convenience in coming to church, nay, I would say rather, put yourself to some inconvenience to come to church, for everything that amounts to anything in this world, anything that we care anything for costs us something; there is no short cut to anything that is of value. Whatever we have to struggle and pay for, what we get, the business man knows how he toils and how he struggles, how he plans and what a trial often it is for him in the great competitions and struggles of business life to make a competence, to support a family, to meet his engagements, but after all that is the only possible way to success and when he has achieved it he is justly proud of his industry, of self devotion. So it is also with the faithful, of his greatness and member of the Christian church, if you will be a noble man, if you will be a man of spiritual mind, if you would seek to be in favor with God and man, you must pay something for it. And the first of all duties it seems to me is to be a faithful member of the church which represents all these things in the community and to his soul and by his faithful participation in the Sunday services, and weekly activities of his congregation or church, to show that he has a high conception of what it means for him and for his wife and for his children. Therefore, I counsel you to come to church on Sunday. Our brother has warned you and warned you wisely and well of the great danger which we who live in the suburbs incur. While you have been living so far from the great cities, its temptations, squalor, its misery, its suffering, its distresses, its calls for service and for duty, sometimes, I wonder what is to be the result of a hundred years of this kind of life which you and I are living. We make our money in the city, we make our purchases there, we secure a certain number of enjoyments there, and then we leave it all behind and come to this earthly Paradise, here where there are no slums, where there are no poor people, nothing to distress us, beautiful lawns, slightly houses, well dressed people, perfect peace and quiet, as near to heaven as we could get in this world it seems to me. What is to be the result of the selfish enjoyment of ours in the course of years, you and I, who are children of Puritan or Lutheran or Calvinistic ancestors, who have the moral momentum we have inherited from them, we can be carried through, but how about children who are brought up under these finer, under these somewhat stupefied influences? Some day we shall have to harness the suburb with the slum, we shall have to bring these two into closer association if we are to save the rich and the well-to-do and the cultivated people from spiritual atrophy and deadness and the consequences of a semi country life.

Now give your minister a large freedom in the exercise of his duties in the pulpit and in the parish. That is thought to be one of the peculiar characteristics of the Unitarian household of faith, that the minister enjoys the perfect liberty to seek the truth and to utter it as he will and follow wherever it may lead. In a general way I think that is true, but I have sometimes thought that there might be a certain petty form of uncharity and intolerance and prejudice and unwillingness to give a minister the largest liberty, when we criticize him as we do for his conduct of the service, for his methods in the church, for the peculiarities of his toilette, toward his coat, personal dress, we say he does not wear a gown or that he does wear one, say he does not wear a white cravat, or he does wear a white cravat, he leads the prayer without bowing his head and he sings the hymns with the choir and with the congregation and omits the historic benediction or does not omit it as the case may be, and in these small matters, they are often unkind, often uncharitable. My friends, What difference does it make? Does divine grace inhabit the folds of a white tie, or lurk in the folds of the gown? It is the man behind the gown that you are to consider. If he is true and earnest, if he is a messenger to your soul, if he is all aflame with the great revelation of God's goodness and His divine purpose for His children and tries to inspire you with larger hope and courage, with a more insistent sense of your personal responsibility, with generous purposes and deeds, if he is an inspirer to your souls and revealer of God's truth to your thoughts, his great mission to this congregation and to this community, all the other things are mere flippers, mere follies. He may wear gown or he may not, he may bow his head in prayer, or he may look out as the eagle faces the sun, the great thing is that he shall be a noble man, that he shall be a true student of righteousness and a true seeker, that he shall be a man who gives himself to the larger good of the community and seeks to make you more mindful of your obligation to your fellowmen, to your family and to yourself and your God. And so brethren, let me say in closing, simply "Whatever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are lovely and of good report if there be any virtue and if there be any praise, think on these things.

Hymn.

Greeting from Other Churches, Rev. E. M. Noyes, Pastor Congregational Church.

In this community there are six Christian churches, following somewhat the order of their organization, the Congregational, Baptist, Catholic, Methodist, Unitarian and Episcopal Churches. These churches differ from one another in their creed, in their forms of worship, in their observances. They are very different in many of the externals of religious life and in their philosophy of religion, but in the essentials of religion they are very much alike. The nineteenth century was the century which laid the emphasis upon division in the church of Christ. We have, I believe, one hundred and forty seven different Protestant sects in the United States, a large proportion of those were the result of religious differences and strifes which arose in the early part of the nineteenth century. The emphasis in the twentieth century is upon unity. As the emphasis in the nineteenth century was upon the things in which we differ, the emphasis in the twentieth century is upon the things in which we are agreed and the essentials of Christian life and faith are far more than the non-essentials in which men differ. As the representative and pastor of the oldest of these organizations which has been here in this community for two hundred and forty two years and for more than one hundred and fifty years was the only church in the community, I have been asked, this afternoon, to bring greetings of the other churches to our new brother in this Christian life and service, and I am very glad indeed to do so. I wish to tell you first of all, my brother, that you will find that this community is one which lays emphasis upon the things in which we can agree. I think I interpret correctly the spirit of these churches, when I say we are agreed with the words of old Richard Baxter, and we perhaps in this community, so far as we may, emphasize those things upon which we may agree, which are few, plain, divine and definite and necessary, while none of us would be in the slightest degree unfavorable of those particular forms of worship. Dr. Pritchett, the former President of the Institute of Technology, warns his students that they shall not make the mistake of confounding religious experience with the expression of any doctrine. He tells the story of attending a recitation in chemistry, where a youthful experimenter in chemistry had just made successfully sulphuric acid. He had succeeded in performing the experiment, put together the ingredients in their proper order and it was bubbling away—a very successful experiment. But when he undertook to write the formula instead of writing H<sub>2</sub>SO<sub>4</sub>, a representing two parts of hydrogen, one part of sulphur and four parts of oxygen in his experiment the young man had written H<sub>2</sub>SO<sub>3</sub>. His formula was wrong, but Dr. Pritchett said that the formula on the board did not invalidate his sulphuric acid; it was just as good exactly. Don't you make mistake of confounding doctrine with religion and there may be some forms of doctrine, some forms of religious faith which seem to you to be inadequate and not to commend themselves to your reason, but don't you make the mistake of supposing that therefore there is not a very real thing in religion, that religious experience is in the slightest degree invalidated because some one somewhere in some time has expressed that in a formula of faith which does not commend itself to your reason. Now, I suppose, my dear brother, that these six churches would hardly get together and agree upon a formula of their faith; I suppose too that it would seem that some of us had too much sulphur, but at any rate, while we may not agree exactly on the formula of our faith, we are set here in this community to do certain things on which we all are agreed. These churches are here to represent in this community in these days, when the world presses so much upon us, the higher claims of the divine life; we are here as minister and we are here as Christian church to hold up before men the satisfactions and ideals of life divine; we are here to proclaim the evangel of our Lord, Jesus Christ, to bring home to men's hearts, and men's business and bosoms; we are here to unfold before men the truths of God's Word, as the spirit of God shall reveal them to us; we are here to extend the invitation of our Lord, Jesus Christ, that the weary may come unto Him and find rest, the sinful find in Him forgiveness for their sins, and we all may find in Him the dynamic of the life to which He calls us. We are here for certain common services to the community, to make men charitable, lovable in all their human relations, to extend the cause of every righteous reform, to behold the ideals of the gospel in common social life, to do, so far as we may as a Christian Church, make the kingdom of Christ upon the earth. So, my brother, we welcome you into this goodly fellowship of service. May the Lord reveal His truth unto you and may the church under your guidance be more and more efficient in making Christian ideal dominant in this our common life. Into this common service we are glad to welcome you. May God bless you and your church in your common work.

Hymn.

Benediction, Rev. Alfred H. Brown.

Golf

At the annual meeting of the Alhambra Golf Club, held at its club house at Newtonville, last week Thursday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, Charles F. Avery, Vice president, H. E. Duncan, Secretary, Dr. Roark, Treasurer, F. Lincoln Poirce. Directors: William Hickox, Samuel W. French, Olof Ohlson, Charles A. Washburn, William L. Wadleigh, Herbert H. Cook, Eugene Pettee and Col. Stearns.

The heavy load of indebtedness inherited by the management two years ago was found to have been reduced to the nominal sum of about $300. The members present over subscribed this amount, so that the club starts the year with a clean slate and the links in the finest possible condition.

Leatherbee—Clark

The marriage of Mr. Clifton Felton Leatherbee of West Newton to Miss Meta Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry I. Clark of Paterson, N. J., took place at the bride's home in that city last Thursday evening at seven o'clock, Rev. David Magie, D. D., of the Church of the Redeemer officiating.

The bride wore a princess gown of point lace and was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Eleanor Leatherbee of West Newton, as maid of honor, gowned in a robe of silk embroidered muslin with lace. The groom was attended by Mr. Robert W. Leatherbee as best man. A pretty feature of the wedding was the ribbon boys, Donald C. Hinton, Josiah P. Hinton, Henry I. Clark and Thomas Wilson. The ushers were Mr. Josiah H. Clark and Mr. Frederic K. Leatherbee.

A reception followed the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Leatherbee being assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Leatherbee and Miss Leatherbee. The house was beautifully decorated, Easter lilies predominating and a floral canopy of white roses and sweet peas being prepared for the bridal couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Leatherbee will make their home at 33 Berkeley street, West Newton.

D. A. R.

The members of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R. of Newton were very delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Howard P. Converse, Auburndale, on the afternoon of April 9th. Mrs. Converse was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Miss Van Wagener, and Mrs. Benjamin W. Hackett.

The guest of the afternoon, Miss Louise Howe of the Hannah Goddard Chapter of Brookline, read an entertaining paper on her ancestor, "Rebecca Nurse," after which Mrs. Converse read a letter, an heir-loom, written by a young girl of eighteen, in which she gives a quaint and charming account of a Colonial Tea in Nantucket, at which she presided, and prepared the first cup of tea drank on the island.

Mrs. Kirke Corey added to the pleasure of the afternoon by singing several pleasing songs after which refreshments were served and the social hour enjoyed.

Annual Meeting

An important business meeting of the First Unitarian Society of West Newton was held Monday evening. Mr. Edwin B. Haskell was elected Moderator and the annual reports of officers and committees were accepted.

An important change in business management was involved in a proposed new set of bylaws, which were discussed at length and then adopted. The church property will hereafter be under the exclusive direction of five trustees, and the old method of pew ownership has been abolished. All seats in the new church will be rented. These officers were elected: Trustees, Josiah E. Bacon, 5 years, Edwin B. Haskell, 4 years, George Hutchinson, 3 years, A. Stuart Pratt, 2 years, Geo. H. Ellis, 1 year; Standing Committee, Edwin B. Haskell, Mrs. Geo. Hutchinson, George A. Frost, Mrs. Ellery Peabody, Geo. P. Bullard; Treasurer, Benj. F. Otis; Clerk, Fred Plummer.

"You can please all of the people some
of the time, some of the people all of the time, but you'll have a devil's own time trying to please all the people all the time."

From the character of the hearing on Tuesday night upon the matter of a site for a new schoolhouse at Nonantum, it is clear that the residents of that district do not fully appreciate the extent of the question and are animated solely by a sentiment which does not go to the root of the matter.

A thorough investigation of the past record regarding the establishment of school lines and a forecast of the growth and necessities of the future would lead, we believe, to the adoption of some plan similar to that urged by the GRAPHIC last week.

Our attention has been recently called to the growing habit of automobile owners of allowing the youthful members of the family to run the machines about our streets, often with reckless disregard for the rights of others. It seems to us that the police should require every young person operating a machine to show the operator's license required by law and should notify the owner of the machine and the Mass. Highway Commission of every case of running a car without such license. A few revocations of automobile licenses by the Highway Commission would check the evil.

City Hall Notes.

An interesting hearing was given the residents of Nonantum on Tuesday evening by the Public Works Committee. Some 25 persons were present and under the lead of Alderman Doherty entered strong protests against the selection of the Potter lot for the proposed new school. Sites on Pearl street, Watertown street were urged in preference altho no one lot was specifically endorsed.
Speeches were made by Alderman Duherty, W. S. Bowen, W. B. Weldon, Dr.
Mayell, J. G. Kilburn, J. W. Murphy,
J. W. Blakeney, Rev. H. E. Oxnard,
Joseph Nevins, Geo. Johnson, A. G.
Sullivan, Thos. Halfrey, Alex. Fox,
Hugh Munnaghan, J. L. Caverly, J. T.
Langford and F. D. Frisbie. Messrs.
Caverly and Langford were in favor of the Potter lot, and a school for Ward
One. The Committee were in session until midnight.

The Joint Committee on Technical Training has organized by the choice of Hon. H. E. Bothfield as Chairman.

The Committee on Public Franchises was entertained at dinner at the Brae Barn Country Club, Thursday, by its chairman, Alderman Palmer.

Minstrel Show

The various sections of Newton will be well represented in Temple Hall on Thursday and Friday evenings of next week, the occasion being the second annual minstrel show in aid of the Working Boys' Home Industrial School at Newton Highlands. The chorus as last year is composed of many well known throughout the city and as to be expected the hits will be fast and many.

Miss Elizabeth L. Hyde of City Hall will be the interlocutor and will be assisted by Mr. Thomas J. Lyons of West Newton. There will be ten end men who will endeavor to keep the audience busy.
Assisting the chorus of fifty will be several professionals.

Miss Gertrude Mulry, one of the original Sambo and Dinah girls in "Humpty Dumpty" has graciously offered her services. She will be accompanied by Mr.
Frank Cunningham of Auburndale.

Miss Mary S. Donovan, who was the leading contralto in the "Isle of Dreams" recently presented by the Knights of Columbus is also to take part.

Master John Newiss of Waltham known throughout Newton as the Waltham boy soprano is to be a feature of the entertainment.

Judging from this selection of talent and the reputation established last year there is every reason to expect full houses. A special matinee will be given on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock when the entire program will be presented.

Entertainment for Children

The Vacation School Committee of the Newton Centre Womens Club has arranged a delightful entertainment for Saturday afternoon April 21st at four o'clock in the Mason school hall. Mr.
William Lyman Underwood will give a stereopticon lecture on "A Strange Story of the North Woods."

This story is the true history of a little bear who was left motherless when a tiny cub and was brought up with the family of a lumberman in Maine. Mr.
Underwood made many trips to Maine to see the little fellow and to get pictures of him and he finally obtained possession of him and still owns him.

The pictures are unusually attractive and have delighted audiences of old and young alike wherever it has been given, especially the children, who are always wonderfully interested in true stories of animals.

The hour will make it convenient for many business men who are nature lovers to enjoy the charming entertainment with their families.

The committee are Mrs. Addison C.
Burnham, Mrs. C. E. Kelsey, Mrs. F. F.
Cutler, Mrs. E. Ray Spear, Mrs. Sidney
Payne, Mrs. Matt B. Jones and Mrs.
Wm. E. Shedd.

Newton Hospital

After a long and trying illness, Dr.
A. C. M. Moir one of the younger members of the Staff, has died. The expectations of an ambitious life, the friendships and fellowship of years of activity in the hospital, the additional weight of fresh scholars in training; all has been cut off and we are called to record our loss, present and prospective.

In view of the sad fact we are afforded ease of heart and mind, in recording our remembrance of his interest and faithfulness in hospital work, his love of hospital associations and his frequent visits among us during the days of his illness.

We sympathize in this loss with his family and relatives and wish that this expression of our mind toward Dr. Moir to be spread on the record of the meetings of the Staff, and that a copy be sent to the home and to the Newton papers and the Boston Medical & Surgical Journal.

Frances E. Parker, Chairman.
George L. West, Secretary.

Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Channing Branch of the Women's National Alliance was held at the Channing church parlors on Tuesday morning. The annual reports showed the most successful year in the history of the branch. These officers were elected for the next year:
President, Miss Grace M. Bart, vice-Presidents, Mrs. Anna L. Bailey, Mrs.
J. F. Bothfield, Mrs. E. A. Wetherbee,
Miss Abby Davis, Mrs. A. L. Hudson; Recording Secretary, Miss Jessie M.
Fisher; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Myra Southworth; Treasurer, Miss Harriet W. Stevens; Auditor, Mrs. F.
W. Stone.

Luncheon was served at the close of the business meeting and following that there were several after-dinner addresses. Mrs. Caroline S. Atherton, Vice-President for New England of the National Alliance, spoke upon "Alliance spoke upon "Alliance Successes". Mr.
Hudson responded to the toast "Channing Church". Mrs. Abby Peterson, a director of the National Alliance, spoke of "Alliance Opportunities." A Jingle on the Church Fair written by Miss Helen Wells was read by the President who acted as toast mistress. This meeting proved one of the most enjoyable of the season and was the most largely attended.

A Rare Opportunity

On Tuesday evening, April 24th, the Newton public is to be favored with an illustrated lecture on India, delivered by the Rev. Franklin Hatch, at the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, at 7:45 o'clock. Mr. Hatch, who is well known in our city as acting pastor of the Bible Church, lived and labored in India for a number of years, and is conversant with varied aspects of the life there. His acquaintance with and deep interest in the conditions and the needs of this great Empire enables him to tell its remarkable story in a most intelligent and fascinating manner.

Those who can embrace this opportunity will be fortunate not only in hearing of India as it is, but also in seeing it by means of the finest collection of views anywhere available.

No admission fee will be charged, but a collection will be taken in the interest of mission work.

Auburndale.

An Easter cantata will be rendered by a vested choir on Sunday evening, at the Methodist Episcopal Church.

A Color Problem

Every one with a Venetian sense of color, who enjoys a perfect color harmony as Wordsworth enjoyed the daffodils, should see the new wall papers and draperies on exhibition here this week.

Many of our Newton houses are too conventional. They lack the stamp of individuality and the finer marks of possession. Just now we are making catalogues for several of our customers for redecorating and refurbishing during the early spring months.
An estimate costs nothing. May we name a price on any Spring work you contemplate?

Newton League

Hunnewell and North Gate are now the leaders in the Boston pin tournament, the games on Wednesday evening being disastrous to Manguis the former leader. Newton Boat took three straight from the Wellesley team at Riverside.
At the Hunnewell Club, the home team took two games from Newton and Northgate, at Brookline was equally successful with the Riverdale Casino. The scores were not alarming, North Gate with a total of 1490 being the highest.

The last meeting of the Pierian Club was held at the home of Mrs. H. E. Child, Wed. April 4. Papers were read on the Schools and Education of Japan. Music was furnished by Mrs. Dresser.

The Monday Club of Newton Highlands spent the afternoon on April 9 visiting Genoa. Papers were read on the city and on "Christopher Columbus." The next meeting will be with Mrs. Stevens.

The annual meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Guild will be held on April 17. The annual Children's Dancing Party given under the auspices of the Guild will be held on Saturday afternoon, April 28, from three until five-thirty at Temple hall, Newtonville. The fancy dances will be under the direction of Miss Alice Hollister Clark. Refreshments will be served. The proceeds are for the benefit of the Guild's charitable work.

Invitations had been printed for a meeting of the Newton Equal Suffrage League to be held with Mr. and Mrs. George F. Lowell of Newtonville on April 17. Owing to the sad death of Mr. Lowell the meeting has been indefinitely postponed.

The Social Science Club will meet as usual at the Hunnewell Club on Wednesday morning, the subject to be considered will be "The Socialism of William Morris."

The Ladies' Home Circle will meet in the Unitarian Church parlors, West Newton, on next Wednesday at two o'clock.

The Social Science Club had a most delightful morning on Wednesday. Miss Maud Summers, who charmed the club on the occasion of its Twentieth Anniversary, was the speaker, the subject being "William Morris, the Craftsman." Miss Summers sketched briefly the early life of Morris, his friendship with Edward Burne Jones, and the gradual rise of the firm of Morris & Company. She alluded to the poetry of Morris and said that he was a great poet and might have been Poet Laureate of England but for his socialistic tendencies. He had two passions, one, his love for the 13th century and the other his love for the Icelandic literature.

The discussion that followed was of unusual interest and many members participated. Mrs. McIntyre exhibited several copies of editions from the Kelmscott Press, the last venture in which Morris was interested.

At a meeting of the Waban Womans Club held April 9 at the home of Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Florence Kolluck Crooker, of Jamaica Plain, spoke most enthusiastically upon "The Ministry of the Beautiful." Following songs by Miss Anna Musgrove, Mrs. Crooker, although the wife of a pastor said "We depend too much upon the church with its inspired work of God to make good; we should also look to the book of Nature. The Beautiful has a wonderful work to do, and Art a very large place in our life. The making beautiful the things of daily use, from Plato to Wm. Morris, has had great influence for good. The wonderful power of music, the spiritual intellectual and moral uplift of Art galleries could not be overestimated. The young woman, invading the ranks of commercial life could and did diffuse womanliness into offices, by a love of the Beautiful, from the photo upon her desk or vase with a single flower.

The wonderful influence of environment over heredity. No question of discipline necessary in Central High School in Detroit or Salem Normal School. The very beauty of environment awed each pupil to his highest. The beautiful town of Pullman, given as homes to foreigners, Americanized the head-shawl wearing peasants of Norway and Sweden, almost within a day.

The child being "like wax to receive impressions but like iron to retain," should be surrounded by all beauty possible.

"The Ministry of the Beautiful has much to do for us, moulded, touched, uplifted, we are more and more, as man and woman, what we should be!"

The Federation Bulletin for April gives further details concerning the coming Biennial at St. Paul. The Convention will be held in the Auditorium of the Armory, a room of splendid proportions. State Headquarters will be arranged in the various rooms of the Old State Capitol. Mrs. Decker quotes from letters which she has received questioning the Biennial. Here are some of them:

"My husband will go to St. Paul with me, as he has business in the vicinity at that time. I very much desire to have him attend the meetings. Will it be permitted, and will it be considered proper? Yes, indeed, and a thousand times yes. The only regret is that there is not a national law compelling every husband, son, and brother, to stop work once in two years, and come with their sisters, mothers, and wives, to spend a week, considering not dollars nor politics, but the things that make for a great people. Bring every husband, whether he is, as the Irishman would say, 'a club woman" or not. Nothing is so convincing and converting to the scoffers as a week's association with this great number of sensible, representative, happy women of the land.

This is the burning question which has come in several letters:—

"What shall we wear at the Biennial? It takes so many fine clothes we cannot afford to go," etc. Now let us see. The principal meetings of the Biennial will be held in the mornings, beginning Thursday, May 31, continuing Friday, Saturday, Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday. The sessions will open at 9.30 and close at 1.30. No afternoon session will be held, only conferences. The evening sessions begin Wednesday, May 30, continuing for seven successive evenings, Sunday omitted. Six morning sessions, for which the comfortable silk or tailor made dress is most appropriate, as also for the afternoon conferences and for the excursion day, Tuesday, when Minneapolis club women will be the hostesses. The evening meetings, house receptions, and even the grand reception will require perhaps one light dress or more delicate waists. If the weather is propitious, hats may be discarded in the evening, and one member of the Committee suggests that even be omitted at the day sessions. There will be no necessity for wearing mind and body with elaborate and constant change of dress. Comfort and wisdom in selection should govern. As the Federation women are generally handsome, intelligent, and cheerful of countenance, there is no fear of lack of beauty or brilliancy in the assemblage.

Clubs and Lodges

A grand whist party and dance under the auspices of Triton Council, R. A., will be held in Mague hall, Monday evening, April 23d. Whist will be played from 8 to 10.30, dancing following until 12.

The members of John Eliot Lodge A. O. U. W. are planning for a whist party to be held in A. O. U. W. hall, West Newton, Tuesday evening, April 17, at 8 o'clock.

Gov. Gore Lodge of Waltham worked the second degree for Newton Lodge at West Newton last evening. The initiatory degree will be worked next Thursday evening and on April 26th the anniversary will be observed taking the form of "Ladies Night."

Riverdale Lodge, N. E. O. P., will hold a social meeting in Society hall on Auburn street, Auburndale, next Monday evening. The lodge will entertain Deputy Traub of Framingham.

A delegation from Tennyson Rebekah Lodge went to Wellesley Monday evening and attended a whist party given at the home of Mrs. Bean.

Hearing in Mills Case

Hearings were given on Monday and Wednesday mornings of this week by Mayor Warren upon the following charges preferred by Lieut. Soule against Officer James A. Mills:—

The charges are as follows:

1st. That on or about the 14th day of December, 1905 to the 2nd day of April, 1906, he knowingly kept, detained and concealed a certain dog, the property of Patrick Mullaney, well knowing that said dog was the property of said Mullaney and untruthfully represented that he was the owner of the dog.

2nd. In that on or about the 2nd day of April, he concealed and has kept concealed, a certain puppy, or young dog, the property of the said Mullaney, well knowing it to be his property and has since kept the dog in his possession and concealed the same.

3rd. In that the said James A. Mills has been guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer in that on or about the 23rd day of March, 1906, he refused to obey the commands of his superior officer, Lieutenant Soule, in that he neglected to report at a place designated by such superior officer and to do his duty as required by said superior officer.

Additional charges were also filed for neglect of duty and conduct unbecoming an officer on Oct. 24, 1905, in being absent from his route for forty minutes and entering an unoccupied house with a woman, remaining there during that time.

Chief Mitchell conducted the case for the prosecution while Thomas W. Proctor Esq. appeared for the accused officer.

On the dog matter, Patrick Mullaney, of Newton Centre testified that he had lost a female Boston terrier about Dec. 14 and later while passing Mills house, the dog had run out and recognized him. The dog had had puppies since it had left him and he was satisfied to get the dog and one puppy back. Dr. F. E. Withee testified that he had seen three puppies at the Mills house and similar testimony was given by Officer Taffey.

Mills testified that he had bought the dog from a man named William Mc Mahan while at Lake street and had obtained an undated receipt for the $10 he had paid. He put the date at Dec. 1st. The dog had had two puppies one of which had died. The two other puppies he had brought up from his brother in law's place in Brookline.

Officer McCarthy of Brighton testified that he knew of a man named McMahon who lived in either Cambridge or Somerville, and who peddled fish and vegetables occasionally.

Chief Mitchell testified that diligent search had been made by the Brighton police who were unable to find McMahon.

The neglect of duty charge was on March 23 when Mills was ordered to meet Officer Forristall at Hammond street and Commonwealth ave. at the arrival of the car from Newton Centre about 11 o'clock and failed to do so. The testimony showed that Mills received this order when ringing in his duty call from the Chestnut hill railroad station at 10.40. He told Lieut. Soule that he could meet this car but did not do so. He had subsequently rung in from box 7 at 11.24 and asked for instructions. Mills testified that he had reached the place after the car had gone expecting to find Forristall waiting for him and he did not understand that he was to get on the car himself. He had waited there a few minutes and then went to box 72 and pulled in a call for instructions. He later met Forristall and attended to the work desired.

On Wednesday, Francis Quinn of Brookline, brother-in-law of Mills testified that his wife had informed him that Mills had taken two puppies to Newton and had returned them some weeks later.

Officer Cronin testified that he had seen Mills enter the unfinished house on Reservoir avenue with a woman about 9.15 P. M., Oct. 24 and that he had watched the house until 9.55 and they had failed to appear. He had then gone to ring in his call and upon his return some ten minutes later had looked into all the windows on the ground floor without seeing any one. He was positive it was Officer Mills although he was some 60 feet away and it was a cloudy night. Mr. Proctor brought out the fact that Mills had rung in his duty call as usual that night at 9.05 o'clock from one box and at 10 o'clock from 61 which is at the Chestnut Hill railroad station.

Mills testified that he had never been in the Fifth house, either alone or with a woman and if he had been on Reservoir avenue that night it was before 8 P. M., when Cronin went on duty.

In closing, Mr. Proctor said that the right to be a police officer is valuable and should not be taken away except upon the clearest sort of testimony. This man had served the city for 12 years and had a clear record. The essence of March 23 charge was that Mills should have caught a certain car. He did not refuse to obey, he went and a little later met Forristall and performed the required duty. On the night in question there was 9 inches of snow on the ground and it is very possible that he might not have been able to cover the distance in the required time. In this matter the interests of the public had not suffered one iota because he happened to miss this particular car. Mr. Proctor agreed that the Mullaney dog had been lost and later found in Mills' possession. But he thought it inconceivable that a Newton police officer would have stolen such a dog and then go about with it in public. If the receipt in evidence was a forgery, would it not have been dated. The matter of pups had been clearly explained by the Quinn testimony that Mills' dog had acted as a wet nurse for the Quinn pups.

On the serious charge of last October there was but one witness against Mills' emphatic denial and the very character of the charge rendered it impossible for Mills to present any testimony in his behalf other than what the duty calls would prove. Mr. Proctor said it was impossible for a man to run from the Fifth house to the Chestnut Hill police box in the five minutes which elapsed from the time Cronin left watching the premises until the box was rung in by Mills, and he did not believe that Cronin could positively identify any body at a distance of 60 feet on a cloudy night.

Chief Mitchell said there was no testimony as to the snow on March 23 and that it would be assumed that the sidewalks were sufficiently clear that night. Even so, if Mills could not have reached the car in time by walking he should have run. The Chief was unable to account for the fact that Mills testified that he had the dog on Dec. 1, while Mullaney did not lose him until Dec. 14. The Chief also stated his belief that five minutes was ample time to go from the Fifth house to box 61.

Mayor Warren then took the matter under advisement.

THEATRES

Keith's Theatre—The Great Lafayette with a company of more than 30 people heads a big variety bill at Keith's for the week of April 16. This versatile entertainer is known throughout the length and breadth of the continent as one of the leading exponents of the illusion field, and needs no introduction to amusement-seekers hereabouts. He presents three different forms of entertainment, the first, his wonderful protean changes, and Oriental conjuring, the second humorous travesty of the world's noted music masters, and the third a spectacular pantomime called "The Lion's Bride," in which a full grown live lion plays an important part. The surrounding bill will bear comparison with that of some of the best shows of the season. The list includes the Barrows-Lancaster Company, in an episode of the Civil War entitled, "Tactics," which is considered by many to be one of the best sketches in the variety; Marion Garson, late of the Weber-Field all-star company, talented soprano vocalist; Myers and Herrman, in a comedy and acrobatic pantomime specialty; Tremont Theatre—The appearance of both James K. Hackett and Mary Manning in "The Walls of Jericho," a play of much more than ordinary merit and interest, has formed an attraction which has made a complete conquest of this week's audience at the Tremont Theatre, Boston. Mr. Hackett and Miss Manning have several times appeared in Boston as separate stars but it has been years since they have played together. They have individually gained so much in importance, theatrically, that to see them in the same cast comes in the nature of a real treat. "The Walls of Jericho" is a drama about which a great deal has been heard and written, and it may at once be said that it has not been over-praised. It is from the pen of Alfred Sutro who ranks with the leading playwrights of England today "The Walls of Jericho" having run more than two years in London. Mr. and Mrs. Hackett produced it at the Savoy Theatre, New York, last autumn where it held the boards for six consecutive months. It is a society play but not of the hackneyed sort. Not only does it depict English social life in a carefully considered and faithful manner but it shows also real life and genuine people who are living, moving beings in a story that is something much more than mere stage representation. The Hackett-Manning support is undeniably a strong one and the four acts are stunningly embellished in a scenic way. The engagement will continue all next week with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday and a special holiday matinee on Patriot's Day, April 19th. The advance sale is indicative that the capacity audiences which have prevailed throughout this week will continue until the close of the engagement.

Majestic Theatre—The next two weeks will afford New England playgoers the last opportunities of witnessing that most delightful musical play "The Earl and the Girl" which has been welcoming its many friends since its return to the Majestic Theatre. There were many popular numbers included in this bright play while here last and these have all been retained in addition to which there are several interpolations which have proven equally popular. The cast is headed by one of the most popular comedians on the stage today in the person of Eddie Fox. The engagement at the Majestic Theatre is limited to two more weeks and there will, as usual, be Wednesday and Saturday matinees. Seats may now be had for the special matinee and evening performances to be given on Patriot's Day, April 19. Mail orders from out of town will receive prompt attention.

BENEATH THE GILDED DOME.

The past week was another strenuous period on Beacon Hill in legislation inaugurated and completed. To be sure, nobody knows how much of that which went to enactment will stand the test of service without coming back, like Noah's dove, to the ark of refuge.

It would be difficult to classify the business of last week; the only way to do it was to catch it as it whirled by in its rapid flight, for the hurry-up-quick time has arrived, when electricity has been hatched to the legislative car, as the plodding oxen that have been towing the machine for the past three months are driven into the stable. Evidently the time has not yet arrived when the legislature is to legislate as men do business in other walks of life. It is pretty safe to say that the covers will not be drawn over the furniture in the Senate and House until about June 15th. That will be after the General Court has entered upon the last half of the year, when the chambers will get to be so hot that the members will pant for the water brooks and long for cool Salomon's shady rills.

If interest centered upon anyone particular measure last week, it was doubtless that called the twelve o'clock bill, which was defeated in the House Friday by a vote of 81 to 72, with about two pairs, or absent without pairs. Notice was given that a motion to reconsider would be offered Monday, and reconsideration prevailed at that time, and the bill was passed by a vote of 109 to 101. The way in which certain elements have fought to have this legislature move the hands of the clock along an hour would cause a smile to steal over the face of the moon even. For example, one paper in Boston had the following to say the other day: "A reasonable regard for the interests of the city of Boston should lead level-headed members of the legislature, men who are free from bigotry on the question of traffic in liquor, to concede the privilege that is asked." One is tempted to reply to that, by saying, that a reasonable regard for those who are influenced by "bigotry on the question of traffic in liquor" after eleven o'clock at night, might induce the supporters of the traffic to concede a degree, at least, of principle in their bigotry. Much of the trouble heretofore has been the unreasonableness of those who differ with the sentiment which is opposed to liquor legislation. Up to date, Mayor Fitzgerald, the Board of Trade and the other organizations in Boston have induced a majority of the legislature to concede that the interests of the city, along business lines, require the open bars until midnight.

As the new week dawned we were permitted to see, as through a glass darkly, the mysterious corruption practice bill of Representative Luce, and its advent in all its gorgeousness is promised before the curfew shall ring next Friday afternoon. This wonderful bill has had everything that Mr. Luce could think of, put into it, so its author says, therefore, the reader will not be surprised to learn that it is composed of twenty-one pages. Perhaps the most unique paragraph of this unique product is the following:

"No person shall be excused from giving evidence on the ground that his testimony will tend to incriminate himself, but no person so testifying shall be liable to prosecute except for perjury in his testimony."

That is a "now you see it and now you do it" sort of a production. This latest attempt of Mr. Luce to cover the earth passed all previous achievements into the shadow of a deep forest. Its creator is a man of most prolific capacities. There is another member of the House who, of late, has attempted to sow beside all waters, but any effort to compare him with the Somerville philosopher would be like planting a school boy beside Tom Lawson and telling him to try his hand at Frenzied Finance. Mr. Luce is the only one of his kind in the General Court. What the legislature would do without him, would be about as difficult to say as it would be to say what it would do without a like him. To return again for a moment, one of the provisions which is found in the bill, forbids public franchise companies to contribute toward the expenses of candidates. The measure also necessitates every candidate to employ an expert bookkeeper in the place of a dispenser, as well as other features which are too numerous to allude to at this time. This bill probably adds another two weeks, at least, to the session.

The Governor's single-headed Police bill is coming, and it might be adding, in passing, that the extraordinary organization known as the Police Commission of Boston, is going at about the same time. One of the most remarkable developments of the present session has been the transformation of Judge Edmunds from Chairmanship of the Board into an advocate of the liquor interests of the city. The manufacturer of the diagraph pictures would do well to illustrate this latest evolution of man. In the famous hearing in the liquor committee room, the absolute antithesis of Colonel Cole and Judge Edmunds was almost painfully demonstrated. The remaining member of the Board escaped by being absent. When Governor Guild selects a Commissioner, he will do well to pick someone out who has been cast in another mould.

The Boston Transcript says that "the vexed question of automobile regulation bids fair to be settled in a manner which ought to be satisfactory to the public, and to the automobilists by the compromise bill to be submitted by the legislative sub-committee." The cultured editor of the Transcript who wrote the editorial from which the above was taken, undertook a difficult task when he endeavored to write an article at once pleasing to his auto readers, some of whom perhaps own Transcript stock, and the great chieftain of that excellent paper who go about when they are not running to get out of the way. The meat of this whole trouble is found in the short sentence of the editor, when, in speaking of the auto, he says, "It's operator naturally wishes to run his machine faster than the present law allows." That is exactly what they have been after in all the hearings this winter, and that is exactly what the present legislature objects to regardless of any report which the committee may make. To let down the bars to a herd of wild steers would be like letting down the bars to the average automobilist. The Transcript says, "What the public wants is not a speed limit per se, but to be protected from the reckless driver, however fast he is moving," and that is what the average automobilist is.

"There is still another very conspicuous lack of able legislative leadership up on Beacon Hill."—Boston Herald. What! with the gentleman from the largest and wealthiest town in the world, and the orator from Suffolk in the Senate; the gentlemen from Somerville, Lowell and the Eighth Ward in Boston, together with about a hundred others in the House who were elected because they would become leaders, including an Ex-Congressman? The Herald is getting discourteous, and it is not showing journalistic courtesy to the legislature. There are at least nine Honorable Senators and thirty members of the House who would be leaders in some bodies at least.

EDGAR J. BLISS.

Special Privileges

Some time ago an extraordinary bill was presented to the Legislature in which the State was asked to enact a law requiring all legal advertising in Suffolk, Middlesex, Essex and Norfolk Counties to be published in a daily law journal published in Boston. As there was but one such publication the enactment of such a law would be to give the Daily Law Journal of Boston an exclusive privilege worth many thousands of dollars annually.

It was manifest from the start that no such radical bill could be passed at once, and the promoters of the bill consented to the changing of the measure into a bill requiring the daily court trial lists in Suffolk, Middlesex, Norfolk and Essex Counties to be published in this daily law journal.

This bill, strange to say, was last week ordered to a third reading in the House.

It is difficult to understand on what ground any member of the Legislature can vote for such a bill. The daily newspapers in Boston and in other counties, already publish these trial lists without charge, and there has been no demand for the passage of such a law from anyone except the publisher of the Daily Law Journal. If the bill is enacted it will be an entering wedge and unquestionably be followed up next year by efforts to secure a law giving to this special publication all legal advertising.

Publishers of daily and weekly newspapers throughout the Commonwealth have no desire to shut off legitimate and fair competition, they must expect to meet it at all times, but they have a right to feel that after they have established their publications by legitimate and hard work, they shall not be deprived of the fruits of their labor by laws which confer on individuals, special privileges to which they are not entitled.

The passage of the bill now before the Legislature means that the counties directly, and indirectly, the cities and towns, will be taxed to pay for something that is quite unnecessary and something that is already done without charge by the daily press. It means that in the near future the daily and weekly newspapers will lose the legal advertising which they are now getting.

If a daily law journal can succeed on its own merits, that is one thing, but the money of the taxpayers should not be used to set it on its feet.

We wonder if the newspaper publishers of the State realize what the passage of this bill means to them.—Banker & Tradesman.

Easter Day Thoughts

This is the day most joyous,
The festival sublime,
That celebrates the grandest hope
Within the bounds of time.

Rejoice! ye earth and heaven,
Ye never ending suns,
The glorious Christ is risen!
Sing! ye celestial ones!

Each lily's golden chalice
Wafts incense to the skies,
And music's tuneful numbers
The same thought underlies.

Is this the lowly Christ-Child
Who in a manger lay—
The bearer of this wondrous truth
We glorify today?

All Christendom rejoices:
In countries far remote
The same thought is vibrating
The same exultant note.

Even Nature tells the story,
For in the naked tree
The self-same forces are at work
That dwell in you and me.

The silent work goes grandly on,
And bursting bud and flower
Proclaim the universal law—
Unending life, and power.

The force that animates the clod
Makes the immortal soul—
All length and breadth and height and depth
Are in His wise control.

Then let us praise his holy name
Who brought to sons of earth
The message of eternal life,
And of the soul's re-birth.

And when the shades of night draw near
Dear Lord! secure with thee,
We'll follow as a little child
To God's eternity.

ANNE B. WHEELER.

Clubs and Lodges

Mrs. A. E. Cunningham Tent, No. 2, D. of V. will hold a dancing party in Temple hall, Newtonville, Friday evening, April 27th. Dancing will begin at 8 o'clock.

—The Cantabrigia and the Brightelmstone Clubs will give a federation tea at the latter's new club house on Cambridge street, Allston, on Saturday afternoon April 21. There will be a complimentary sale of the articles left from the Federation Bazar.

—The Sunday school athletic meet which is to be held on April 18th is attracting lots of attention. The different schools practice on Saturday afternoon of each week. Any Sunday school in Newton is eligible to compete and a large number of entries is expected.

—Baseball practice has begun and the Association will be well represented this year with a strong senior team and two teams among the younger men.

Special efforts are being made to make the Sunday meeting for older boys the best of the year. Mr. H. W. Gibson has promised to come and Jack Bartley will sing. Admission will be only by tickets which can be obtained from members or by calling at the Association.

The monthly average drill report for this month is 47.34 which means a place near the head of the column. The men do not try to find an excuse nowadays for non attendance, but on the contrary consider Monday night as the "best night" in the week. Congratulations to Capt. Guilford for installing this "Esprit de Corps" in the company.

There is no more dependable aid to the woman who makes her own gowns or has them made in the house than the fitted patterns prepared by the Paris Pattern Supply Company, 169 Tremont street. The making of patterns is an old custom dating many years back. Year by year it has been improved upon and now in the efforts of this house it is safe to say it has reached its highest development. The newest and best things are to be found in this pattern-maker's stock, and the woman who pins her faith to them will be rewarded by the consciousness that her wearing apparel is always perfectly up-to-date.

Mrs. Nancy Leadbetter of Weston was thrown from her carriage in Auburndale yesterday and had a leg broken. Her horse took fright at a passing train. Mrs. Leadbetter is at the Waltham Hospital.

KRANICH & BACH PIANOS took gold medal at Mechanics' Fair in Boston in 1894 and '95 on their unequalled uprights and grands. Finest tone and best to wear. Also the first class H. W. Berry and the Keller & Sons. Special bargains on slightly used Kranich & Bachs. Also second hand Pianos at low prices. Also the finest Small Miniature Kranich & Bach Grand. Terms easy and prices reasonable. H. W. BERRY, No. 616 Washington street, Boston.

Trout Time

I'm tired of the dinging and donging.
I'm tired of the traffic and din,
The crowding and cramming and thronging.
The struggle and folly and sin;
The belt and the bell and the bustle,
The buzz and the clang and the roar—
'Tis a vain and a brain-racking tussle
That makes me disheartened and sore.
I want to get back to the mountains,
I want to get back to the wild,
To the brook and the fresh-flowing fountains
Where never a thought is defiled;
I want to live closer to Nature;
My soul of its struggles is sick;
There's a voice in the cataract calling—
I want to go fishin'—quick!
T. Shelley Sutton, in Recreation for April.

—Crosby's Restaurant, 19 School street, Boston, is a good place to dine. tf

A Change of Name

The attention of our readers is called to the change of name that is to be made May 1, 1906, by the Davis Optical Co., whose advertisement has appeared in our paper for many months. The change from the present name to the Thos. W.
Spencer Co. is a change in name only,
as the officers of the company remain the same. Mr. Spencer is the manager and treasurer of the company and until recently was a resident of Newton. He has been interested in the optical business for many years and is one of the best known opticians in Boston and vicinity. He is a member of the New England Association of Opticians.

The examiner for the company is Frederick P. Simmons, Opt. D., of Waltham, one of the leading refractionists in New England. Mr. Simmons is a graduate Doctor of Optics, and is chairman of the board of examiners of the New England association of Opticians.

The business of the company has been located at 2 Park square for 14 years and at their rooms may be found the most modern devices for the examination of the eyes, and by the use of these instruments, backed by the knowledge, skill and energy of these gentlemen, the company they are associated with has taken a leading place in their profession in New England.

To defective eyesight may be traced many ills for which people take medicine in vain. Disordered nerves, headaches, and kindred troubles are often due to poor eyes, and when the cause is once located, eye glasses or spectacles absolutely accurate are needed to effect a cure. The Davis Optical company turns out the very finest work, as it has the latest and best appliances, directed by competent, well-trained minds, and handled by skilled workmen. The rooms of the company on Park square are models of convenience. Everything necessary to determine the nature of eye trouble is there, and the result is attained quickly and satisfactorily.

A Novelty for the Garden

Among the most beautiful and desirable flowers for the perennial garden are the iris in their different varieties, and a striking novelty in this group is the Siberian iris Snow Queen.

This iris was introduced recently by a noted English firm and was awarded a gold medal by the Royal Horticultural Society in England. The flower is pure white, while the plant grows about three feet with narrow foliage which keeps green and bright all the season after flowering. It is truly a grand companion for the blue Siberian iris, is a splendid acquisition to any garden and no collection or group of iris should be without it.

The Snow Queen is of so recent introduction that it is necessarily very rare, and the Shady Hill Nursery Co. were most fortunate in obtaining a few roots from which they have produced a stock that is now ready for the market.
These plants may be obtained in limited quantities by application to their office at Bedford, Mass., and if set out reasonably early will give immediate effect in blossom the first season.

Arthur Hudson Announces
That He Has at Last Secured a Cure for Hair Troubles.

We beg to announce to the people of Newton that we have secured the agency for one of the greatest discoveries of recent years. We refer to the preparation of Sir Erasmus Wilson, M. D., England's most successful specialist in diseases of the scalp, who was knighted for his many successes in the treatment of skin and scalp. Upon the death of Dr. Wilson this preparation was secured by American chemists and is now offered to the public under the name of Dr. Wilson's English Life to the Hair. This preparation will grow hair on bald heads even after all else fails. Unlike other hair preparations it is not sticky or greasy, but gives a live and glossy appearance to the hair. Miss Cornelia Stevens, 6 Smith Ave., Boston, Mass., says: "Dr. Wilson's English Life to the Hair grew a magnificent head of hair for me after I was told that I was becoming hopelessly bald. My hair now reaches nearly to my waist and is heavy and glossy. I cannot too highly recommend it." If you are growing bald, troubled with eruptions, dandruff scales or any scalp trouble try Dr. Wilson's Life to the Hair. Albert Chemical Co., Boston, Mass., proprietors. Sold by Arthur Hudson, 265 Washington St. Price 50 cents.

The annual report for 1905 of the Boston Young Men's Christian Association is just issued and presents in an attractive form the varied work of this aggressive organization.

The work the past year was conducted under five different departments: City, Railroad, Army, College and Outing, and a summary of the year's activities shows that 6,837 men and boys (202) were connected with the Association during 1905, who came from towns and cities within a radius of 20 miles of Boston and not a few from more distant points, in order to avail themselves of the splendid opportunities open to them in this Association.

These activities were distributed as follows: 19,422 was the aggregate attendance at the religious services, and 2,772 at the Bible classes; 52,200 in the gymnasium, and 67,703 was the aggregate attendance in the Evening Institute, covering over 100 courses of study; 8,115 books were drawn from the library; 1,847 individuals were furnished employment; 18,962 attended the various social functions; 73,669 luncheons were furnished at reasonable prices in the Association Spas; 17,770 were furnished temporary sleeping accommodations at the Railroad Department, and 37,077 individuals used the social and game room facilities, and 353 men and boys participated in the summer camps.

The report states that the past year has been noteworthy for the substantial material advances made both in equipment and building funds, as well as for the amount of work accomplished, although the crowded condition of the main building has made this work extremely difficult.

Owing to the encouraging development, the cost of the work was greater than in any previous year. It is worthy of special note, however, that only seven per cent. of the year's total outlay was received in donations, indicating that the young men, up to their ability, are showing their appreciation of the Association's more complete ministry to their needs.

In conclusion the report states that in planning for the coming year, the Directors should not only maintain the present efficiency of the work, but should endeavor to achieve the following advances:

To definitely settle upon a site for the proposed new building.

To secure the balance of the funds needed to enable it to erect said building.

To raise at least $3,000 more in contributions for current expenses, to enable the Association to more adequately meet the increasing demands of the growing city.

To secure secretaries to supervise the work of the College and Army Departments.

To strengthen and enlarge the Boys' Department.

To organize and enlarge the scope of the religious work, and to place the work in South Boston on a firmer footing.

It is apparent that the management is alive to the needs of Boston and vicinity and the young men residing in the wider area which they are serving.

The first outing of the season for the members of the Boys' Department was a grand success, and all are looking forward to the announcement of the second. The trip was made to W. S. Quimby & Co. one of the largest coffee roasters in Boston, and under the direction of a guide the party saw the entire plant and process from the original packages shipped from all parts of the world, the cleaning and separating, roasting, cooling, polishing, blending, grinding, weighing automatically and being packed ready for shipment. From here to the Youths' Companion building, seeing the care with which such a paper is gotten out. The trips will include "hikes", all day runs through the Lynn Woods visiting such places as the Devil's Den; Wild-Cat Lodge and Dungeon Rock, etc.

The last Sunday afternoon service was the best of the season. A large number of young men were present and the talk on the Spectrum of Service was splendid. It was a talk for young men and was given to young men. The points were brought out clearly and in a manner never to be forgotten.

Sacrifice, Energy, Right doing, Vigorous hustling, Inviting others, Christ like, Enthusiasm.

The attention of the audience showed more clearly than anything else could have done their appreciation of the speakers purpose. Mr. J. Bartley, bass soloist for the Grace Church added in a large measure to the pleasure of the afternoon. Plans are already being made for the fall's work and we have reason to believe that the service so popular this season will be even more so when they are again resumed.

The following action was taken at the meeting of the directors of the Young Men's Christian Association Monday April 9th, relative to the death of Mr. Judd W. Cone:

That was a mysterious Providence which took so unexpectedly from our Young Men's Christian Association one of the younger and one of the most valuable members of the Board of Directors. We are dazed by the suddenness of the death of our beloved fellow-director, Mr. Judd W. Cone.

He had been a resident of Newton not quite four years; but early sought opportunity to identify himself with the Association. In addition to his love for our work and his enthusiasm in it, he brought an experience from long connection with the Boston Association, which could well be counted as among our most important assets.

He was chosen a director almost immediately upon his becoming a member of the Association, and from that time his zeal knew no abatement. He was rarely absent from a Board meeting, and was indefatigable in the effort to enlarge our membership. He sensed the importance of our work in behalf of boys and eagerly and constantly sought opportunity to increase its efficiency.

At the last regular Board meeting in March, he was chosen one of a committee to take immediate steps to secure a modern building for our rapidly growing work. He assumed this added duty as only another privilege to help advance the Kingdom of Christ among the young men of Newton.

We bow to the inscrutable Providence which has thus bereft us, and humbly pray that our God may help us find a worthy successor of our comrade in Christian service.

To that other circle-where the loss is irreparable-we would tenderly, and with brotherly love, offer our heartfelt sympathy, assuring the stricken family of our prayers, and commending them to the mercy and love of Him, who "healeth the broken in heart and bindeth up their wounds."

Resolved that this expression of regard for our departed brother be published in the Newton papers and a copy of the same be sent to his family.

S. M. Sayford, President.
C. V. Moore, Clerk.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Notwithstanding the fact that nearly two hundred licenses were granted by the aldermen last Monday evening, its meeting was marked by its brevity and for the smoothness with which business was transacted. President Carter was in the chair and every member was present. Altho Alderman Stone did not arrive until near the end of the session.

Hearings were announced upon petitions of the Telephone Company for attachments on Dedham street and for pole locations on Melrose street. Mr. H. D. Seccomb appeared for the Company on the latter petition and there was no opposition.

The notice of hearing before the Railroad Commission on approval of alteration of a crossover on the line of the Boston & Worcester St. Ry. Co. on April 24 was received and filed.

A communication from the Public Buildings Commissioner relative to application of James Ford to erect a shop for repairing automobiles at Commonwealth avenue was referred to the Public Franchise Committee. Petitions of Chas. E. Roach and Dennis K. Foley for minors licenses of Harry Shapiro for a junk license and of Antonio Vasa for a wagon license were referred to the same committee.

Petitions of H. L. Tange for sewer in Prairie ave., of F. J. Hale for sewer in Cheney Pl., of C. S. Jenkins et al for sewers in Carlton, Mossfield, roads, Waban ave., Rokeby and Pontiac roads and of Jas. McDonald for improvements to Gardner st. were referred to the Public Works Committee.

Petition of Caroline E. Fisk for release of rights to slope on Church st and petition of James A. Coleman for payment of $108 medical services for injuries received while acting as janitor of Burr school were referred to the Claims Committee.

Hearings were ordered for May 7 on these petitions: N. & W. Gas Light Co for poles on Perkins st and Summit st and for attachments on Dedham st and Highland ave. and of the Telephone Company for poles on Ward st and for attachments on Ward st and Meredith ave.

On recommendation of the Finance Committee orders were adopted granting $32,931 for city expenses to May 15, authorizing sewer construction in Old England road; authorizing photographs to be taken of city buildings and copies filed at Library, and approving $125 for settlement of Farnham claim.

The committee on Claims reported approving settlement of Farnham claim at an expense of $125.

The committee on Rules, etc. submitted a proposed amendment to the Health Department ordinance reducing its membership to three members the ordinance was given its several readings, passed to be enrolled and subsequently passed to be ordained.

On recommendation of the Committee on Public Franchises and Licenses a minors license was granted James Kelley, and inholders license to Frederick Wilkey, and these licenses of various kinds to

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST

In your town on Friday afternoons and Saturdays. Maybe you think it'll take a long while to earn enough money for what you want. But that all depends on yourself. Some boys make as much as $15 a week; others make $3, $5, $5 a week. In our handsome booklet, "Boys Who Make Money," some of our boys tell, in their own way, how they got money for things they had long wanted, by selling THE POST. This booklet is free for the asking. We will send along with it, the complete outfit for starting in business, including ten free copies of THE POST. You sell these at 5c the copy, and that furnishes all the money you need for buying further supplies. Besides the money you make each week, we give, among other prizes, watches, sweaters, etc. And in addition

CLAFLIN GUARD NOTES.

The Claflin Guard underwent their annual State and U. S. inspection on Wednesday evening of last week and made a most excellent appearance. This was Capt. Guilford's first inspection as commander of the company and the work and practical instruction which he has put into his command was very apparent on that evening. Promptly at 8 o'clock the company formed in the upper drill hall; their fine appearance causing very favorable comment from a number of the spectators present, as they lined up a stalwart looking lot of men with their equipment cleaned and polished to the highest degree. Capt. Guilford took the company in platoon movements which were executed very creditably, then came "extended order" under Lieut. Daniels, showing their intelligent conception of field tactics, there being no hesitancy in any of the movements, but on the contrary executing them like some well made machine. Maj. Clark of the 5th U. S. Inf. was inspecting officer for the U. S. and Col. Benyon for the State. The company property and rifles were found in excellent condition also the company records. Col. Oakes of the Regt. was present and congratulated Capt. Guilford on having such a fine company and expressed himself as very much gratified in having this company in his regiment.

Police Paragraphs.

In court Saturday Harold C. Prouty, formerly employed as a bookkeeper in Milton, and claiming to have once been a Harvard student, was sentenced to thirty days in the House of Correction for twice fraudulently hiring a horse and carriage from Henry C. Daniels of Newton.

THEATRES

Tremont Theatre—Bertha Kalich, who will appear at the Tremont for a fortnight's engagement beginning next week, will be seen for the first half of her stay in Maeterlinck's powerful and poetic play, "Moupa Vanna," which Harrison Grey Fiske, her sponsor as a star, has produced in a lavish and beautiful manner. The introduction of Madame Kalich to the English speaking stage has added to its stars a player of apparently limitless emotional force; much temperament and finished technique. Her portrayal of the heroine of Maeterlinck's big and impressive drama has been a revelation to those unfamiliar with her work in other tongues. Vanna is a dominant figure in the modern drama, the centre in interests in a remarkable story that has back of it tremendous scenes a bold and broad philosophy.

BERTHA KALICH in "Moupa Vanna" at Tremont Theatre

philosophy. It is set in the atmosphere of medieval romance, yet the emotions and impulses of its characters are the elemental ones that ruled human nature since the world began. The story is told with fine cumulative interests and the suspense is sustained until the fall of the curtain. A distinguished company including Henry Kolker, Harry B. Stanford, Frederic Perry, Leonard Shepherd, Joseph O'Meara and others, is associated with Madame Kalich. The settings represent a distant advance in stage pictorial display and are unsurpassed for attractiveness and verity. For the last week of her engagement Madame Kalich will be seen in a modern realistic drama, Zola's "Therese Raquin."

Keith's Theatre—Keith's should prove an unusually attractive place to visit during the week of April 23, if the vaudeville program announced below is to be served up for amusement-seekers for the week commencing with that date. There is such a wide range of entertainment on the bill that it can hardly fail of appealing to all classes of theatre-goers. The Great Lafayette, with one of the largest companies in the vaudeville line, will appear for another six days, combining his protean changes and impersonations of noted musical directors into one act, while as an added feature to his entertainment, he will present the pantomimical spectacle,

Whitney-Jones.

A quiet home wedding which was marked by entire simplicity in all its arrangements was that of Miss Helen Reed Jones and Mr. Philip Richardson Whitney, which took place at noon on Tuesday, April 17, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Jones, Corey Hill, Brookline. The ceremony, which was witnessed by only the relatives of the two families, was performed by Rev. William H. Lyon, D. D., minister of the First Parish Church of Brookline. Mr. Whitney, who was attended by Rev. Mr. Fithorn of Overbrook, Pa., as best man, is the son of Mr. William L. Whitney of Newton. He is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and is an instructor of architecture at the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. Mr. and Mrs. Whitney are to make their home at Overbrook.

Flint-Thayer.

At the home of Mr. Arthur C. Farley in Auburndale, at 7.30 o'clock, Wednesday evening, Mr. Albert Ellison Flint of Worcester and Miss Bertha Jean Thayer of West Newton, were married by the Rev. Howard B. Grose of Yonkers, N. Y., and the Rev. Frederick R. Griffin of Braintree, Mass. The bride's sister, Miss Miriam Thayer, was maid of honor, and Mr. William C. Habberly of Lynn, best man. The ushers were Mr. Edward T. Estey and Dr. Arthur W. Eldred of Worcester. Mr. Albert L. Worthen of Bridgeport, Ct., and Mr. Henry Dalton of West Newton. The bride was attended by Ada Holmes Whitmore, Mortimer Thayer Farley, Barbara Farley and Arthur Francis Farley. During the reception which followed Mr. and Mrs. Flint were assisted in receiving their guests by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Farley and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Flint, the parents of the groom, and Miss Miriam Thayer. Mr. Flint is a well known young business man of Worcester, and in that city the newly wedded couple will make their home.

Y. M. C. A.

The record meet held on Thursday was a success. The association orchestra rendered good music and the following records were broken. Every time the orchestra played a record was broken. C. A. Moore broke the 1000 yds. run, making the fast time of 2 minutes 30.15 seconds. Geo. Doyle broke the mile in 4 minutes 58.25 seconds.

Hale Very broke the shot put with a put of 42 ft. 10 1/2 inches, and the running high jump by clearing the bar at 5 ft. 8 inches.

The basket ball season closed with a game between the first and second teams of the association. The first team won easily by a score of 28 to 14.

Athletic teams from eight Newton churches competed at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Wednesday evening. The Eliot Congregational team won the first of a hand-some trophy offered by the association. Individual cups were awarded the winners in the relay race.

The Eliot team won the meet with 18 points and the other teams scored as follows: Newton M. E. 14 points, Newton Baptist 12, West Newton Congregational 11, Newton Centre Baptist 7, Auburndale Congregational 2, Grace Episcopal 2.

The event resulted as follows:—20 yard dash, Won by H. L. Kettle, West Newton; 50 yard dash—Won by W. Moore, Newton; Two broad jumps—Won by E. Weaver, West Newton; High jump—Won by E. Hendricks, Newton Centre; Spring-board jump—Won by H. Decker, Newton; Potato race—Won by C. Turner, Eliot; Relay race—Auburndale vs West Newton, won by Auburndale; Grace vs Newton M. E., won by Grace; Eliot vs Newton Baptist, won by Baptist.

A New Pastor at Newton Centre

On Easter Sunday Rev. Laurens J. Birney began his pastorate at Newton Centre Methodist Episcopal church and made an excellent impression by his modesty, sincerity and ability. The writer of this sketch was one of the Board of Examiners before whom Mr. Birney appeared a few years ago, and who recommended him for ordination and for admission into the ranks of the itinerant ministry. The examiner felt honest pride at that time to have had some part in the introduction of this promising young man to his life work and now rejoices to have him as a neighbor and the pastor of a church of such influence as that at Newton Centre.

Mr. Birney was born in Ohio, where his father was a farmer, and began teaching school at the age of seventeen. After valuable experience as a teacher he entered Seio College, in Ohio, where he graduated in 1895 as the valedictorian of his class. He preached for a year in his native state and then came to Boston University to study theology and pursue a course in philosophy under Prof. Borden P. Brown. He graduated in theology in 1899 and joined the New England Conference the year following. He has preached at South Walpole, Worcester, and Hyde Park and with Mrs. Birney has spent the last year in travel and study abroad. Mr. Birney is tall and commanding in appearance, has a pleasing voice, an earnest manner and an attractive personality. He has already made a name for himself in the New England Conference and is in demand for our best pulpits. He has good executive ability, is aggressive and evangelistic in his spirit, is unusually faithful as a pastor and is blessed with a talented wife who enters heartily with him into the work of the church and parish. He will prove a decided addition to the pulpits of Newton and his own church, all our churches and the city are to be congratulated.

Rev. George S. Butters, D. D.

By invitation of the Cabot Club the April meeting of the State Federation will be held at Middleboro in the Congregational church, on Friday, April 27. At the morning session, which begins at 10.30 o'clock, Mr. Henry Lewis Johnson, Chairman of the Billboard Committee of the Massachusetts Civic League, will speak on "The Status of the Billboard." The lecture will be finely illustrated by lantern slides. An address on "School Gardens" is expected from Professor L. H. Bailey, of the Cornell College of Agriculture. The program will include other speakers and music by the choral class of the Cabot Club.

Luncheon tickets at 50 cents each may be obtained from Mrs. Margaret Mitchell, 10 East Grove street, Middleboro, Mass., by sending an order with money enclosed and an addressed and stamped envelope for the return of the ticket. All orders must be sent on or before Wednesday, April 25.

The new red Federation tickets will be necessary for admission to the sessions.

The subject of the paper to be given at the meeting of the Social Science Club on April 25 will be "The Power of Individuality."

At the meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club on Friday, April 13, Mrs. Mary R. Martin, one of the club members, and secretary of the Newton Associated Charities, gave a most interesting account of "Some Experiences of a Charity Worker in Newton." Mrs. Martin related incidents of cases that have come under her care from time to time during her work, some being of the most encouraging nature and others that were not. She told of an encounter with a money lender and how these men rob the poor. Mrs. Martin urged the members to remember the Associated Charities when they are clearing out their old clothes and said that it was more important to help the people in our midst than to send these same things off to the Salvation Army. Mrs. Follett of Boston rendered several vocal solos in a pleasing manner and was well received by the club.

The next meeting will be held on April 27. The speaker will be Miss Mary A. Mulliken, subject, "Art in the Home."

The members of the Monday Club of Newton Highlands completed their winter's journeyings in Italy on Monday afternoon, April 16. A paper on "Genoa" was given in the form of a diary, another entitled "Gleanings from the Trip" and one on "Italy of Today" dealing with the present day problems of the country. At the next meeting, which will be a luncheon at Mrs. Strong's in Waban, Margaret Deland will address the club on "The Duty of Happiness." The closing meeting of the season will occur on April 30, when the officers for next year will be elected.

The Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will hold its annual meeting at Channing Church, Newton, on Thursday, May 3, at 10.30 A. M., the Monday Club being the hostess. The morning session will be given up to the annual reports of the Federation officers, chairman of committees and action on the proposed amendment to the constitution relating to the finance of the Federation. The proposed change makes the tax on each club ten cents per capita, based on the membership of the previous year. There will be the usual five minute reports from the presidents of the various clubs and the election of officers. Luncheon will be served at one o'clock, tickets at fifty cents have been sent to the various club presidents and may be secured of them. At two o'clock the program will be a "Home Talent Afternoon" contributed by members of the different clubs.

The Social Science Club continued its study of Morris on Wednesday morning by a paper on "The Socialism of William Morris" by Miss Grace M. Burr. The speaker traced Morris's interest and work for the cause of socialism and outlined his theories as set forth in an essay on "Socialism, its Growth and Outcome" which Morris collaborated with E. Belfort Bax. The paper dwelt particularly upon his theory of pleasure in labor and the way in which it may be attained, namely, by abolishing class distinctions, eradicating wealth and poverty and setting up life on a communist system. Art is the final goal of all life and all labor. The incentive to work which remains, when the basis of life has been changed and there is, then, no fear of starvation, Morris asserts is the pleasure in the work itself, the reward of creation, the "wages which God gets." Certain aspects of the things which Morris preached are becoming generally recognized as true and worthy of being put into practice, the "Arts and Crafts" movement, the more rational ideas of education, in striving to prepare the child for life, rather than to load him with knowledge, the significant peace congresses, and the establishment of the Hague Tribunal for the arbitration of international differences. In closing a striking sentence from one of Morris's books, "A Dream of John Ball" was quoted as being appropriate to apply to Morris himself: "I pondered how men fight and lose the battle, and the thing they fought for comes about in spite of their defeat, and when it comes turns out not to be what they meant, and other men have to fight for what they meant under another name."

Stuart-Mullen.

The marriage of Mr. George A. Stuart, son of Deputy Street Commissioner George E. Stuart to Miss Alice Gertrude Mullen of Newton, the popular organist of St. John's Church at Lower Falls took place yesterday morning at the Church of Our Lady which was crowded with the many friends of the bride and groom. High nuptial mass was celebrated at nine o'clock, with Rev. Father Kelly officiating. The regular church choir was assisted by Mr. Charles Burrell, tenor soloist and Mr. Joseph Burke was the organist. The bride was gown in white net over white satin and was attended by Miss Dell Clifford of Providence, R. I., as maid of honor. The best man was Mr. J. Joseph Murray of Newton and the ushers were Dr. Edward Fall, and Messrs Charles P. Stuart, Charles J. McCarthy and William P. Keefe.

A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony at the United States Hotel, Boston. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Stuart will reside on Washington street, Wellesley. They were the recipients of many costly and beautiful wedding gifts.

How's Your Hair?

Arthur Hudson Announces That He Has at Last Secured a Cure for Hair Troubles.

We beg to announce to the people of Newton that we have secured the agency for one of the greatest discoveries of recent years. We refer to the prescription of Sir Erasmus Wilson, M. D., England's most successful specialist in diseases of the scalp, who was knighted for his many successes in the treatment of skin and scalp. Upon the death of Dr. Wilson this prescription was secured by American chemists and is now offered to the public under the name of Dr. Wilson's English Life to the Hair. This preparation will grow hair on bald heads even after all else fails. Unlike other hair preparations it is not sticky or greasy, but gives a live and glossy appearance to the hair. Mrs. Cornelia Stevens, 6 South Ave., Boston, Mass., says: "Dr. Wilson's English Life to the Hair grew a magnificent head of hair for me after I was told that I was becoming hopelessly bald. My hair now reaches nearly to my waist and is heavy and glossy. I cannot too highly recommend it." If you are growing bald, troubled with eruptions, dandruff, scales or any scalp trouble try Dr. Wilson's Life to the Hair. Albert Chemical Co., Boston, Mass., proprietors. ## BENEATH THE GILDED DOME.

Another remarkable result was recorded when the House settled what is designated as the Twelve O'clock Law. At this writing, the Senate has not yet upon the bill but from what little is known about that somewhat mystifying body, it is not supposed that the Senate will disagree with the House, and that the Governor will allow the question to be tested, whether the sixty minutes between eleven and twelve o'clock at night are more vital to the commercial prosperity of Boston than any other like period of time in the twenty-four hours that make up the night and the day. Perhaps it is not correct, that this contention should be conceded, for surely the Mayor, the Board of Trade and all the other organizations that have taken a hand in this remarkable contest ought to know. If the business men of this country really are restrained from coming to Boston to transact business because the bar-rooms are closed, at eleven o'clock at night, and that it is a fact that the construction of great hotels in the city is dependent upon the privilege to sell liquor between eleven and twelve o'clock of course such conditions ought to settle it at once. It certainly is a matter of sufficient importance to be considered by the legislature, and the House seemed to consider it to the extent that out of a total of 209 men, it did not take any stock in the great bill that has been put up to the legislature during the present session. By a majority of 8 the House proceeded to pass still another piece of special legislation. It was noticeable that at the very hour when the Senate defeated the bill in which Martin Lomasney had fought to get the better of Mayor Fitzgerald, Lomasney was voting for the Mayor on his twelve o'clock bill, but the doughty warrior from Ward 8 could afford to be magnanimous, for he pounded the Mayor in a royal fashion in the Senate before the day drew to a close, on the Aldermanic Bill. Some day some one will come along and tell the truth about this whole matter, and tell it in a manner to cause people to listen with their ears and see with their eyes, instead of reversing things as they do now.

It is not often that an opportunity is afforded one to witness a political side in broad daylight in the Senate Chamber. A few years ago a member of that body bowed himself out of public life, and bid farewell to a very promising political future, in one way, and last week a distinguished Senator extinguished his political career in just as effective a manner, in another way, in opposing what is known as the Governor's bill on a single-headed Police Commission. The speech was an hour long, and when it ended the Senate took just about a minute to show how little it was influenced by the address. During the session of the afternoon, a lesser light in that honorable body was snuffed out by his declaration that the effort had been made, from the Executive Chamber to induce him to vote for the bill. Nothing, however, could shake him from his purpose to stand with his neighbor on the scaffold and go down with him when the spring was touched. The Democratic strength of the Senate numbers nine Senators, but on this measure, the entire vote, including the two Republicans mentioned, was eight worthies who entered into the fiery furnace while twenty-three Senators took the several warnings from Senator Cummings, who did not seem to be blessed with a second sight, and voted to terminate the services of the present Board of Police of Boston.

For years, the familiar form of Hon. Eben M. Boynton has been seen about the State House, and he has been a regular petitioner before the Street Railway Committee in favor of his Boston, Quincy & Fall River Bicycle Railway Bill. It was conceded by all who heard him, that he made the ablest defense of his plan in the committee hearing this year that has ever been heard, yet the Senate took occasion to knock his bill, and took a brutal fashion last Friday. It was truly an unlucky day for Boynton, for the Senate, after encouraging this inventive genius by admitting his bill, took the unlucky day and the unlucky number of 13 to turn his picture to the wall and by a vote of 13 to 13, on Friday the 13th day of the month, refused to consider the bill. It is really a sad case to contemplate. Here is a man who for real ability, except in the game of personal shrewdness, has no peer in the peerage of the legislature, and who, if he was a member of the "honorable Senate" would make every member look like thirty-one hundredths of a dollar were he to allow his real ability to shine. By the way, Boynton says he can point his finger to the man who did it all.

The adverse report of the Committee on Public Health, was accepted last week by the Senate, by which the Osteopathy bill was consigned to the waste basket, which is becoming uncommonly full, this year, although the Blue Book as usual, is getting its share of waste paper. In this connection, it may be said that the healers are going right along just the same. The great dome on the Christian Science Church is bigger than the gilded dome on the State House, and the church itself will be by far the grandest church edifice in town when it is completed. "The old school" under the supervision of the legislature, is turning out every attempt of the healers to get in under cover by legislative enactment. It's a great mistake on the part of the healers, and the weakest argument in their whole armor. That which was likened to a mustard seed, never became like a great tree in which the birds of the air took refuge, by legislative enactment. The old world, sick and full of pain, is crying out to be healed, and the people are taking note and finding if there is any virtue and any good, irrespective of legislative authority. Half the thinking world is Christian Science today, except in name. The legislature cannot save the old school by standing guard over the old board, for the old school is becoming, on its outside edges at least, the new school. One of its members said the other day, "Why we are about all Homeopaths today, and when it comes to Christian Science, it is worth thinking about."

The House voted last week to give the Jamestown Exposition $50,000, in spite of the colored remonstrance. Evidently the vote of that element in the Commonwealth is not held in such dread as is that of other elements, in our voting population. In spite of the fact that the Germans, the Irish and the Italians are multiplying in enormous quantities with us, it must be admitted that the negro is developing a mighty vigorous population that is getting ready to enter a protest against injustice, treatment with which that people may be said to be somewhat familiar.

The Senate, in the exercise of its exalted wisdom, threw out the Sunday Bill last week and substituted a resolve offered by Senator Kyle, to provide for the appointment of a committee by the Governor to consider the law relating to the Sabbath. That would be a matter that the Governor would do well to steer clear of if he desires to avoid the reefs. Talk about the single-headed police commission and the Excise Board, this Sunday proposition enfolds a far more dangerous dirk than anything that has approached the Executive Chamber since his Excellency took on that title officially.

Edgar J. Bliss.

Correspondence

April 11, 1906
To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

As the originator of the idea of making a local water park of a portion of Crystal Lake in conjunction with the separation of the grades upon the railroad perhaps it would be well to state some of the reasons again.

1st. When the tracks are lowered the surplus earth could be placed so as to obtain a parklike effect similar to the Riverway near Longwood station with its graceful slopes and planting and a pleasure walk meandering in and out as the depth of the shore along the railroad permitted.

2nd. Recognizing the value of the ice-house property as a distributing centre it occurred to me that to carry Norwood avenue outside or on the shore of the Lake, with proper grading and the planting of trees and shrubs, the ice-houses could be screened from the pond so as to be less objectionable in the landscape. It did not appear to me that much objection could be raised on the part of the owners as provision for the storage of ice could be made by a bridge under the relocated avenue. There would be a slight inconvenience in not being able to load a few of the bottom layers of ice in the house for delivery but this did not seem unsurmountable as some adjustment could be made inside the icehouse. Besides the above reasons it occurred to me that to have Norwood avenue as it now exists released to the ice company it would be a valuable addition in that the property would be intact free from the conflicting of driving and the loading of ice as at present. Another reason perhaps remote was that with the increasing of the population about the shores of the pond there might be a possible necessity of abandoning the cutting of ice upon it on account of contamination of the water of the lake by street wash and so forth and the erection of an artificial ice plant with pure ice made from filtered city water, which would not in any wise need the shore front for carrying on the business.

I am informed that some of the neighboring companies deliver or are contemplating the delivery of artificial pure ice to the consumers. If this is true why not in Newton Centre at some future time?

3rd. The upshot of the whole matter at present I understand is that we shall not be able to have our park and the opportunity will be lost forever. We shall still crowd the lawns and narrow strip along Lake avenue as formerly only with increasing discomfort as the population increases upon such occasions as July 4th. celebration.

When the railroad equips its line with electricity which I believe is not far distant the disagreeable features would be removed, and we should have a pleasant and unique addition to the open spaces of the city reserved for public use.

Herbert J. Kellaway.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

In a letter in a recent number of the GRAPHIC, Francis George Curtis, M. D., gave reasons why the appointment of school physicians, as provided for in House Bill 748, for medical inspection in the public schools, should be made not by the school committee (as provided in the bill) but by the board of health. I should like to state the reasons which have convinced the committee in charge of the bill that the school committee is upon the whole the better body for the purpose. Among those whose opinion favors the school committee may be mentioned Mr. Martin of the State Board of Education and Dr. Walcott, Chairman of the State Board of Health.

It is true, as Dr. Curtis points out, that the most of the diseases, mentioned in Section 2 of the bill, for which children are to be excluded from school are at present under the control of the board of health. But the important point in this connection is that by far the greater part of the work of school inspectors is not in excluding children from school for contagious of infectious disease, but in dealing with children whose illness is not of the contagious sort. In Boston in the year 1905 the cases excluded for "specific contagious disease" (being as Dr. Dargun has explained, the cases with which boards of health usually deal) were only 16 per cent. of the total exclusions. So that, so far as this argument goes, it shows that by far the greater part of the work comes wholly

DEAR FRIEND—
I ask your attention to my Spring Line of Shoes, representing the expenditure of a good deal of time and money, and I can truthfully and honestly say that they are the best I have ever shown.

I desire to add your name this season to my list of customers and know of no better way to do so than ask you to come and carefully examine my line. I'm sure it contains greater value than it is possible for you to procure elsewhere and believe an examination of my shoes will fully demonstrate it. May I have this opportunity?

I trust I may hear from you.

Yours truly,

outside of the present sphere of the board of health.

The reason why the committee has thought that upon the whole the school committee is the better authority for this purpose is that the whole success of the system, even in the case of contagious disease, will depend upon the cooperation between the doctor and the teacher. If the teacher does not report a disease the doctor will never hear of it. If she is not interested, the child will not receive the proper treatment within the school; and the treatment within the school—including seating, a modification of studies, and a wise supervision of exercise—will, in the case of non-contagious disease, be an important part of what this bill is calculated to achieve.

Moreover it is the teacher upon whose interest and zeal will often depend the remedial or preventive treatment in the home. The trouble with many children (to cite one class of cases) as shown especially by the experience with medical inspection in New York, is mal-nutrition and this in the great majority of cases has been shown to be due not to the poverty but to the ignorance or carelessness of parents. Much can be done by tactful suggestion to show parents how to care for their children in this and other ways. The school committee is much better calculated to furnish this suggestion than is the board of health. Mothers' meetings are already held in connection with many schools, and it is already the business of kindergartens and truant officers to visit the homes. Such work is entirely outside of the province of the board of health. In short, the teacher is the king pin of the whole system. It is only through her interested and zealous cooperation with the doctor that cases will ever be treated at all or that many of them will be treated properly. The teacher can be reached by the school committee and cannot be reached by the board of health; and cooperation between her and the doctor can much more easily be brought about if the two are appointed by the same board.

In figuring out the expense Dr. Curtis fixes the salary of the doctor as "possibly as low as $350 a year." The system is now in full operation in 11 cities and towns. In four of these the doctor is paid $200 a year, in one he is paid $300, in five others he is paid so much per visit, usually one dollar, and in one (Chelsea) he is not paid at all. The expense in the cities averages about $20 per 1000 inhabitants, in towns about $11 per 1000.

Dr. Curtis further says that the inspector is required to make an annual examination of every scholar and make a report on his general health and sight and hearing. But that is not the case. The bill provides that tests of sight and hearing shall be made by the teachers; and it is not provided, nor is it necessary, that any part of the annual examination should be made by a doctor, though that might be done in any city or town where it was deemed desirable.

In conclusion I wish to express my gratification that Dr. Curtis is not opposed to daily medical inspection in schools; and I believe that although daily inspection is not actually made even in Boston, the system may sometime be carried as far as that. Meanwhile I believe that this bill is a very good entering wedge, and that minor differences such as that upon the question of whether the doctor shall be appointed by the board of health or by the school committee, should not be allowed to stand in the way of its enactment.

WE BELIEVE

The Newton Markets are noted for carrying the Highest Quality of BEEF and LAMB.

The market opened by us is strengthening this reputation and we think you will take the trouble to look at the BEEF displayed at our store, some of which has been cut from a well fed steer weighing over 1100 pounds. A few well fed young lambs may also be seen at the little market. We hope you will look at the beef for we think you will be tempted to buy from its appearance.

We have bought the best BEEF and LAMB that the wholesale market affords, and if you happen to buy some of it you will, no doubt have a very pleasant remembrance of us when you eat the meat and so lead to further orders.

We are already doing a nice business and we take this opportunity to heartily thank our customers for their orders.

—The Nonantum Industrial School, which is supported in part by the Social Science Club, is to have a school garden the coming summer, a plot of ground for this purpose having been secured on the Potter estate, facing Jackson road.

—Rev. Dr. Wolcott Calkins of Bellevue street, was one of the bearers at the funeral of John M. Fiske held at the Mt. Vernon Church, Boston, Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Calkins was a classmate of the deceased at Yale both being members of the class of 1856.

—At the Methodist church Wednesday evening Rev. Dillion Bronson of Brookline gave his lecture on "India Revisited." He described, with the aid of many colored stereoscopic views, this interesting country, its scenery, temples, the people and their customs and dress.

—A representative audience was present at Grace church Wednesday evening when a concert was given in the parish house in aid of missions. An artistic program was rendered by Miss Edyth A. Sargent, pianist; Master Lothair J. Van Buskirk, boy soprano; Mr. Charles Tipper, violinist; Miss Alice Sampson, contralto; Miss Nellie W. Swan, pianist; Mr. Demmon K. Bullens, basso; Miss Emma I. Shaden, mezzo soprano; Mr. Charles E. Wood, tenor; Mr. Dudley W. Fitch, accompanist; Mrs. Charles E. Wood, violinist.

—Mrs. Caroline E. Gould, wife of Rev. John B. Gould, died at her home on West Canton street, Boston, last Friday aged 81 years. She had resided in various places having been with her husband who filled pastorates in towns and cities in the Maine, Methodist Southern and New England Conferences and during President Grant's administration accompanied Dr. Gould abroad where he was consul at Birmingham, England, and Marseilles, France. She is survived by her husband and one son. Funeral services were held from the house Sunday afternoon, Rev. George S. Butters, officiating, and the burial was in Mystic Court.

—The Young People's Chorus of the Channing Unitarian church, which, during the past winter has been conducting successful Vesper Services, will, on May 18th, next, give its first concert. The Chorus will be assisted by members of the Philharmonic Orchestra, all under the direction of Mr. A. H. Handley. It will be remembered that this aggregation of musicians has created quite a furor in the musical world the past season by its brilliant and musically most interesting one, including in its makeup excerpts from "Faust," "Chorus of Bacchantes" by Gounod, "Phaon's 'Rite Song'" beside a number of other early and more modern arias and choruses. Edwin A. Franklin, the flute obbligato who appeared with Mary Howe a short time ago, will be with the Philharmonic Club and will play the obligato parts for his wife, a well known mezzo soprano. Such a program of wide and varied makeup cannot fail to be attractive, and a large audience is expected.

The characters, which were in costume, were as follows: in the first part, Old Mother Hubbard, Emily Wellington, Jumping Joan, Margery Sheppardson, Mary Mary Quite Contrary, Marion Stone; Curly Locks, Katherine Stone in place of Katherine Pratt who was ill; Old Woman in the basket, Dorothy Emmons. In the second part they were Mary had a Little Lamb, Helen Whitton; Little Miss Muffet, Esther Wenz; Ride a Cock horse to Banbury Cross, Harriet Hilton; Little Bo Peep, Natalie Shirley and Queen of Hearts, Edith Fisher. Cake and candy were for sale. A good sum was realized a part of which will be given to the Pomroy Home, Floating Hospital and the San Francisco sufferers' fund.

Hunnewell Club

Seven tables were in play to duplicate whist Saturday night, the prize winners being Dr. A. C. Cummings and C. R. Loring and G. S. Priest and J. F. Brown.

Patrick-Vermilye.

Mr. Henry Beveridge Patrick, son of Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Patrick of this city was married last Tuesday afternoon to Miss Annie B. Vermilye, the daughter of Mrs. William G. Vermilye of Englewood, N. J.

The ceremony took place at the home of the bride at Englewood at 4.30 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Patrick, officiating, assisted by Rev. Dr. Samuel M. Hamilton of Englewood.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Jennie T. Vermilye as maid of honor, and the Misses Christine Burtis, Amy Burr, Anna and Edith Eakin of Englewood were the bridesmaids. Alderman Thomas Weston Jr. of Newton was the best man and Messrs Arthur L. Patrick of Elyria, O., Frank B. McAllister of Cohasset, Robert Walker of New York city and Chester T. A reception followed the ceremony at five o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick will reside at 64 Putnam street, West Newton.

Briggs-Watson.

The marriage of Miss Dolena C. Watson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Watson, to Mr. Houghton S. Briggs of Cleveland, O., took place at the home of the bride, 60 Cook street, Newton Highlands on last Wednesday evening. Rev. Dr. George T. Smart of the Congregational church performed the ceremony at eight o'clock in the presence of the immediate family. The bride was dressed in white liberty satin, prettily trimmed with all over lace, silk chiffon medallions and passementerie. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Mrs. Ethel Nason of Brockton was the bridesmaid and was dressed in pink liberty satin trimmed with silk chiffon. Mr. William P. Watson of Newton Highlands was the best man. Following the ceremony, a reception was held until eleven o'clock, when the bridal couple departed on a wedding trip to New York and Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Briggs will be at home after May 30th at Euclid Beach Park, Collinwood, O.

A Criticism.

There is a natural water power of great value used from time immemorial for mill purposes at Newton Upper Falls but like a "dog in the manger" the Metropolitan Park Commission will neither utilize the power or allow it to be enjoyed by anyone else.

Until the advent of the Park Commission "Hemlock Gorge" was a place of great natural beauty: Echo Bridge was a resort not only for its beautiful architecture and surroundings but from its remarkable echo due to the water flowing underneath kept at a high level by the picturesque old mills and dams below.

So well known were these attractions that the attention of the Park Commission was called to the matter and resulted in takings in 1895 and 1898 for the Commonwealth that is for the benefit of the public, as an open space for exercise and recreation, and the Commissioners designated for the purpose under our political system, were the proper persons to assume control so that selfish interests might be restrained and the public be forever protected in its enjoyment of its natural features enhanced by a proper expenditure of public money, and the care and thought of the Commissioners paid with the public money to an amount greater than any other Commission in the State.

The attendant loss in taxes and restraint of development for private uses was but a factor considered of slight consequence in comparison with the preservation of an unusual and attractive natural feature.

It would be harsh to suggest that the Commission with all the money at their command tried to improve on nature. They were selected, of course, for their acknowledged taste, education, foresight, and general fitness for the purposes of their appointment that is to act for the public in preserving natural beauties and adding their efforts to make them available for the public use.

It was a necessary time in preserving the attraction of Hemlock Gorge was the existence of the old "Stone Mill" that for generations had taken the water from the old dam under Boylston street.

Those who have stood on the old wooden bridge with the still black expanse of water above and the white angry rapids below with the noise of the fall of water over the dam beneath and the jar of the machinery in the old mill nearby will never forget the uncanny, impressive, unique, weird effect of the surroundings.

The old saw-mill hanging over the East Branch balanced apparently in air with its flume and raceway completed the River view while the great arch, of Echo Bridge mirrored in the stream below and framing the buildings of the Silk Mill above was the ideal of the photographer and the Mecca of the lover of natural art.

The Park Commission has been in control now these many years but sad has been the result of their boasted ability and their expenditure of the money intrusted to them for the public good.

No more signs on the Street cars "To Echo Bridge" the bridge is there but no echo: the river is more a drain than anything else. No mill no old dam; no reflection of bridge and rocks and trees. True the new bridge is a curiosity, it is designed for military purposes with its roadway wide enough for an army to march over and its high buttresses of solid stone? If all the inhabitants of Wellesley should cross a hundred abreast the bridge might be fully occupied for at least ten minutes before all had passed over.

Probably the Park policeman will carry a scaling ladder so that visitors can look over the walls at the exposed river bed of mud and watch the children wade across the river as in the last summer time.

As the Commissioners were only allowed $49,000 in addition to the $60,000 they had already expended in improving (?) the river they could not build a real dam and were obliged to restrain themselves to a half moon concrete structure which in looks would disgrace a soap factory. Think of wasting a plate or breaking a camera over such an apology for beauty or utility.

Let us hope at least they will plant a few climbing vines in the river bed to cover the bareness.

Who has benefited?
Ask the tradespeople of the village: do they enjoy the loss of the $1000 that every week came to them from the well paid workmen in the mills now torn down or closed through the agency of the Commission.

Does the City of Newton find any reduction of tax rate in the wiping out of $50,000 in its assessed real estate and the loss of the tax on $77,000 more from the enforced removal of another industry and $4000 for a part of a culvert and $4000 more for its proportional expense of the work already done and an indefinite deficit for future work beyond the appropriation.

Does the Needham St. Railway find its receipts any larger since the echo ceased to echo and the Hemlock Gorge ran dry.

The public cares little, it simply goes somewhere else and the bills do not come direct and are not noticed as concealed. The blot on the landscape they do not have to look at.

Perhaps the Worcester Railway can now make forty miles an hour over double tracks, there is room enough on the bridge for a dozen tracks if they wanted and the faster the better through the swamp, there is nothing worth looking at there now.

There is a provision somewhere that when a City or Town has its own Park Commission all work done on public parks within such City or Town by the Metropolitan Park Board shall be done in conjunction and consultation with the local board but the City of Newton has not yet seen the necessity of protecting its own interests in matters vitally affecting not only the finances of the City but also the pleasure and pride of its people. Why?

Dearborn-Tedstone.

In the presence of only immediate friends and relatives Miss Lily Tedstone, daughter of Mr. Alfred Tedstone of Watertown street, West Newton, became the bride of Mr. George Cleveland Dearborn, son of Mr. George W. Dearborn, Monday evening.

The ceremony was performed at 8 by Rev. Theodore Prudden, pastor of the Second Congregational church, at the home of the groom, 518 Waltham street. The house was decorated with potted plants and cut flowers.

Miss Esther H. Dearborn was maid of honor. The best man was Mr. Warren W. Dearborn and Mr. Edward P. Hunt of Newton Centre acted as usher. The bride wore a gown of crepe de chine trimmed with Irish point lace and carried orange blossoms. The maid of honor wore white flowered muslin. After the ceremony there was a reception, Mrs. George W. Dearborn assisting. After a few weeks trip Mr. and Mrs. Dearborn will reside at West Newton.

About Town

The junk men will be few and far between the coming year if the aldermen adhere to their present policy of licensing only citizens with good reputations.

The good work done by the Newton

Young Men's Christian Association isn't half appreciated in this city. It is interesting a large number of young men and boys in a clean, manly fashion which is good to see.

Thomas H. Reed once said that "statesmen were dead politicians". We had this in mind last week in referring to the recent visit of prominent Newtonians to Washington.

Arbor Day tomorrow should be fittingly observed in the Garden city. Let every householder plant something in the line of shrub or tree.

The 10.23 train last Saturday morning from Newton was delayed over an hour by the breaking of a driving wheel of the Worcester express near Lake Crossing.

Thayer's window in Eliot block attracts the attention of many passers by. Some beautiful pieces of china and glass are displayed in a most artistic manner.

The yellow blooms of the forsythia are becoming visible along the railroad embankment and will soon make a magnificent sight.

The long needed watering carts have appeared at last, and the dust clouds are no more.

Beware of the pneumonia breeding open street car. It is a delusion and a snare at this time of year.

License your dog. This isn't an advertisement. Dog licenses are not considered worthy of advertising in this city.

New Quarters.

Mr. George W. Mills the well known undertaker, has opened new rooms at 817-819 Washington street, adjoining his former quarters in the same building. The new rooms are admirably designed for Mr. Mills business with a neatly furnished office; a beautiful reception room, in white and green with handsome mission furniture; a chapel, where funeral service can be held if desired; a work room, a morgue and an attendant room. A neatly designed lattice work separates the office and reception rooms from the remainder of the suite and adds considerably to the effectiveness of the decorations. The windows are attractive with plants and ferns, and shaded with awnings.

Mr. Mills has a special street light in front of his new rooms and has every modern convenience for the transaction of business.

Richard M. Gray, son of Joseph P. Gray, vice president of the Boston Manufacturers Mutual Fire Insurance Company, died Friday at Colorado Springs aged 19 years. Last year he went to Colorado Springs but last summer returned. In the autumn failing health compelled him to go west again and recently his parents were summoned to him. Funeral services were held from the family residence on Winthrop street West Newton, on Wednesday afternoon Rev. R. M. Green of Lowell officiating. The Mendelssohn Quartet sang and the interment was in the Newton Cemetery.

How's Your Hair?

That He Has at Last Secured a Cure for Hair Troubles.

We beg to announce to the people of Newton that we have secured the agency for one of the greatest discoveries of recent years. We refer to the prescription of Sir Erasmus Wilson, M. D., England's most successful specialist in diseases of the scalp, who was knighted for his many successes in the treatment of skin and scalp. Upon the death of Dr. Wilson this prescription was secured by American chemists and is now offered to the public under the name of Dr. Wilson's English Life to the Hair. This preparation will grow hair on bald heads even after all else fails. Unlike other hair preparations it is not sticky or greasy, but gives a live and glossy appearance to the hair. Miss Cornelia Stevens, 8 Smith Ave., Boston, Mass., says: "Dr. Wilson's English Life to the Hair grew a magnificent head of hair for me after I was told that I was becoming hopelessly bald. My hair now reaches nearly to my waist and is heavy and glossy. I cannot too highly recommend it." If you are growing bald, troubled with eruptions, dandruff scales or any scalp troubles try Dr. Wilson's Life to the Hair. Albert Chemical Co., Boston, Mass., proprietors. Sold by Arthur Hudson, 288 Washington St. Price 50 cents

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST BUSINESS COLLEGE

BESIDES giving thousands of bright boys abundant spending money (some earn $15.00 a week) we teach our boys salesmanship, that quality that commands such high salaries in the modern business world. A Brooklyn insurance man, whose son sells THE POST, writes us:

"You are probably conducting the best business college on earth, for you are not dealing with theories but with cold facts in practice, based upon your excellent methods for encouraging and helping boys in every way."

Boys who want to make money, boys who want to be taught how to win, by one of the most successful business firms in the world—these are the boys we want to hear from. We can teach you how to "play the game" and you make good money while you are learning. It doesn't cost you a cent to start—for we furnish the first supply of magazines free and you can buy your next supply with the sales of the first.

We have a booklet that tells about some of our boys—the money they have made, the extra prizes they have won and how they gained success. If you are a "success boy"—made of the right stuff—we want you to write us—right now.

The vested choir sang for the first time April 20th, 1890, and last Friday ended 16 years' service. During that time it has rendered many notable works by well known composers.

Correspondence

The Editor of the GRAPHIC:

Sir:—I have read with great interest Mr. Joseph Lee's letter stating the reasons why House Bill 748 gives the appointment of medical inspectors to the School Committee, and I have laid it down—unconvinced. Mr. Lee says that exclusion for "specific contagious disease" amounted to but 16 per cent. last year in Boston, but surely he will admit that the prompt exclusion of that 16 per cent., which does come under the control of the board of health, did more to preserve the health of the pupils in general, than the removal of the other 84 per cent., which as Mr. Lee says are outside the present sphere of the board of health.

The only excuse for daily medical inspection of schools is to detect as early as possible the presence of contagious disease, for non contagious disease does not require daily inspection in the schools, and as contagious disease is already under the direct supervision of the board of health, it is better not to complicate matters by making the inspectors responsible to the school committee. I agree heartily with Mr. Lee that the whole success of the system depends upon the teacher, and it is true that the teacher can be reached by the school committee and not by the board of health, but that "cooperation between her (the teacher) and the doctor can much more easily be brought about if the two are appointed by the same board" does not follow by any means.

Mr. Lee further says that "treatment within the school—including seating, a modification of studies, and a wise supervision of exercise—will, in the case of non contagious disease, be an important part of what this bill is calculated to achieve". I fail to find any such provision in the bill as printed, but even if it is intended to achieve this I imagine from what Mr. Lee says that it is the teacher who is to supervise this, and I cannot see that it has any bearing on the question at issue.

I do find, however, that "the school physician shall make * * * such further examination * * * of the school buildings, as in his opinion the protection of the health of the pupils may require." This seems to me to come under the supervision of the board of health.

In most places where medical inspection of schools is in force it is under the control of the board of health, in New York and Boston for example, and we all know what efficient work is done in the latter city, yet this bill particularly excepts Boston from its provisions.

If the school committee is the better body to control the matter why is Boston excepted? The sphere of the board of health is broadening every day, and I believe that this very bill broadens it still further, for it says that the "teacher shall report each morning to the head of the school the case of every child * * * returning to school without a certificate from the board of health after absence for unknown cause (the italics are mine) or on account of illness". This certainly requires the board of health to grant a certificate before a child who has been absent from school for any cause, can be readmitted. If I am right in my interpretation of that clause no further argument need be brought forward in favor of having the inspector an appointee of the board of health and qualified to give the required certificate.

In conclusion, why not allow the board of health to be what its name implies and have control over all matters of public health, whether contagious or non contagious?

Very truly yours,

Francis Geo. Curtis.

CLAFLIN GUARD NOTES.

The Claflin Guard turns out Friday night in full force, the occasion being their first minstrel show and dance. The company is assisted by a large number of well known artists and the affair is already an assured success. Corp. Claflin has put in lots of hard work as chairman of the committee, and his selection as chairman couldn't have been better.

The company held a shoot on the Lexington range Patriot's Day under Lieut. Daniels. The scores at a rule were high and showed the training the men have had at the Armory range during the winter.

Boston Theatre

Boston Theatre—As a climax to the theatrical offerings of the season in Boston, Manager Lawrence McCarthy, in co-operation with Thompson & Dundy, will next Monday night present at the Boston Theatre the first of the great New York Hippodrome shows, "A Yankee Circus on Mars." Then, for a limited engagement, this stupendous attraction, which is in reality a combination of spectacle, circus, pantomime, drama, musical comedy and specialty performances, will be on view every afternoon and evening. The matinees will begin promptly at 2 o'clock and evening performances at 8. "A Yankee Circus on Mars" is in two acts, the first of which is located on this terrestrial sphere and the other on the war planet. The opening scene discloses a traveling circus of the familiar type picturesquely encamped on a village "lot." It is "circus day," with all its manifold joys. An attachment for debt is followed by a sheriff's sale of the enterprise and the flashing upon the scene of a messenger from Mars commissioned by His Majesty of the planet Mars to purchase a "Yankee Circus," and convey it to the kingdom. The transaction is completed and the journey begun by airship as the scene changes. In the royal courtyard of Mars the "Yankee Circus" provides entertainment which embraces the sensational triumphs of the age and of the world.

"You can please all of the people some
of the time, some of the people all of the time, but you'll have a devil's own time trying to please all the people all the time."

A visit to Nonantum recently and a careful inspection of the district, leads the GRAPHIC to suggest that the best site for the proposed new school building is on the Bemis estate adjoining the North Church. The site is high and dry, and easily reached from all parts of Nonantum. It is a fact that on account of the congestion of Nonantum, the new school building, unless it is to be placed on the main street, must be located on the side of the district. Such being the case, it is the part of wisdom to place the new building, that it will not only serve the present, but will be available for future growth as well. The Bemis site has this distinct advantage over all others suggested, in that it is within easy reach of the undeveloped land around California street, west of Bridge street and to that portion of the village around the Watertown end of California street. A building placed on the Bemis lot would be only three quarters of a mile from the furthest limits of the district, no further than many of the children now have to walk to reach the Mann school.

This location would also avoid any possible controversy with present residents of the Bigelow district, a factor in the question which we believe neither the School committee nor the aldermen have as yet given the consideration it deserves. The removal of 120 pupils from the Bigelow school to the Nonantum, or new Ward One school (as some prefer to call it) in case the building is located somewhere in the vicinity of Laundry brook, would only be accompanied by a protest from indignant parents which would greatly injure the schools and cause endless friction and irritation. We trust the matter will be settled with a thorough knowledge of both present and future conditions and not on theoretical and strictly geographical grounds.

The contributions for the relief of San Francisco which have been pouring in all the past week are a magnificent tribute to the American people and make one's heart thrill with love of country and of our fellow man. Newton has not been behind in the good work, altho many of our richest citizens have contributed through the various Boston agencies, instead of through Mayor Warren's office. A total of rising $2500 in direct contributions, with $2000 more given through the churches and more coming, however, shows that Newton, can and will do its share in the good work.

A Cabinet Suggestion.

Washington advises are that Congressman John W. Weeks is being considered for a cabinet position—the Navy portfolio.
Once more has Teddy shown a rare
good sense.
In naming Weeks for head of sea-defence.
A seasoned broker, in "flotation" strong.
Well up in "sails," born of experience long.
"To Adams," no stranger, right at home on "board."
Acquainted with "big guns" at home—abroad.
"Checks" to the fore, "forced draughts"
and things like these.
Come to him easy as his A. B. C's,
In "Iron," "Coal" and "Steel" he's traded daily.
No chance to foist on him material
seamy.
The "Copper" bottoms cannot daze our Weeks.
He's just a "calker," too, at stopping
"leaks".
In "launching" he is up on all the "ways".
In handling "stocks," he never finds ought to feaze.
With such "equipment," Mr. President,
we know.
That you will hand him this "Port" folio.

Vaudeville.

The Amateurs, a local organization of young ladies gave a vaudeville show in Bray hall, Newton Centre, Wednesday evening for the benefit of the Mother's Rest. The hall was well filled and the performance was greatly enjoyed. The program included two little plays, one "An Automobile Comedy" in which the Misses Alice and Julia Colby and Messrs. Harvey Davis and Gerald Sea-bury took part, and "Frenzied Finance" with Messrs. H. H. Day, R. V. Degen, and H. A. Tomlinson in the cast. The Amateurs, the Misses Stiles, Spearo, Colby, Harrington, Parks, A. Kidder,
E. Kidder, Hammond, Rand Myers, gave "Raining," "Moon Dear," and "Heine" and "Vacation Time" being assisted in the last by Messrs. H. and C. Johnson.
Miss McIntosh gave the monologue,
"The Miller's bill." Miss Harrington a Spanish Dance and Fox and Richards of the Cadets were seen and heard in "A little Bit of Nonsense."

The first number was from the pen of Miss Julia Colby and was very clever in lines and acting. "Raining" was a charming costume dance and song with Miss Stiles in the solo part, while
"Moon Dear" another dance with song, had special work by the Misses Harrington and Stiles.

Miss Harrington's Spanish dance was given with much spirit and grace and in a charming costume.
Great credit is due Miss Lillian Harrington, for through her untiring energy and clever management the affair was brought to a successful issue. The young ladies of the Amateur Club expressed their appreciation by presenting her with an armful of flowers.

The entertainment was followed by a dance which was very enjoyable, and participated in by about two hundred.
The program cover was designed by Mr. Charles Copeland.

Serious Accident.

Last evening as little Helen Moran, the daughter of Martin Moran was playing on Washington street near the engine house she was struck by a hack, in which were two men, driving towards Brighton. The child was knocked down the wheels passing over her, fracturing her hip and breaking her arm. She was taken into Hudson's drug store and later removed to the Newton hospital where she is in a critical condition. The hack did not stop and the driver whipped up his horses and disappeared as rapidly as possible.

Police Paragraphs.

A rough and tumble affair last night in which Officer Dalton figured as the hero, resulted in a court sentence this morning of two months in the House of Correction for Jesse Knight of Chelsea.
A disturbance last evening about 9.30 o'clock in front of A. O. U. W. hall, West Newton, in which a colored dance was being held attracted Dalton's attention and he arrested Orland Davis, colored, of West Newton. Reaching the grounds around police headquarters, Dalton was attacked by two or three negroes who attempted to release his prisoner. In the scuffle, Knight twisted Dalton's arm so severely that Dalton let go of Davis and seized Knight, and landed him in the police station. Davis will be summoned to Court later for his share in the affair.

Lieut. Harrison has received word that his brother and family of San Francisco have survived the earthquake and fire.

James "Dilled" the Market.
A proud mother tells the following story of her hopeful young son of seven:
"James has always had an eye to a bit of money making wherever possible. The other day I was called from home rather suddenly and, being obligated to leave the baby asleep in her cradle, told James that he must keep watch over little sister and promised him 10 cents for his trouble. When I reached my husband's office, where James knew I was to stop, I found a telephone message awaiting me. My young financier wanted me to call him up, which I did. He wanted to know whether I didn't think his job worth a quarter if the baby should wake up. I knew the baby pretty well and felt safe in agreeing to this demand, for she always slept the morning through.
Before I hung up the receiver, however, what was my amazement to hear James screaming at the poor little darling:
"Wake up! Wake up, kid! Buddy's going to 'muse you'!"

Knew His Business.
A merchant whose daughter had married a man with whom it proved she could not get on very well was much surprised some weeks later to see the young lady return home again with all her belongings.
The old man listened very attentively to her story and then went to his desk and wrote a note to his son-in-law, which he gave to his daughter, assuring her that her husband would receive her kindly after this.

The pair on reading the letter found it fit the following notice:
Dear Sir—Goods that have been selected of one's own free will with my establishment are not taken back again.

The young couple laughed heartily and were reconciled.
Always Biting.
Gunner—So that distinguished gentleman in the tall hat is your leading citizen, eh? Has he received many degrees from the different colleges?
Gayer—Ina de? Why, he has received —many degrees we call him the "human thermometer."—Chicago News.

All the Fault of the Magpies.

I was one day returning from a drive when I came upon a solitary magpie sitting on a tree. It preceded me to settle on two trees in succession along the drive, and then flew away.
Shortly afterward three cuckoos happened—first, a picture fell down;
second, about half a ton of thick plaster fell from a ceiling in a room close to the dining room while dinner was in progress; third, the hot water boiler burst and a new one had to be put in.
I make no remarks upon these curious coincidences, but it is a fact that they happened.

Three years ago I was on a motor car tour in Cornwall. One day I saw a magpie and had a bad puncture within an hour. Two days afterward, seeing another single magpie, I had a bad puncture. The next day, I think, I saw another single magpie. I said to my cousin who was with me,
"I wonder what is going to happen this time." The words were hardly out of my mouth before one of my driving chains broke and flew off the sprocket, fortunately without harm.—
Country Life.

Presence of Mind.

Presence of mind is a quality much talked of, much honored and little cultivated. Yet, like most other good things in the world, it requires cultivation to bring it to any degree of perfection, for in very few cases is it a natural gift. Some people there are doubtless to whom it comes naturally and by instinct to do the right things at the right time and place, but they are few in number. Then, again, some people are by nature cooler headed than their neighbors and do not shout or otherwise become useless just when their services are required. But this quiet composure, though very valuable, is not quite the same thing as presence of mind. The latter consist not only in having your wits ready for use, but in knowing how to use them and being sufficiently calm and steady in mind to remember and turn to account that knowledge. From the earliest possible age children should be taught self control and the instinct of trying to remedy any mistake or accident they may encounter.

Too Late.

"Madam," said the grateful census enumerator, "you have replied courteously and kindly to all my questions.
Unlike nearly every person I have met since I began this work, you have not treated me as if I were an enemy and an intruder. I have answered satisfactorily all the questions as to age, physical condition and ownership of property. Your conduct meets my hearty approval not only as a government officer, but as a citizen, and, with your permission, I will ask you a question not down in my list. Are you engaged to be married to anybody?"
"I am, sir," replied the handsome widow, blushing and smiling.
"I feared so," said the census taker, with a sigh. And he put on his hat and went out into the cold world again, his faith in human nature restored, but his heart broken.

Japanese Swords.

"Japanese swords are the finest,"
said a swordmaker. "They are finer than the blades of Ferrara, of Toledo or of Damascus. The blades of Ferrara, of Toledo and of Damascus must be bent into a perfect circle without breaking, and a pillow of down being thrown in the air, they must cut it in two with one clean stroke, but the Japanese blade must do all that and more. The final test of a Japanese blade is its suspension, edge upward, beneath a tree. It must hang beneath the tree for twenty-four hours, and every lightest leaf that falls upon its edge must be severed neatly. One failure and back to the forge goes the Japanese blade again."

Envious Canada.

There is a great deal of gush about the charming and all conquering American girl. What is the truth about this much heralded dame? The most attractive American is she who is educated abroad, who imitates the voice of the Englishwoman and the dress of the Frenchwoman and who uses the money acquired from Chicago park or New York stocks to buy so far as such things may be bought, the old world guise of speech and attire.—Canadian Magazine.

A Japanese Proverb.

A Japanese proverb worth remembering:
"He who knows not and knows not that he knows not is a fool. Shun him."
"He who knows not and knows that he knows not is humble. Teach him."
"He who knows and knows not that he knows is asleep. Wake him."
"He who knows and knows that he knows is a wise man. Follow him."

The Remedy.

"I am greatly troubled with kleptomania," exclaimed the fashionably dressed woman as she bustled into the drug department. "Now, what would you advise me to take for it?"
"Your departure, madam, by all means," replied the floorwalker, and bowed her to the elevator. Puck.

Two of a Kind.

"You say that Fido Jim came to his end through contributory negligence?"
"Yes," answered Broncho Bob. "He showed down four axes in a poker game, an' two of 'em was the ace of diamonds."—Washington Star.

Great Provocation.

"You say, madam, that you were under great excitement when you struck this woman?"
"Yes. She had just found the family Bible with my age in it."

The poorest people on earth are those who make the most of what they have and the least of what they are.

Guild Vaudeville.

The Vaudeville presented by the Eliot Guild at the Humwell club last evening drew out a large and representative audience. It was the first time the gentlemen were allowed to witness a Guild performance and many of the male sex, having heard rumors of the excellent entertainments given in the past, grasped the opportunity and turned out in large numbers. This organization holds the same place, regarding the feminine side of the life of Eliot church, as the William H. Davis Club does for the male side. It certainly proved to be a most entertaining program and the Young Men's Club will have to look to their laurels next year. One of the members said some weeks ago: "The young men had a fine performance but the young ladies have talent and intend showing what they can do." They certainly kept their word as all who were present will testify. The program stated that the instigators of the show were the Misses Ethel S. Gilman, Carolyn H.
Childs and Helen H. Howes and that the victims were the audience. Miss Jennie L. Haskell, as Mile Paderevski was at the piano and part first consisted of an original stretch entitled, "It happened on Thursday," in which Miss Amy Beale took the part of the child and Miss Fenna the part of the nurse with a delicious Irish brogue. Part two was in four sections the first being a dance by Mrs. W. T. Coppins, Mrs. R.
W. Angier, Miss Mary Childs and Miss Manning entitled, "The Four Flings" in which they sang the popular song, "Linger, Linger, Lou." Then followed Miss Mary Hollings as Yetta Guilletta in some of her vocal successes, Miss Helen S. Howes and Miss Ethel Howard gave an original and fetching dance in which a false limb and foot did the high kicking to the great delight of the audience.
"The Parasol Girls," the Misses Carolyn
H. Childs, Harriet Reid, Dora Haddon, Grace Leach and Mrs. Ralph E. Towle, sang a quaint conceit, "Pansy Faces," in artistic costume and with an appropriate dance. The third part was the two act grand opera, "Postum and Peruna," by the composer of Parsival given by the company from the Metropolitan Opera House and by courtesy of Herr Conrad. The character part of Postum was taken by Sig. Tenori, Miss Louise Peterson; Bandit Chief, Sig. Pomposo,
Mrs. Everett E. Kent; Peruna, Miss Squallini, Miss Ruth Page and Miss Howes took all the minor parts of chorus, peasants, soldiers, etc. The final part was as entertaining as the others, the first portion being little Miss Marie Parks who appeared in an old fashioned dress and recited the pretty poem,
"Grandma," with the minut steps for an accompaniment. The Misses Reid, Hobart, Merrihew and Cobb gave the popular Dutch song "Heine" impersonating the Rotterdam Fliedias in the quaint Dutch dress, with the wooden sabots and caps. Miss Alva C. Cummings as Miss Alabama gave the famous selection "The Goose with One Leg," from Col. Carter of Cartersville, a darker dialect piece, and the program was completed with the rendering of,
"That's what the Daisy Said," by Mrs.
Towle as Marguerite and the Guild as the bunch of daisies. Every part of the program received encores, floral tributes were in profusion and at the close many expressed the wish that the show be repeated at an early date.

Newtonville.

—Mr. W. H. Pearson of Madison avenue has moved to Revere.

—Mr. J. R. Prescott of Crafts street is improving from a severe attack of rheumatism.

—Mr. S. F. Heath, manager of the Kilgore Automobile Air Cushion Co. has taken the house No. 50 Lothrop street.

—Mr. Robbins G. Woodman was in New York this week to see his mother and sister off for Europe, the two ladies sailing on Tuesday.

—Mrs. Mary R. Martin has received word that her brother Mr. Henry C. Coolidge of San Francisco is alive and well after the earthquake. Mr. Goodridge formerly resided in Newton Centre.

—Rev. Eleanor Forbes of Gray, Maine occupied the pulpit of the Universalist church last Sunday morning. The Rev. Miss Forbes was a former member of the church and has many friends here.

—Miss Florence Thresher of Los Angeles, Cal., a former resident of this place, came on from California with Miss Lydia Dennison and is a guest at the Dennison residence on Kirkstall road.

—The last meeting for the season of the Every Saturday Club will be held Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Richardson on Highland avenue. Officers will be elected and the program for next year will be discussed.

—The Easter celebration in the Sunday school connected with the New Church took place on Sunday. An interesting feature was the giving of books to those who have reached the ages of seven and fourteen years.

—The Newton high school base ball team will play the Rindge Manual Training School team this afternoon, the Gloucester team Saturday afternoon, the Mechanics Arts Tuesday and the Winchester high team Thursday, all on the home grounds.

—Mrs. Sarah Wetmore Jackson celebrated her 80th birthday at the home of her daughter Mrs. Mary A. Mitchell on Bowers street last Friday. Many friends called to offer congratulations and she was the recipient of numerous presents and bouquets of flowers.

—The many friends of Mrs. Geo. F. Kimball and her daughter Helen will be glad to learn that they escaped injury during the earthquake and fire at San Francisco when they were stopping at the Occidental Hotel on their return from Honolulu. They are now on their way East.

—The many friends here of Mr. and Mrs. Austin H. Clark, who are in San Francisco, will be pleased to learn of their safety. The Albatross, on which Mr. Clark intended sailing for Japan has been detained for relief duty. Others who have been heard from are Mrs. John Carter and Mrs. James Bergstrom.

—In the Central church parlors last Wednesday afternoon an Easter luncheon was served by the ladies of the Charity Square. Mrs. Feltman, the president, presided and the proceeds were for home missions. Rev. Mr. Stocking spoke on home mission work and several letters were read from workers in the field.

—Several gifts are just being used at St. John's church. Among these are the kneeling benches, the new Communion cup and the altar linen, the latter being the gift of the Young Woman's Club. A fresh set of letters and numbers for the hymn board was also a gift of the club and are greatly appreciated by the congregation.

—Rev. Franklin S. Hatch of Newton gave his lecture on "India," at Central church last Tuesday evening. There was a good sized audience, and the speaker described, in an interesting way, the scenery and architecture of the country principally in northern India and Ceylon. The lecture was profusely illustrated, many of the slides being colored.

—About one o'clock yesterday, a pair of horses attached to the oil team of the New England Oil Co. created considerable excitement by running away. They started from Newtonville square and ran south on Walnut street without doing any damage until near Kirkstall road, when they ran upon the sidewalk and the team knocked down a portion of Mrs. Kimball's stone wall. There was no other damage.

Newtonville.

—Miss Leila A. Vose, 23 Page road, is recovering from her recent painful illness.

—Mr. Edward Jones Cox of Brooks avenue has been elected historian of the Massachusetts Society, Sons of the American Revolution.

—The Polymnia concert at the Newton Club last night should make Newton proud to be the home of a club that sings such music and sings it so well as does the Polymnia under Madame Martinez' skilful baton. The club deserves the support and the co-operation of music lovers throughout our city. A review of the concert will appear next week.

—Mrs. Melinda Graham Hicks, wife of Mr. William Thomas Hicks of Austin street died at the Newton hospital Tuesday night following a surgical operation. She was a native of Prince Edward's Island, and was 39 years of age. Her husband and six children survive her. Funeral services will be held from St. John's church this afternoon, Rev. R. T. Loring officiating, and the burial will be in Newton Cemetery.

Mr. Hills is 50 years and 7 months old, and with him live his father, Richard Hills, aged 79 years and 8 months, his son Robert Edgar Hills 27 years 7 months and his grandson Edgar Prescott Hills two weeks old. The family is of English descent coming originally from Ashford, Kent County, England.

—In a recent list of New England people safe and uninjured in the San Francisco disaster is the name of Miss Helen Knowlton, daughter of Mrs. Hosea M. Knowlton of Hillside avenue. Miss Knowlton is a graduate of the New Bedford high school and going west to complete a college education at Stanford University.

—Mr. Herbert C. Hall passed away at his home in Berkeley street Wednesday of pneumonia after a short illness. He was 55 years of age. A wife and two children survive him. Deceased was connected with the firm of John C. Hall & Co., ship brokers of State street, Boston, and was a member of the board of directors of Boston Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Hall was an attendant at the Unitarian church. The funeral will be held from the house this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

—At the Northgate Club last Friday evening a farce comedy entitled "Sunbonnets" was presented by the Junior Guild of St. John's church. The stage manager was Mrs. Helen Adelaide Shaw and the character parts were taken by the Misses Marjorie Brown, Helen Gould, Vera Rumery, Dorothy Cunningham, Edith Mowry, Evelyn Cunningham, Marjorie Hill, Mildred Brown, Louise Hill, Eleanor West and May Anderson. At the close of the stage entertainment dancing was enjoyed.

—A pretty wedding took place at St. Bernard's rectory Wednesday evening, April 18 when Lawrence Nichols Kirke of Waltham was united in marriage to Miss Ellen Louise Gleason of West Newton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Chas. J. Calligan, and was witnessed by many friends. The bride was attended by Miss Nellie Gleason, cousin of the bride, while Mr. Hardigan of Waltham acted as best man. A reception followed the ceremony at the bride's home, 323 River street, at which only the near friends attended. Mr. and Mrs. Kirke will reside on Hammond street, Waltham.

SAN FRANCISCO

The Newton Fund is Rapidly Growing

Nearly $5000 raised by Churches and City

While many of our business men have sent in their contributions to the relief of the San Francisco sufferers through the Boston agencies, the funds which have been raised in various ways in Newton amount to a considerable sum and are still growing. The Episcopal churches take up a collection next Sunday and in other denominations additional contributions will be raised.

The fund collected under direction of Mayor Warren amounts this morning to $2461.33 and the list of contributors will be found below. Many churches have sent in their money to the mayor and will be found duly credited. Other sums were as follows:

The Newtonville Woman's Guild held its annual meeting on Tuesday, April 17 at the New Church parlors. The annual reports were interesting and showed a prosperous year's work. The Guild voted to contribute $300 towards the fund which is being raised to purchase the Clavin estate for the use of the city and $200 to the charities of the club. The following list of officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden; vice presidents, Mrs. A. P. Walker, Mrs. R. B. Sherman, Mrs. H. B. Hackett, Mrs. A. H. Soden, Mrs. H. H. Carter, Mrs. Geo. H. Talbot, Mrs. W. Hollings, Mrs. J. F. Bancher, Mrs. C. W. Leonard, Mrs. Chas. Meserve, Mrs. W. H. Lucas, Mrs. H. V. Jones; recording secretary, Mrs. John Martin; corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. M. Bridges; treasurer, Mrs. Geo. P. Cooke; auditor, Mrs. Calvert Cray; directors, terms expire 1910, Mrs. A. E. Vose, Mrs. F. E. French. Tea was served at the close.

The Monday Club of Newton Highlands enjoyed a luncheon at Mrs. Strong's in Waban on Monday. The program which followed consisted of music and a lecture by Mrs. Margaret Deland on "The Duty of Happiness." The annual meeting will occur next Monday at Miss White's.

The Ladies' Home Circle will hold its annual meeting on Wednesday afternoon, May 2nd, at the Unitarian church, West Newton. It is hoped that every member will be present. Annual reports and election of officers.

The Social Science Club will hold its last meeting for the season on Wednesday morning, May 2nd. This will be the monthly business meeting.

The Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will hold its annual meeting at Channing church, Newton, Thursday, May 3rd, at 10.30. Luncheon will be served at one o'clock. The afternoon program will consist of music, readings, etc. contributed by members of the various clubs and illustrating the work done by them. Tickets at fifty cents each for the luncheon must be obtained from the presidents of the clubs previous to the meeting as no tickets will be sold on that day. The Monday Club will act as hostess.

April 23 was observed as Childrens Day by the Waban Womans Club. About one hundred and forty children were entertained by vaudeville given by children from the dramatic club of the Dorchester Dix Hall.

"The Peach of Emerald Hue," the opening number, acted and sung by the entire club, was particularly well done, also "Sambo and Dinah" by two lovely children in red and black motley. "The Jack O'Lantern Man" most impressively sung by six little white-robed figures seemed an echo of the "Pearl and the Pumpkin," this, with pantomimes and other bits of clever acting, charmed the children as well as interested the many grown ups present.

The Social Science Club met at the Hunnewell Club on Wednesday morning, April 25. After a brief business session the paper of the morning was given by Miss Mary L. Speare on "The Power of Individuality." It was a beautiful paper full of suggestion, of quiet, subtle humor of which the writer has a keen sense and of inspiring thoughts, and her hearers felt at the end that they should go away the better for it. As examples of the individuality which she upheld she mentioned Whittier, Alice Freeman Palmer, Beethoven, Murillo, Dr. Samuel Johnson, Aaron Burr was introduced as a type of bad individuality and Mark Fagan, the Mayor of Jersey City, as the glory of the good. It was a fitting close to the year's work.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bail of Walnut street, Newton Highlands, opened their home on Tuesday evening for the concert given by the chorus of the Monday Club. The chorus showed careful, thorough work under the leadership of Miss Katherine L. Bail, the readings by Miss Grace Vaughn Bail were fine, especially the selection "A Man Without a Country," while Master Glassman is a violinist of unusual promise. The affair proved one of the most enjoyable social occasions of the winter. The following program was rendered:

Moon Rise ..... Chorus
H. Trovatore ..... Master Glassman
Song at Sunrise ..... Chorus

DEAR FRIEND—

I ask your attention to my Spring Line of Shoes, representing the expenditure of a good deal of time and money, and I can truthfully and honestly say that they are the best I have ever shown.

I desire to add your name this season to my list of customers and know of no better way to do so than ask you to come and carefully examine my line. I'm sure it contains greater value than it is possible for you to procure elsewhere and believe an examination of my shoes will fully demonstrate it. May I have this opportunity?

I trust I may hear from you.

Word from Dr. Frisbie.

A scientific description of the earthquake wave which was felt in Santa Cruz in connection with the San Francisco earthquake was given in a letter received this week from Dr. Jesse F. Frisbie who is in that city.

Dr. and Mrs. Frisbie have been passing most of the winter in California. They were due to arrive at the Palace hotel, San Francisco, the day of the earthquake, from Santa Barbara, and lack of word from them greatly alarmed their many friends in this city.

Dr. Frisbie is an authority on scientific subjects, having made geology and similar subjects a long study. Being delayed en route to San Francisco Dr. and Mrs. Frisbie felt the severe shock in Santa Cruz. Of this shock he writes as follows:

"A little after 5 a. m. we were awakened by the house trembling, shaking and rolling. I instantly knew that we were in the midst of an earthquake."

"The first thing I did was to endeavor to learn the direction and impulse of the earthquake wave. It was irregular in several ways. First a shock seemed to come from the Pacific and move eastward. The second was almost at right angles to this. There were several soon afterward, during the forenoon and afternoon, all of which seemed to come from the direction of the first."

"The earthquake did no damage to the house in which we were stopping, but did a great deal of damage in the city. Chimneys were thrown down, brick and stone buildings cracked and roofs were hurled bodily to the ground. Articles on shelves and tables were thrown to the floor and broken."

"In some stores great havoc was raised. Goods were strewn over the floors and damaged."

"The electric car buildings of Santa Cruz were damaged. Lights and cars were put out of commission. It was late in the afternoon before traffic could be resumed. The telephone and telegraph instruments were not of any use. The city was entirely cut off from the outside world. The railway service was also demoralized and it was sometime before trains were run at all."

"The effect of the earthquake on the people was like that of seasickness. Many persons complained of feeling ill after the shock."

Dr. Frisbie stated that just as the letter was being written the report had come in that a mountain slide had buried 15 or 20 men up the valley and that only part of the bodies had been recovered. He evidently did not know of any trouble in San Francisco, the letter having been written the same day that the earthquake occurred there, as he stated that with Mrs. Frisbie he would continue his trip going next to San Francisco.

Santa Cruz is situated 82 miles south of San Francisco on the bay opposite the town of Monterey. Much of the city near the coast is honeycombed by action of the waves so at times the earth caves in. It is believed a strange fact that the earthquake did not cause a large section of the city to cave in.

Dr. and Mrs. Frisbie will continue their trip through California and will return to Newton about the middle of May.

Rumery-Bullock.

The wedding of Miss Bertha Mae Bullock, daughter of Charles Bullock of North Adams, and Mr. Arthur F. Rumery, son of Mrs. Mary A. Rumery of Rockland pt, this city, took place Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Albert Glover, Newton Upper Falls. The ceremony was performed by Rev. O. W. Scott, pastor of the First M. E. church, Newton Upper Falls. The best man was Mr. Irving Hill of Goodwin's Mills, Me., and the maid of honor was Miss Laura Hill of the same place, both being cousins of the bride. The bride wore a gown of white lawn with valenciennes insertion and white silk trimmings. She wore pinks in her hair. The maid of honor wore figured organdie over white, and also wore pinks in her hair. A reception followed, the best man and maid of honor assisting

Y. M. C. A.

The Minstrel Show at the Y. M. C. A. on May and will be the last of the season and likewise the best. Messrs. Blue, Hadden and Myers will rattle the bones, and Messrs. Tabaldi, Longbottom and Leonard will use the tambos. All are experienced end-men and excellent singers. A quartet will sing. The chorus is large and well drilled. Mr. E. O. Childs Jr. will act as interlocutor and Mr. Emerson R. Bailey has general supervision over the show.

At the last meeting of the Board of Directors the whole time was given up to the discussion of the Junior work of the association. Mr. Ellison, the chairman of the boys' work, presented a report of the year's work and compared it with that of a year ago. An interesting discussion followed and plans were made to strengthen the work for the coming year. The junior membership is large and the work is in fine condition.

The senior base ball candidates were out for practice Saturday. There were more than enough for two teams. Most of the last year's team reported and several new men. G. S. Newcomb and Geo. S. Naden have been chosen to jointly manage the team.

The annual meeting of the association will be held on May 7th. The members of the Board of Directors will be chosen at this time and reports given. It is planned to make this meeting a social gathering and one to be enjoyed by all the members.

Mrs. Edward F. Barnes.

Words Spoken by Rev. Jay T. Stocking at her funeral April 17.

It is not easy at such an hour as the present to speak the adequate word of interpretation. It is less easy when one must speak from only a brief acquaintance. Yet even the acquaintance of an hour may, to one observant, reveal the great outlines, the giant features, of character. You take your stand at a lofty point and look off a moment on the hilly horizon, then you turn away. You can not reproduce the entire horizon, its many elevations and depressions, but certain great outstanding features remain with you, they are distinct. It is out of some such experience as this that I speak today of her about whom we are gathered. I shall never forget an hour of one winter's afternoon spent in her beautiful home on the hill. I remember it not for the charming view of the city from the window, but for the glimpse it gave me of the vigor of one woman's soul.

On the morning when Mrs. Barnes left us, the physician encouraged her with the words that she would soon feel better. "For five years," she replied, "I have been waiting for that." "For five years." These words indicate what her sufferings for these years had been, abundantly proving, her bravery. This was one of her most distinguishing characteristics. There was no mistaking it. You felt that you were in the presence of a courageous soul, in battle, and one might add—a losing battle. It is hard enough to fight when the contest is favorable. But to press on up the hill with a song and a cheer when you find the ground slipping beneath your feet with every step, requires a courage born not of flesh but of the Almighty. This soul bravery was a signal distinction of hers.

Then there was her patience. "For five years I have waited," "and," her friends add, "waited patiently." Patience does not always accompany courage, but it is a companion of the highest type of courage, the courage that waits and marks time. Some one has written a little book entitled "The Greatness of Patience." As year adds itself to year of my life, the one attribute of God that in my mind towers above all other attributes is His patience. Greater than His mercy, or His pity, is His infinite willingness to wait. And this means the exaltation of patience among the human virtues. Great is patience, the willingness to wait as she waited, in whose memory we meet today.

Then again, no one could miss her sunny temper. It always distinguished her, gave her the winsomeness for which she was known. That afternoon of which I have spoken, the dying sun was painting the west in its most glorious colors, across the room the grate burned cheerily. But it was not the sunlight of the West that impressed me most, nor the sunlight beneath the mantle, come back again, but the light of a human face, all the more beautiful because it shined in the light of her crutches. That day she made light of her crutches, she laughed at her cane. The sunny temper was her habit. Her smiles and cheer she kept for her friends; if she wept, she wept alone.

Another trait which her friends would quickly mention is her thoughtful generosity. She found it more to her heart to give than to receive. On the eve of her going she saw to it that those she loved had their Easter gifts. The very night before, she remembered the sick with Easter flowers. This same spirit of generosity marked her in all her relations. In the home-making, among her friends, in the church, wherever she was needed, she was generous of herself.

There is yet one thing of which I must speak—her faith. It was this that gave meaning to all her virtues. It bound them together. She did not parade her religious life. I do not recall that she spoke of God. It is not always necessary to do so in talking about even the deepest things. But there was no need of formal announcement of her faith, it was there to be seen. It is this that gives to life its greatest strength, its finest adornment.

Emma Lewis Barnes fell asleep on Easter morning, and this was most fitting. For the message of the day, and the message of her life, is one—immortality. There is little doubt that we differ widely among ourselves as to the nature of immortality, but when we see such elements in life as characterized her, how can there be doubt as to the fact of immortality. I believe in immortal life because I see people living immortally. We should doubtless have difficulty in agreeing upon a definition of Christianity. I am skeptical of all attempts to define it adequately. I choose rather to illustrate it. This signal bravery in a long losing battle, this commanding patience, this good cheer from the heart, this generous giving of oneself, this sense of God—in a word this immortal kind of life—this is Christianity—and may the Mighty Father help us all to show the eager world more of it.

PROBATE COURT.

MIDDLESEX SS.
To the heirs-at-law, devisees and legatees and all other persons interested in the estate of Elizabeth H. Angier, late of Newton in said County, deceased.
WHEREAS George A. Mason administrator with the will annexed of the estate of said deceased, has presented to said Court his petition for license to sell at private sale, in accordance with the offer named in said petition, or upon such terms as may be adjudged best, the whole of a certain parcel of the real estate of said deceased for the payment of debts, legacies and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Lowell in said County of Middlesex, on the fifteenth day of May, A. D. 1906, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy hereof to each person interested in the estate, fourteen days, at least, before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper published in Newton the last publication to be one day at least, before said Court.

Witness, Charles J. McIntire, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-fourth day of April, in the year one thousand nine hundred and six.

W. E. ROGERS, Register.

WE BELIEVE

The Newton Markets are noted for carrying the Highest Quality of BEEF and LAMB.

The market opened by us is strengthening this reputation and we think you will consider this a true statement if you will take the trouble to look at the BEEF displayed at our store, some of which has been cut from a well fed steer weighing over 1100 pounds. A few well fed young lambs may also be seen at the little market. We hope you will look at the beef for we think you will be tempted to buy from its appearance.

We have bought the best BEEF and LAMB that the wholesale market affords and if you happen to buy some of it you will, no doubt have a very pleasant remembrance of us when you eat the meat and no lead to further orders.

We are already doing a nice business and we take this opportunity to heartily thank our customers for their orders.

Coming Attractions

Keith's Theatre—An announcement that will probably create unusual comment among the amusement seekers of Boston and vicinity, especially the music-loving portion of the population is that which emanates from Keith's Boston theatre in regard to the coming engagement of Creatore and his Italian band at that popular playhouse the week commencing April 20. Creatore, although still a young man, is recognized as one of the foremost bandmasters of the world. On his recent tour of the United States, he and his famous musical organization were the rage of every city which they visited, as likewise the case on his more recent tour of Great Britain. Although he never uses a score, his every movement is perfect interpretation—music made visible as motion. Creatore and his band will give concerts of high-class and popular music twice daily and it is a safe assumption to make that Keith's will be the Mecca of musiclovers all over New England. The surrounding show is a notable one, including many entertainers who will be making their first trip to Boston, and others who have not been seen at Keith's within a year. Included in the list will be the Pekin Zouaves, 17 in number, in a great exhibition of lightning military evolutions; Seymour and Hill, comedy acrobats; Eddie Leonard and the Sharp Boys, in "Dixieland"; Tom Hearn, skilful English comedy juggler; Henry Atkinson, mini-at the special Wednesday matinee, will be "The Labyrinth." The theme of the play is a striking discussion of the modern divorce problem, it being the author's idea that a legal separation between a man and woman once wedded is a hideous thing, especially so when children have been born to cement the marital tie. He proves his argument in dialogue which is epigrammatic and through a series of stage pictures which tell a tragic story. In the role of Mariamne, an honorable woman, the wife of two men, who divorces her first husband for infidelity and returns to him again because he is the father of her child, Miss Nethersole is said to have found a role most congenial to her emotional attainments. The remaining performances of the first week will be devoted to presentations of "Sapho." Miss Nethersole will present an exacting repertoire during her second week, being seen in "Magda," "Carmen," "Camille," and "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," in addition to further presentations of "The Labyrinth" and "Sapho." Miss Nethersole is supported by a specially engaged London company of forty people. During the engagement there will be matinees on Wednesdays and Saturdays at 2 o'clock.

Grand Opera House—"McFadden's Flats" brightly new and furnished with a glittering new outfit of scenery, costumes, music, jokes and pretty girls will be the welcome attraction at the Boston Grand Opera House next week. This clever farce comedy was founded on themes suggested by the sketches and pictures known as the "Yellow Kids." The stories were written by E. W. Townsend of "Chimmie Fadden" fame, and the pictures were drawn by R. F. Outcault. The dramatization was made by Mr. Townsend aided by the collaboretic comedian, and Inness and Ryan, in a comedy and singing specialty. An entire new list of comedy and interesting motion pictures will be exhibited in the kinetograph.

Tremont Theatre—Bertha Kalich's first Boston appearance as an English-speaking star at the Tremont this week is a repetition of the success she has met with in other cities. The emotional power and finished technique of this young actress are a veritable revelation to those to whom until this season she was unknown. Her portrayal of the difficult role of Mona Vanna in Maeterlinck's poetic play of that name stamps Madame Kalich as a dramatic actress of exceptional talent, whose place among the foremost players on our stage is assured. For here second and last week at the Tremont, beginning April 30th, Madame Kalich will be seen in Zola's masterly drama, "Therese Raquin," which contrasted with the Maeterlinck play will give an emphatic illustration of the range of her talents. "Therese Raquin" has all the realism which is the keynote of Zola's writings. It is life, reproduced with unsparing photographic fidelity—a story of French middle-class people, tremendous in its strength and irresistible in its progress to a climax that is literally overwhelming. In this play, too, Madame Kalich has won a triumph elsewhere, and entrenched herself in the position she has won among our foremost players.

Colonial Theatre—Miss Olga Nethersole, the distinguished actress, returns to Boston at the Colonial Theatre on Monday, April 30, to inaugurate a fortnight's engagement. Miss Nethersole's offering on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, and of that well known dramatic writer, Glen MacDonough. It has been one of the most successful entertainments ever staged and has made a fortune for its management, who has, therefore, not hesitated at a lavish expenditure on this season's production. Matinees will be given as usual on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Literary Notes.

The May issue of Suburban Life deals with a wide range of country life and out of door topics. The leading article is entitled "Possibilities of Modern Bee Keeping," and is written by W. Z. Hutchinson, the Secretary of the National Bee Keepers' Association. Another important article is "Solving the Good Roads Problem," by Thomas H. MacDonall. An interesting breed of dogs has been exploited in this issue, and is sure to prove extremely interesting to all canine lovers; it is the whippet, about which so little is known. Mr. Robert Cameron, who is in charge of the Botanical Gardens of Harvard College, is the author of a very attractive article on "Flowering Trees," and another floral article that is sure to provoke attention is written by Mr. Luke J. Doogue, so well known in floriculture, who tells how to propagate herbaceous plants and obtain most astonishing results. In this issue Arthur P. Anderson describes a charming ten-room country cottage which can be built for less than five thousand dollars. Howard Marshall tells the motorist some "Elementary Facts About Motoring." E. P. Powell describes his garden of small fruits. Ida D. Bennett writes on "Some Details in Regard to Transplanting"; there is Mr. John H. Robinson's fourth article of the "A. B. C. of Poultry Culture," which is devoted to hatching and rearing chickens, and there are many minor floral articles and suggestions for the home inside and out. The illustrations are more than usually beautiful.

Washington Letter.

Not since the reorganization of the Army in 1902 has it been called on to face an emergency of any sort. The disaster at San Francisco however, has proved an emergency of the first magnitude and it is a satisfaction to be able to report that the army has met it without apparent effort. The immensity of the loss at San Francisco from fire and earthquake has dwarfed everything else in the news line and the whole attention of most of the Departments has been given to sending and receiving news, hurrying forward relief and authorizing the officers on the spot to make all sorts of provisions to meet the necessities of the case.

Sec. Taft said privately that he was glad they had an officer on the ground who came to the front like Gen. Funston and did things first and asked authority afterward. Congress sunk all differences of party in passing the emergency appropriation bill giving $1,000,000 to be immediately available for the relief work. This bill was passed in record time and sent to the President, receiving his signature all within the space of six hours. The only amendment made to it was the next day when Senator Morgan introduced another resolution making it clear that the money was available for the purchase of medical supplies as well as food.

Telegraphers have been on duty constantly at the War and Navy Departments, as in the days of the Spanish war, and the Secretaries of War and Navy and of Commerce and Labor have been in touch with the Department over the phone at all hours. The Government for once has been effectively busy and harmonious. Orders have been flashed from Washington calling on the quartermasters and commissaries of the various army and navy posts most closely in touch with San Francisco to forward supplies as fast as they could be collected. It has been realized that the promptest relief was the most effective and the first train of government supplies was expected to reach San Francisco on Thursday night.

The cost of the disaster to the government will be enormous. The destruction in military and naval stores in and around San Francisco alone will be $2,500,000. In addition to that the damage to buildings and equipment must be counted, and there are $7,000,000 worth of government buildings within the area of the disturbance. The relief work including the appropriation from Congress will also mount into the millions.

The Government has decided that there should be a representative of the administration on the spot and Secretary Metcalf has accordingly been selected and started for California on Friday night. His selection was the natural one as the Department of Commerce and Labor is already closely in touch with the situation. It has ordered the Fish Commission Steamer Albatross and all the available tenders of the Light House Service to the aid of the sufferers. Secretary Metcalf's home is in Oakland and while he is accompanied in Washington by Mrs. Metcalf, he has a son and a sister in the stricken city from whom he has received no news since the disaster. The Secretary has been up gamely under the personal distress that the news has caused him and although he sent private messages and did all he could on the side to get track of his boy he gave his first attention to the work of relief and let family matters come after.

Secretary Metcalf was preceded west a few hours by Representative Julius Kahn of San Francisco who was suffering peculiar tortures from the news. Less than 48 hours before the shock, Mr. Kahn had received a telegram from San Francisco saying "Mother and son doing well." Mrs. Kahn had given birth to a boy just before the disaster and from that time the father has been able to hear nothing of either of them. He has haunted the telegraph and newspaper offices in Washington and has done everything that ingenuity could suggest to get a message into the town and a reply out, but all in vain. Finally, able to stand the strain no longer he took the train west and is now on his way to make personal inquiries.

The Secretary of the Treasury expressed himself as immensely pleased over the gallant fight that the employees had successfully made to save the Mint, practically the only building left standing in the business district. This has saved to the government about $300,000,000 of coin and bullion intact and there has been transferred to the sub-treasury at San Francisco an additional $10,000,000 to meet immediate needs.

The value of the wireless telegraph service in the Navy has also been demonstrated as it was in this way that a part of the Pacific squadron was caught at sea off San Diego and rushed north to take part in the work of rescue.

BENEATH THE GILDED DOME.

In one of his loftiest moments of inspiration, a great American poet gave to the world this striking couplet:

"Man in more than constitution; better not beneath the soil,

Than be true to Church and State,
while we are doubly false to God."

Last week the Massachusetts Senate held up an appropriation of $100,000 on the ground of Constitutionality, which the House had just rushed through after suspending all rules, to relieve the sufferers at San Francisco. The disaster in California was the most terrible event that has ever visited this country, unless we except the Civil War, and paralyzed the thought of the world, as its fearful details became known, and yet while the country was being thrilled by its borders to its core by the words "He gives twice who gives quickly", the honorable Senate of Massachusetts could stay the hand of relief by lifting the Constitutional issue. Last Friday, while the Senate was bowing to the fear of Constitutionality, 200,000 people were starving on the ash heaps of San Francisco, and purse strings were being snapped all over the land in the eagerness with which men heeded the cry which came from the Pacific. Only the week before, the legislature had given $50,000 to the Jamestown Exposition and nobody had thought of raising the Constitutional question, when that appropriation could have been ten times more appropriately opposed on the Constitutional ground than in this latter case. The Jamestown affair is a result of the activity of a bunch of promoters, while the San Francisco holocaust sent the price of bread to a dollar a loaf before the earth had ceased to quake, and the flames were yet doing their awful work. Of course, everybody in Massachusetts is ashamed of the check given in the Senate, including the senators themselves. Even if the appropriation should be doubled this week it will lose the force of ready relief which turns gold into priceless metal and dollars into heart beats. The face of Massachusetts has always been seen through the flame and the flood, for her treasures are not all locked up in her public vaults. As her blood was the first to be shed forty-five years ago in the defence of the country, so her wealth is the first to be poured out now to give succor to men who are more than Constitutions.

Perhaps the time never was, in the history of Massachusetts legislation, when the general court was not indicted with the presence of the alarmist. The man who saw danger ahead in every proposed measure that had to do with the public interests of the community. He has been here during the present session as of old, wearing his No. 6 t-t hat and endeavoring to penetrate the atmosphere with the voice which produces a sound resembling the cracking of egg shells. He is without and he is within the legislature, for there are always some communities in the state that can spare him from their midst long enough for him to draw mileage and salary that might otherwise be paid to a man.

The alarmist, paradoxical as it may seem, feeds on strong meat. If he sees a good healthy bait it always tempts him, for he is blessed with a good appetite even if he is cadaverous in his appearance. Sometimes he is more in evidence than at other times; for example, he was very much at large about ten years ago when the bill entitled "An Act to Authorize the Boston & Maine R. R. to purchase the capital stock of any other railroad corporation whose road is operated by the Boston & Maine. Anyone who was on the ground at that time will remember how plenty was the alarmist then. He saw water flowing into every shore of stock as rivers flow into the sea. He came to the hearings every morning and was at every session of the legislature as regularly as the days succeeded each other. It was at one of those hearings that Counsel Gaudin made use of that expression that almost petrified the alarmist as he had been exercising his lungs for an hour on the danger of stock watering. Pointing his finger at his victim, Mr. Coolidge said: "Is there any capitalization of a vacuum?"

The Automobile Bill was reported unanimously in the House last week. It provides that the State Highway Commission may prepare rules and regulations governing the use and operation of automobiles, and in addition to any rules already written in the certificates and licenses, any person convicted of violation may be punished by a fine not exceeding five dollars for a first offense, and not exceeding $50 for a second offense, and not exceeding $100 for subsequent offenses. The Act shall not give the Highway Commission the power to regulate the speed at which motor vehicles may be operated on a public highway.

If an imprisonment penalty should creep into the bill, by amendment before it becomes a law, it would add considerably to the justice of the law, a condition which it certainly lacks, as it is reported. If the automobilists themselves had drawn the bill, and perhaps they did, it could not have looked more like an automobile, or more lacking in effectiveness than it will be if it becomes a law as reported.

Did you ever hear anything about Cape Cod canal? Not one that has been built (on paper) ever since the oldest inhabitant was rocked in the cradle of the deep down in Vineyard Haven, but the one that the Committee on Harbors and Public Lands reported favorably upon last week. Even Governor Briggs of Bourne, says this may be built, but if it should be it won't be a dear old Cape Cod canal that all Cape Codders had learned to worship as an unseen idol, to these many years. This new canal, when constructed, (it comes natural to use those two words) is to have a depth of not less than 25 feet and a width of not less than 125 feet at the bottom. It is estimated that that is sufficient in depth and width to float all the stock and bonds that will be issued, and its outlet will be sufficiently broad to allow the hopes and aspirations of its promoters to pass out to sea and float away in the mists to be forever missed.

The truth-about-patent-medicine-bill is now in the legislature, and if it don't get too much morphine poured into it before it becomes a law, the public it to be told in more English than now appears on the label what the bottle contains. The bill provides that all patent medicines and food preparations containing alcohol in excess of the amount necessary as a solvent or preservative of the drug contained therein, shall be marked with a label, giving the amount of such excess, and that all receptacles holding patent medicine or food preparations shall bear a label giving the quantity of opium, morphine, or other narcotic or potent drugs which they contain.

The famous "picketing" bill which was substituted by the House after the defeat of the original bill by the Senate, was in turn rejected by the Upper Branch last week by a vote of 17 to 13, and at the same session the Senate rejected the lifting jack bill of Representative O'Rourke, over which the Worcester member had grown hoarse for a half a dozen years. A new bill in the interests of Osteopathy was engrossed by the Senate, as was the bill to pension probate judges, while the screen law bill and the bill relating to the assignment of wages went over until Tuesday of this week.
